The Urban Imperative Towards Competitive Cities:

The Urban Imperative Edward Ludwig Glaeser, Abha Joshi-Ghani, 2015 Copyright The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development The World Bank Mixed-Use Megaprojects and the Competitive City Mike S. Harris, 2025-04-29 This book examines the motives and outcomes of competitively positioned mixed use megaprojects on government owned land These projects have emerged worldwide in recent decades driven by urban international competition the mobility and expansion of knowledge economies the shift of global investment from physical to human capital and the prevalence of market driven or entrepreneurial politics Six case studies across three countries are analysed through five themes Positioning Governing Shaping Connecting and Public Benefit While pursuing similar objectives of attracting mobile capital each project operates within a specific political financial and social context These projects reflect the prevailing development practices and underlying power structures of cities and states Throughout the implementation process they can also reveal the power struggles and competing agendas within a city In this manner they serve as a valuable lens for understanding the political economic and cultural dynamics of a city and how urban morphology manifests these processes

Urban Environments in Africa Garth Myers, 2016-02-24 Africa's urban population is growing rapidly raising numerous environmental concerns Urban areas are often linked to poverty as well as power and wealth and hazardous and unhealthy environments as the pace of change stretches local resources Yet there are a wide range of perspectives and possibilities for political analysis of these rapidly changing environments Written by a widely respected author this important book will mark a major new step forward in the study of Africa's urban environments Using innovative research including fieldwork data map analysis place name study interviewing and fiction the book explores environmentalism from a variety of perspectives acknowledging the clash between Western planning mind sets pursuing the goal of sustainable development and the lived realities of residents of often poor informal settlements The book will be valuable to advanced undergraduate and graduate level courses in geography urban studies development studies environmental studies and African studies The Routledge Companion to Planning in the Global South Gautam Bhan, Smita Srinivas, Vanessa Watson, 2017-09-11 The Routledge Companion to Planning in the Global South offers an edited collection on planning in parts of the world which more often than not are unrecognised or unmarked in mainstream planning texts In doing so its intention is not to fill a gap that leaves this mainstream unquestioned but to re theorise planning from a deep understanding of place as well as a commitment to recognise the diverse modes of practice that come within it The chapters thus take the form not of generalised universal analyses and prescriptions but instead are critical and located reflections in thinking about how to plan act and intervene in highly complex city regional and national contexts Chapter authors in this Companion are not all planners or are planners of very different kinds and this diversity ensures a rich variety of insights primarily based on cases to emphasise the complexity of the world in which planning is expected to happen The book is divided into a framing Introduction followed by five sections planning and the state economy and economic actors new drivers of urban change landscapes of citizenship and planning pedagogy This volume will be of interest to all those wanting to explore the complexities of planning practice and the need for new theories of knowledge from which to draw insight to face the challenges of the 21st century Densifying the City? Margot Rubin, Alison Todes, Philip Harrison, Alexandra Appelbaum, 2020-11-27 Providing an in depth exploration of the complexities of densification policy and processes this book brings the important experiences of densification in Johannesburg into conversation with a range of cities in Africa the BRICS countries and the Global North It moves beyond the divisive debate over whether densification is good or bad adding nuance and complexity to the calls from multilateral organisations for densification as a key urban strategy The Essential Guide to Critical Development Studies Henry Veltmeyer, Paul Bowles, 2021-09-30 The Essential Guide to Critical Development Studies provides an up to date and authoritative introduction to the field challenging mainstream development discourse and the assumptions that underlie it Critical development studies lays bare the economic political social and environmental crises that characterise the current global capitalist system proposing instead systemic change and different pathways for moving beyond capitalism into a new world of genuine progress where economic and social justice and ecological integrity prevail In this book the authors challenge market driven neoliberal development agendas incorporating analyses of class gender race and the dynamics of uneven capitalist development This thoroughly revised and expanded second edition includes 18 new chapters including on topics such as philanthrocapitalism race the energy transition Indigenous resistance and resilience and global health Expanded global coverage including new chapters on South Africa North Africa and the Gulf Arab states A new section on resistance and alternatives Additional pedagogical features including a glossary of key terms discussion questions and expanded guides for further reading This textbook will be essential reading for students of global development political science sociology economics gender studies geography history anthropology agrarian studies international political economy and area studies It will also be an important resource for development researchers practitioners and policymakers

Handbook on the Geographies of Regions and Territories Anssi Paasi, John Harrison, Martin Jones, 2018-07-27 This new international Handbook provides the reader with the most up to date and original viewpoints on critical debates relating to the rapidly transforming geographies of regions and territories as well as related key concepts such as place scale networks and regionalism Bringing together renowned specialists who have extensively theorized these spatial concepts and contributed to rich empirical research in disciplines such as geography sociology political science and IR studies this interdisciplinary collection offers fresh cutting edge and contextual insights on the significance of regions and territories in today's dynamic world Sustainable Urbanization in India Jenia Mukherjee, 2017-10-06 This comprehensive volume contributes to the existing and emerging body of literature on contemporary urbanization and the interactions between cities and the environment The volume is contextualized against latest theories debates and discussions on sustainable urbanization the post 2015 development agenda of the United Nations and India's official launching of the smart city agenda. Reflecting on three major components of urban sustainability investments and infrastructures waste management and urban ecologies and environmentalisms it moves beyond the bi-centric approach of only looking into the differences between the developed and the developing world and reflects on cities across India using polycentric methods and approaches. The Indian urban scenario is extremely complex and diverse and solutions laid out in official and non-official documents tend to miss these complexities. This volume includes innovative research across different parts of India identifying city-specific sources of unsustainability and challenges along with strategies and potentials that would make the process of urban transition both sustainable and equitable. Complex explorations of non-linear bottom-up multisectoral process-based local urban contexts across north-south-east and west Indian cities in this volume critique a general acceptance of the universalized concept of sustainable urbanization and suggest ways that might be important for transcending inclusive theories to form practical policy-based recommendations and actions.

Handbook of Regions and Competitiveness Robert Huggins, Piers Thompson, 2017-03-31. The aim of this Handbook is to take stock of regional competitiveness and complementary concepts as a means of presenting a state-of-the-art discussion of the contemporary theories, perspectives and empirical explanations that help make sense of the determinants of uneven development across regions. Drawing on an international field of leading scholars, the book is assembled and organized so that readers can first learn about the theoretical underpinnings of regional competitiveness and development theory before moving on to deeper discussions of key factors and principal elements, the emergence of allied concepts, empirical applications and the policy context.

State of the Cities India OM PRAKASH MATHUR, 2021-03-31. India's urban transition has of late acquired multiple narratives. It is said to be rapid, moderate, slow, messy and hidden. What underpins such multiple narratives is the central theme of the study, State of the Cities India. Making use of an analytical framework that permits an examination of the shifts in the pace and pattern of India's urbanisation over a period of time, this study takes an in-depth look at the evidence on three of its key dimensions: the demographics, the economy and the status of infrastructure and the environment. Some of the key questions that this study seeks responses to are: Is India's in the post-liberalisation period any different? Does it show the effect of the changes in the macroeconomic parameters of the post-1991 period? Is it more or less productive and inclusive and environmentally secure? Is it spatially more equal or unequal? Does it in any way signal an inflection point in India's urban transition? Drawing from the analysis of the evidence comparable over time, the study spotlights several interesting questions: what would for example explain the acceleration in the pace of urbanisation under conditions of low economic growth and its moderation under conditions of high economic growth? What factors would explain a fall in the rate of growth in the urban share of gross domestic product (GDP) at such a low level of urbanisation, especially the GDP accruing from the manufacturing sector? This study makes a strong case for evidence-based assessment of India's urban transition rather than to continue to commit as many of us do to the long-held but specious narrative that India is in the midst of rapid urbanisation Urban Empires Edward Glaeser, Karima Kourtit, Peter Nijkamp, 2020-09-23 We live in the urban century Cities all over the world in both developing and developed countries display complex evolutionary patterns Urban Empires charts the backgrounds mechanisms drivers and consequences of these radical changes in our contemporary systems from a global perspective and analyses the dominant position of modern cities in the New Urban World This volume views the drastic change cities have undergone internationally through a broad perspective and considers their emerging roles in our global network society Chapters from renowned scholars provide advanced analytical contributions scaling applied and theoretical perspectives on the competitive profile of urban agglomerations in a globalizing world Together the volume traces and investigates the economic and political drivers of network cities in a global context and explores the challenges over governance that are presented by mega cities It also identifies and maps out the new geography of the emergent urban century With contributions from well known and influential scholars from around the world Urban Empires serves as a touchstone for students and researchers keen to explore the scientific and policy needs of cities as they become our age s global power centers The Oxford Handbook of the South African Economy Arkebe Oqubay, Fiona Tregenna, Imraan Valodia, 2021-11-18 While sharing some characteristics with other middle income countries South Africa is a country with a unique economic history and distinctive economic features It is a regional economic powerhouse that plays a significant role not only in southern Africa and in the continent but also as a member of BRICS However there has been a lack of structural transformation and weak economic growth and South Africa faces the profound triple challenges of poverty inequality and unemployment Any meaningful debate about economic policies to address these challenges needs to be informed by a deep understanding of historical developments robust empirical evidence and rigorous analysis of South Africa s complex economic landscape This volume seeks to provide a wide ranging set of original detailed and state of the art analytical perspectives that contribute to scientific knowledge as well as to well informed and productive discourse on the South African economy While concentrating on the more recent economic issues facing South Africa the handbook also provides historical and political context It offers an in depth examination of strategic issues in the country s key economic sectors and brings together diverse analytical perspectives Good Economics for Hard Times Abhijit V. Banerjee, Esther Duflo, 2019-11-12 The winners of the Nobel Prize show how economics when done right can help us solve the thorniest social and political problems of our day Figuring out how to deal with today s critical economic problems is perhaps the great challenge of our time Much greater than space travel or perhaps even the next revolutionary medical breakthrough what is at stake is the whole idea of the good life as we have known it Immigration and inequality globalization and technological disruption slowing growth and accelerating climate change these are sources of great anxiety across the world from New Delhi and Dakar to Paris and Washington DC The resources to address these challenges are there what we lack are ideas that will help us jump the wall of disagreement and distrust that divides us If we succeed history will remember our era with gratitude if we fail the potential losses are incalculable In this revolutionary book renowned MIT economists Abhijit V Banerjee and Esther Duflo take on this challenge building on cutting edge research in economics explained with lucidity and grace Original provocative and urgent Good Economics for Hard Times makes a persuasive case for an intelligent interventionism and a society built on compassion and respect It is an extraordinary achievement one that shines a light to help us appreciate and understand our precariously balanced world

Handbook of Regional Growth and Development Theories Roberta Capello, Peter Nijkamp, 2019 Regional economics an established discipline for several decades has undergone a period of rapid change in the last ten years resulting in the emergence of several new perspectives At the same time the methodology of regional economics has also experienced some surprising developments This fully revised and updated Handbook brings together contributions looking at new pathways in regional economics written by many well known international scholars The aim is to present the most cutting edge theories explaining regional growth and local development The authors highlight the recent advances in theories the normative potentialities of these theories and the cross fertilization of ideas between regional and mainstream economists It will be an essential source of reference and information for both scholars and students in the field

Regional Research Frontiers - Vol. 1 Randall Jackson, Peter Schaeffer, 2017-04-17 This volume focuses on frontiers in regional research and identifies trends and future developments in the areas of innovation regional growth and migration It also addresses topics such as mobility regional forecasting and regional policy and includes expert contributions on disasters resilience and sustainability Building on recent methodological and modelling advances as well as on extensive policy analysis experience top international regional scientists identify and evaluate emerging new conceptual and methodological trends and directions in regional research This book will appeal to a wide readership from regional scientists and economists to geographers quantitatively oriented regional planners and other related disciplines It offers a source of relevant information for academic researchers and policy analysts in government and is also suitable for advanced teaching courses on regional and spatial science economics and political science

City Power Richard C. Schragger, 2016 Reigning theories of urban power suggest that in a world dominated by footloose transnational capital cities have little capacity to effect social change In City Power Richard Schragger challenges this conventional wisdom arguing that cities can and should pursue aims other than making themselves attractive to global capital Using the municipal living wage movement as an example Schragger explains why cities are well positioned to address issues like income equality and how our institutions can be designed to allow them to do so

Dhaka's Changing Landscape Rita Afsar, Mahabub Hossain, 2019-11-05 Between 1991 and 2010 Dhaka's population more than doubled to 15 million Simultaneously the city's contribution to the national economy almost trebled Clearly population growth was accompanied by an unmistakable trend of economic growth and a significant decline in urban poverty and income inequality On the other hand Dhaka's high population density exacerbated serious environmental challenges and it was soon ranked as one of the world's least livable cities In the context of these contradictory signals of rapid urbanization Dhaka's Changing Landscape sets to answer three most intriguing questions Are the poorer segments of urban population which migrate with dreams for better lives benefitting from positive economic trends Are these benefits sustainable Are these benefits creating scope for this group to have a stake in the city's growing prosperity By studying 600 households and applying comparative analysis over a span of 20 years the authors examine demographic and economic trends to understand the patterns scale and complexity of urban poverty income inequality and rural urban migration Going beyond the space and poverty debate they enlighten the readers about the quality of life questions sustainability matters and gender and generational roles and relations necessary to understand qualitative transformation and migrants prospects for a better future The Myths of Measurement and Meritocracy J. M. Beach, 2021-09-15 This book examines the idea of educational accountability in higher education which has become a new secular gospel But do accountability policies actually make colleges better What if educational accountability tools don't actually measure what they're supposed to What if accountability data isn't valid or worse what if it's meaningless What if administrators don't know how to use accountability tools or correctly analyze the problematic data these tools produce What if we can't measure let alone accurately assess what matters most with teaching or student learning What if students don't learn much in college What if higher education was never designed to produce student learning What if college doesn't help most students either personally or economically What if higher education isn't meritocratic actually exacerbates inequality and makes the lives of disadvantaged students even worse This book will answer these questions with a wide interdisciplinary range of the latest scientific research Urban Inclusivity in Southern Africa Hangwelani H. Magidimisha-Chipungu, Lovemore Chipungu, 2021-09-28 This book's point of departure rests on the premises that dimensions of the mainstream inclusive city discourse fail to capture in detail vulnerable clusters of society being women children and the aging the minority clusters i.e. the blind the disabled and migrants In addition it fails to recognize the increase of spatial inequality driven by racial and class differences a factor that has seen an increase in community violence and protests The focus on spatial inequality has for a long time blindfolded urban authorities to ignore exclusion arising out of the same environments created with a notion of creating inclusivity Hence this book collapses spatial walls as it seeks to uncover the true perspectives of inclusivity in cities beyond spatial dimensions but within social realms The depth of this book's enquiry rests on its critical investigation of Southern African cities through historical epochs of apartheid and colonialism in the region Fiscal Decentralization and Local Finance in Developing Countries Roy Bahl, Richard M. Bird, 2018-03-30 This book draws on experiences in developing countries to bridge the gap between the conventional textbook treatment of fiscal decentralization and the actual practice of subnational government finance The extensive literature about the theory and practice is surveyed and longstanding problems and new questions are addressed It focuses on the key choices that must be made in decentralizing on how economic and political factors shape the choices that countries make and on how by paying more attention to the need for a more comprehensive approach and the critical connections between different components of decentralization reform everyone involved might get more for their money
