The Wire And Philosophy The Wire And Philosophy:

The Wire and Philosophy David Bzdak, Joanna Crosby, Seth Vannatta, 2013 By many accounts HBO's The Wire was and remains the greatest and most important television drama of all time Conceived by writers David Simon and ex Baltimore homicide detective Ed Burns this five season sixty episode tour de force has raised the bar for compelling intelligent television production With each season addressing a different arena of life in the city of Baltimore and each season's narratives tapping into those from previous seasons The Wire was able to reveal the overlapping criss crossing and colliding realities that shape if not control the people institutions and culture of the modern American city The Wire and Philosophy celebrates this show's realism as well as its intellectual and philosophical clarity Selected philosophers who are fans of The Wire tap into these conflicts and interconnections to expose the underlying philosophical issues and assumptions and pursue questions such as can cops really tell whether they are smarter than their perps Or do they fall victim to intellectual vanity Do individuals really have free will to resist the temptations of gangs of drugs or corruption that surround them Is David Simon a modern day Marx who sees capitalism leading ultimately to its own collapse or is Baltimore's story uniquely its own Corners in the City of God Jonathan Tran, Myles Werntz, 2013-10-24 David Simon's The Wire lays out before us a city in which people struggle under the weight of poverty political corruption economic despair educational collapse and the drug trade This volume explores the various theological ethical and philosophical challenges presented by The Wire As each season of The Wire unfolds the moral complexities of life in the city deepen as the failures of one system have unforeseen effects in other corners of the city Fleshing out the ongoing tension between the earthly city and the City of God Corners in the City of God is a theological companion to David Simon's masterpiece inviting the reader to wrestle with the implications of belonging fully to the cities of the world in all of their splendor and tragedy Better Living through TV Steven A.

Benko, 2022-03-25 Watching television need not be a passive activity or simply for entertainment purposes Television can be the site of important identity work and moral reflection Audiences can learn about themselves what matters to them and how to relate to others by thinking about the implicit and explicit moral messages in the shows they watch Better Living through TV Contemporary TV and Moral Identity Formation analyzes the possibility of identifying and adopting moral values from television shows that aired during the latest Golden Era of television and Peak TV The diversity of shows and approaches to moral becoming demonstrate how television during these eras took advantage of new technologies to become more film like in both production quality and content The increased depth of characterization and explosion of content across streaming and broadcast channels gave viewers a diversity of worlds and moral values to explore The possibility of finding a moral in the stories told on popular shows such as The Sopranos Breaking Bad The Wire and The Good Place as well as lesser known shows such as Letterkenny and The Unicorn are explored in a way that centers television viewing as a site for moral identity formation Industrial Arts Index, 1923 New Television Martin Shuster, 2017-11-24 Even though it's frequently asserted that we are living in a golden age of scripted television television as a medium is still not taken seriously as an artistic art form nor has the stigma of television as chewing gum for the mind really disappeared Philosopher Martin Shuster argues that television is the modern art form full of promise and urgency and in New Television he offers a strong philosophical justification for its importance Through careful analysis of shows including The Wire Justified and Weeds among others and European and Anglophone philosophers such as Stanley Cavell Hannah Arendt Martin Heidegger and John Rawls Shuster reveals how various contemporary television series engage deeply with aesthetic and philosophical issues in modernism and modernity What unifies the aesthetic and philosophical ambitions of new television is a commitment to portraying and exploring the family as the last site of political possibility in a world otherwise bereft of any other sources of traditional authority consequently at the heart of new television are profound political stakes The Encyclopaedia Britannica: Edw to Fra ,1910 Serial Agencies Frank Kelleter,2014-09-26 Serial Agencies investigates how public and academic reactions to The Wire have contributed to the narrative s serial evolution and cultural performance The American Annual Cyclopedia and Register of Important Events of the Year ... ,1870 The Horseless Age ,1902
