Transforming Urban Food Systems in Secondary Cities in Africa Liam Riley, Jonathan Crush, 2022-11-02 Countries across Africa are rapidly transitioning from rural to urban societies The UN projects that 60% of people living in Africa will be in urban areas by 2050 with the urban population on the continent tripling over the next 50 years The challenge of building inclusive and sustainable cities in the context of rapid urbanization is arguably the critical development issue of the 21st Century and creating food secure cities is key to promoting health prosperity equity and ecological sustainability The expansion of Africa's urban population is taking place largely in secondary cities these are broadly defined as cities with fewer than half a million people that are not national political or economic centres The implications of secondary urbanization have recently been described by the Cities Alliance as a real knowledge gap requiring much additional research not least because it poses new intellectual challenges for academic researchers and governance challenges for policy makers International researchers coming from multiple points of view including food studies urban studies and sustainability studies are starting to heed the call for further research into the implications for food security of rapidly growing secondary cities in Africa This book will combine this research and feature comparable case studies intersecting trends and shed light on broad concepts including governance sustainability health economic development and inclusivity This is an open access book

Global Perspectives on Disability Activism and Advocacy Karen Soldatic, Kelley Johnson, 2019-08-22 This book explores the diverse ways in which disability activism and advocacy are experienced and practised by people with disabilities and their allies Contributors to the book explore the very different strategies and campaigns they have used to have their demands for respect dignity and rights heard and acted upon by their communities by national governments and the international community The book with its contemporary global focus makes a significant contribution to the field of disability and social justice studies particularly at a time of major social political and cultural upheaval Global Perspectives on Disability Activism and Advocacy offers a significant intervention within the field of disability at a time of major social upheaval where actors advocates and activists are seeking to hold onto existing claims for rights equality and disability justice

Community-based adaptation Hannah Reid, 2017-10-02 Community based adaptation CBA to climate change is based on local priorities needs knowledge and capacities Early CBA initiatives were generally implemented by non government organisations NGOs and operated primarily at the local level Many used bottom up participatory processes to identify the climate change problem and appropriate responses Small localised stand alone initiatives are insufficient to address the scale of challenges climate change will bring however The causes of vulnerability such as market or service access or good governance also often operate beyond the project level Larger organisations and national governments have therefore started to implement broader CBA programmes which provide opportunities to scale up responses and integrate CBA into higher levels of policy and planning This book shows that it is possible for CBA to remain centred on local priorities but not necessarily limited to work implemented at the local level Some chapters address the issue of mainstreaming CBA into government policy and planning processes or into city or sectoral level plans e g on agriculture Others look at how gender and children s issues should be mainstreamed into adaptation planning itself and others describe how tools can be applied and finance delivered for effective mainstreaming This book was published as a special issue of Climate and Development

Rule of Law, Human Rights and Judicial Control of Power Rainer Arnold, José Ignacio Martínez-Estay, 2017-05-16 Judicial control of public power ensures a guarantee of the rule of law This book addresses the scope and limits of judicial control at the national level i e the control of public authorities and at the supranational level i e the control of States It explores the risk of judicial review leading to judicial activism that can threaten the principle of the separation of powers or the legitimate exercise of state powers It analyzes how national and supranational legal systems have embodied certain mechanisms such as the principles of reasonableness proportionality deference and margin of appreciation as well as the horizontal effects of human rights that help to determine how far a judge can go Taking a theoretical and comparative view the book first examines the conceptual bases of the various control systems and then studies the models structural elements and functions of the control instruments in selected countries and regions It uses country and regional reports as the basis for the comparison of the convergences and divergences of the implementation of control in certain countries of Europe Latin America and Africa The book s theoretical reflections and comparative investigations provide answers to important questions such as whether or not there are nascent universal principles concerning the control of public power how strong the impact of particular legal traditions is and to what extent international law concepts have had harmonizing and strengthening effects on internal public power control

Humanitarian Action and Ethics Ayesha Ahmad, James Smith, 2018-06-15 From natural disaster areas to conflict zones humanitarian workers today find themselves operating in diverse and difficult environments While humanitarian work has always presented unique ethical challenges such efforts are now further complicated by the impact of globalization the escalating refugee crisis and mounting criticisms of established humanitarian practice Featuring contributions from humanitarian practitioners health professionals and social and political scientists this book explores the question of ethics in modern humanitarian work drawing on the lived experience of humanitarian workers themselves Its essential case studies cover humanitarian work in countries ranging from Haiti and South Sudan to Syria and Iraq and address issues such as gender based violence migration and the growing phenomenon of volunteer tourism Together these contributions offer new perspectives on humanitarian ethics as well as insight into how such ethical considerations might inform more effective approaches to humanitarian work

Citizenship and Infrastructure Charlotte Lemanski, 2019-02-22 This book brings together insights from leading urban scholars and explicitly develops the connections between infrastructure and citizenship It demonstrates the ways in which adopting an infrastructural citizenship lens illuminates a broader understanding of the material and civic nature of urban life for both citizens and the state Drawing on examples of housing water electricity and sanitation across Africa and Asia chapters reveal the ways in which exploring citizenship through an infrastructural lens and infrastructure through a citizenship lens allows us to better understand plan and govern city life The book emphasises the importance of acknowledging and understanding the dialectic relationship between infrastructure and citizenship for urban theory and practice This book will be a useful resource for researchers and students within Urban Studies Geography Development Studies Planning Politics Architecture and Sociology Zambia Law Journal ,2015
