chances of detection Second The same trick must not be performed twice during the same evening or before the same audience The reason for this is apparent from the first rule above There are generally two ways of bringing about the same or a similar result and in the event of your feeling constrained to respond to an encore you must perform it in a different manner Third Vary your tricks for this reason If you are continually doing those depending upon the dexterity of the fingers your audience will become accustomed to their movements therefore perform in succession tricks of sleight of hand tricks with apparatus and tricks in white magic so as to confuse the too inquisitive spectator and yet retain his attention Fourth Endeavor to divert the attention of the audience as much as possible from your movements and lead them to believe that you perform the trick by a different method to that actually employed Fifth Accustom yourself to use the eyes and the hands independently of each other remember that the audience are observing your actions and their attention is frequently taken from your hands with which you wish to make a certain manipulation to follow the directions of a glance thrown over your shoulder or elsewhere Sixth Never act the buffoon nor pass ungentlemanly personalities by such you only make yourself ridiculous and gain the ill will of some present It will frequently happen that a magician's audience will contain some clever busybody who knows how such and such a trick is done and informs his neighbors of the fact Should such a person come under your notice during an entertainment you can easily find an opportunity of bringing him to account and making him the laughing stock of the hall without being actually rude
