The German Anti-Discrimination Law of 2006 - A Small Step? Janna Lüttmann, 2007-09 Seminar paper from the year 2006 in the subject Politics International Politics Topic Public International Law and Human Rights grade A Ryerson University course Diversity and Equity in the Public Sector language English abstract The German Anti Discrimination Law of 2006 A small Step ABSTRACT German parliament has passed a

General Equal Treatment Act in 2006 and the implementation ensued by controversial discussion was mainly settled on because of pressure from the European Court of Justice Generally the law is intended to largely circumvent or abolish discrimination in most areas of public life This paper is assessing the Act in the national and international mainly EU context as well as the main arguments of both proponents and opponents It finds that most reasons against the Act can be refuted by arguments brought forward by proponents In addition the functionality of the Act is discussed and some problems and backlashes are discovered while the law itself is found to reveal gaps in terms of the scope of the legislation as well as the characteristics of discrimination The Act is criticized as it mainly offers correctional measures against discrimination with hindsight while being less likely to avert discrimination in the first place The legislation is found to have potential to shift the common consciousness to acknowledging diversity as a motor for societal and economic progress and as it recognizes that discrimination is a systemic rather than an individual problem in Germany it might render as a building block to fight discrimination and exclusion However despite the fact that the German legislation is more concise than the EU guideline it is shown that the legal framework is only a first small step toward equal and fair treatment in Germany The paper argues that protection against discrimination is a structural principle of human rights beyond formal equality that cannot be secured by the Act alone but

Not What The Bus Promised Tamara Hervey, Ivanka Antova, Mark L Flear, Matthew Wood, 2023-10-05 What does the UK's exit from the EU mean for health and the NHS This book explains the legal and practical implications of Brexit on the NHS its staffing especially on the island of Ireland medicines medical devices and equipment and biomedical research It considers the UK's post Brexit trade agreements and what they mean for health and discusses the effects of the COVID 19 pandemic on post Brexit health law To put the legal analysis in context the book draws on over 400 conversations the authors had with people in the north of England and Northern Ireland interviews with over 40 health policy stakeholders details of a film about their research made with ShoutOut UK the authors work with Parliaments and governments across the UK and their collaborations with key actors like the NHS Confederation the British Medical Association and Cancer Research UK The book shows that the language people use to talk about hoped for legitimate post Brexit health governance suggests a great deal of faith in law and legal process among ordinary people but the opposite from insider elites Not What The Bus Promised puts the authors knowledge and experiences centre frame rather than claiming to express objective reality It will be of interest to any reader who cares about the NHS and wants to understand its present and future

Springer Handbook of Circular Plastics Economy Andrea Buettner, Eckhard Weidner, 2025-06-26 This Springer Handbook assembles the existing knowledge concerning plastic materials and identifies obstacles and objectives of innovations and technologies that will bring human society closer to the goal of a fully circular economy of plastic materials Consumers profit everyday from the versatile functionalities of plastic materials but this diversity also brings a range of challenges recycling may be costly and laborious and too many plastic products still end up as waste in the environment The handbook offers a

Reconciling Work and Family Life in EU Law and Policy Eugenia Caracciolo di Torella,Annick Masselot,2010-01-20 Since its timid introduction onto the EC agenda in 1974 reconciliation of work and family life has developed into a fully articulated principle This book explores this journey and its implications for the EC legal order and society It argues that as reconciliation issues continue to evolve they require constant reassessment

Directives in European Community Law Sacha Prechal,1995 This book offers us the first detailed exposition in print on EC directives individual rights and the protection of those rights in national courts The author investigates three central themes the characteristics of EC directives the role which national courts play in protecting the rights which individuals derive from these directives and the devices and means by which the courts may implement this protection Focusing initially on clear examples in the Court s case law the author moves on to analyze specific lines within the case law itself This practical approach enables the author to meticulously examine how these lines may complement and confront each other

EU Law. Direct and Indirect Effect Carolina Gerwin, 2019-12-09 Essay from the year 2019 in the subject Politics Topic European Union grade 71 University College London language English abstract This essay argues that while the concept of indirect effect of EU Law is important for safeguarding individual s rights due to its several beneficial characteristics recent case law indicates that the principle of horizontal direct effect becomes more important The essay starts by focusing on the direct effect of primary EU law particularly Treaty Articles before discussing the principle regarding secondary sources especially directives After that strategies developed by the CJEU to neutralise the impact of the rule that directives do not have horizontal direct effect are debated leading to the conclusion that indirect effect becomes less important

Global International Waters Assessment Ain Lääne, 2005 This report presents the GIWA assessment of the Baltic sea region one of the largest brackish water areas in the world As a semi enclosed sea it is very sensitive to anthropogenic pressures Pollution remains the overarching problem Eutrophication and overexploitation of fisheries remain severe problems Policy options to mitigate these conditions are based on the Helsinki Convention and the EU Wate Framework Directive
