Tree Of Codes Jonathan Safran Foer:

Tree of Codes Jonathan Safran Foer, 2010 A masterful work of storytelling a unique sculptural object created through a collaborative process between Visual Editions and author A curiosity with the die cut technique was combined with the pages physical relationship to one another and how this could somehow be developed to work with a meaningful narrative This led to Jonathan deciding to use an existing piece of text and cut a new story out of it his favourite book The Street of Crocodiles by Bruno Schulz Writing cutting and proto typing has created a new story cut from the words of an old favourite

Bookishness Jessica Pressman, 2020-12-01 Twenty first century culture is obsessed with books In a time when many voices have joined to predict the death of print books continue to resurface in new and unexpected ways From the proliferation of shelfies to Jane Austen themed leggings and from decorative pillows printed with beloved book covers to bookwork sculptures exhibited in prestigious collections books are everywhere and are not just for reading Writers have caught up with this trend many contemporary novels depict books as central characters or fetishize paper and print thematically and formally In Bookishness Jessica Pressman examines the new status of the book as object and symbol She explores the rise of bookishness as an identity and an aesthetic strategy that proliferates from store window display to experimental writing Ranging from literature to kitsch objects stop motion animation films to book design Pressman considers the multivalent meanings of books in contemporary culture Books can represent shelter from or a weapon against the dangers of the digital they can act as memorials and express a sense of loss Examining the works of writers such as Jonathan Safran Foer Jennifer Egan Mark Z Danielewski and Leanne Shapton Pressman illuminates the status of the book as a fetish object and its significance for understanding contemporary fakery Bringing together media studies book history and literary criticism Bookishness explains how books still give meaning to our lives in a digital age Seven Modes of Uncertainty C. Namwali Serpell, 2014-04-30 Literature is uncertain Literature is good for us These two ideas are often taken for granted But what is the relationship between literature's capacity to perplex and its ethical value Seven Modes of Uncertainty contends that literary uncertainty is crucial to ethics because it pushes us beyond the limits of our experience

Creative Writing and the Radical Nigel Krauth, 2016-07-18 The rise of digital publishing and the ebook has opened up an array of possibilities for the writer working with innovation in mind Creative Writing and the Radical uses an examination of how experimental writers in the past have explored the possibilities of multimodal writing to theorise the nature of writing fiction in the future It is clear that experimental writers rehearsed for technological advances long before they were invented Through an in depth study of writers and their motivations challenges and solutions the author explores the shifts creative writing teachers and students will need to make in order to adapt to a new era of fiction writing and reading The Encyclopedia of Contemporary American Fiction, 2 Volumes Patrick O'Donnell, Stephen J. 9/11: Culture, Catastrophe and the Critique of Singularity Diana Gonçalves, 2016-10-24 Even though much has been said and written about 9 11 the work developed on this subject has mostly explored it as an unparalleled event a turning point in history. This book wishes to look instead at how disruptive events promote a network of associations and how people resort to comparison as a means to make sense of the unknown i.e. to comprehend what seems incomprehensible. In order to effectively discuss the complexity of 9 11 this book articulates different fields of knowledge and perspectives such as visual culture media studies performance studies critical theory memory studies and literary studies to shed some light on 9 11 and analyze how the event has impacted on American social and cultural fabric and how the American society has come to terms with such a devastating event. A more in depth study of Don DeLillo's Falling Man and Jonathan Safran Foer's Extremely Loud and Incredibly Close draws attention to the cultural construction of catastrophe and the plethora of cultural products 9 11 has inspired. It demonstrates how the event has been integrated into American culture and exemplifies what makes up the 9 11 imaginary.

Printed Past, Bookish Present, Digital Future Eric C. Loy, 2021 This dissertation argues for a recentering of the book medium in the study of contemporary literature Recent works by popular authors such as Mark Z Danielewski House of Leaves and Jonathan Safran Foer Tree of Codes demonstrate an artistic resurgence of this material format often positioned as an analog response to the proliferation of digital and multimedia content in current popular culture Mixing interpretive strategies from media studies book history and literary criticism this project traces new historical and theoretical contexts with which to understand this new era of the literary book Building on Jessica Pressman s formulation of bookishness which she defines as creative acts that engage the physicality of the book within a digital culture 1 the four chapters in this dissertation each demonstrate how bookishness has shaped recent productions of contemporary literature in a variety of artistic applications and in a number of different historical cultural moments Chapter One focuses on the mid century development of an editorial aesthetic in literary fiction in which authors borrow design and organizational strategies from academic books In the examples I discuss Ishmael Reed s Mumbo Jumbo and Theresa Hak Kyung Cha s DICTEE the editorial aesthetic is deployed in service of a subversive critique of hegemonic knowledge systems Chapter Two explicates the bookish interactivity of a novel published as an unbound codex typically labeled as a book in a box With critical readings of B S Johnson s The Unfortunates and Chris Ware s Building Stories I demonstrate how literary book design can uniquely shape narrative structure as well cultivate new kinds of participatory reading modes Chapter Three connects recent literary works to digital culture directly through the concept of bookish remix Reading Foer s Tree of Codes and Jordan Abel s Injun I contextualize the creation and reception of these novels within internet meme culture and the creative copying of remix in a variety of media Chapter Four addresses the fundamental process of bookish feedback that structures the evolution of the book medium and connects it to human development My readings of Steve Tomasula s VAS An Opera in Flatland and Matthew McIntosh s theMystery doc illustrate how each novel exemplifies new advances in the book and the novel through bookish feedback in both material design and narrative structure Fulfilling the promise of this dissertation's title my study of all the literary works in this project ultimately reveals how such contemporary practices of literary bookishness connect to bibliographic history interact with the media environment of the present and reach to digital cultures of the future Pages vi vii

The Page Redux Brianne Nicole Bilsky, 2012 The Page Redux American Literature in the Information Age argues that American literature of the past three decades has played a central role in reconceptualizing the relationship between literature and technology The texts analyzed in this dissertation self consciously approach the book as a technological object and reveal the printed page to be a crucial site for interrogating the capabilities and limitations of several media technologies including cameras computers and writing itself In treating the page as a meaning bearing graphic interface this strand of American literature which includes hybrid texts graphic novels and experimental fiction defiantly protests against the alleged obsolescence of print and offers innovative ways for books to remain a viable valuable communication system in the endless competition between old and new media The first chapter frames the project's historical arc with an overview of key developments in information inscription and digital culture showing how these developments have challenged print's dominance as an information storage technology Building on this analysis in the context of early information age or pre digital literature the second chapter approaches Theresa Hak Kyung Cha's hybrid text Dictée 1982 not as the experimental novel that it is often labeled but as a work of media theory that critiques communication systems and the politics of historiography The third chapter examines interactions between media technologies and literature in the form of graphic novels Analyzing Art Spiegelman's Maus 1986 1991 and Alison Bechdel's Fun Home 2006 this chapter illustrates how word and image combinations work to destabilize various technologies' ability to accurately record information and in the process generate an ironic authenticity that stems from the traditionally anti realist comics form The last two chapters attend to American literature of the new millennium The first of these situates Mark Z Danielewski's experimental novel House of Leaves 2000 at the intersection of space technology and narrative and contends that the text stages a confrontation between analog and digital technologies that exposes the mediatedness of all narrative regardless of the technology used to record it and ultimately attests to the value of interpretation in a hypermediated world To conclude the project the final chapter considers Jonathan Safran Foer's die cut book Tree of Codes 2010 in relation to recent developments in media technologies and digital culture Grating against intangibility and digital culture's drive to convert atoms into bits Foer's hypermaterial novel further demonstrates that in the last few decades the physical space of the page has become an increasingly animated site for reconsidering how media technologies affect literary studies and how older media forms such as the book reemerge as flexible communication systems capable of co evolving with the digital rather than being consumed by it
