Derek Walcott: The Journeyman Years. Volume 2: Performing Arts Christopher Balme, Gordon Collier, 2013-12-06 During the same period in which Derek Walcott was pouring immense physical emotional and logistical resources into the foundation of a viable first rate West Indian theatre company and continuing to write his inimitable poetry he was also busy writing newspaper reviews chiefly for the Trinidad Guardian His prodigious reviewing activity extended far beyond those areas with which one might most readily associate his interests and convictions As Gordon Rohlehr once presciently observed If one wants to see a quotidian workaday Walcott one should go back to his well over five hundred articles essays and reviews on painting cinema calypso carnival drama and literature articles which reveal a rich various witty and scrupulous intelligence in which generous humour counterpoints acerbity These articles capture the vitality of Caribbean culture and shed additional light on the aesthetic preoccupations expressed in Walcott's essays published in journals The editors have examined the corpus of Walcott's journalistic activity from its beginnings in 1950 to its peak in the early 1970s and have made a generous selection of material from the Guardian along with occasional pieces from such sources as Public Opinion Kingston and The Voice of St Lucia Castries The articles in Volume 2 are organized as follows the performing arts general surveys of anglophone Caribbean drama theatre and society festivals theatre companies and productions British and American drama dance and music theatre Carnival and calypso and cinema screenings in Trinidad Volume 2 additionally contains an exhaustive annotated and cross referenced chronological bibliography of Walcott's journalism up to 1990 The co editor Christopher Balme has written a searching introductory essay on a central theme here a survey of West Indian theatre and Walcott's engagement with it particularly the idea of a National Theatre coupled with an illustrative discussion of the playwright's seminal dramatic spectacle Drums and Colours

Historicizing the Enlightenment, Volume 2 Michael McKeon, 2023-07-14 Enlightenment critics from Dryden through Johnson and Wordsworth conceived the modern view that art and especially literature entails a double reflection a reflection of the world and a reflection on the process by which that reflection is accomplished Instead neoclassicism and Augustanism have been falsely construed as involving a one dimensional imitation of classical texts and an unselfconscious representation of the world In fact these Enlightenment movements adopted an oblique perspective that registers the distance between past tradition and its present reenactment between representation and presence Two modern movements Romanticism and modernism have appropriated as their own these innovations which derive from Enlightenment thought Both of these movements ground their error in a misreading of imitation as understood by Aristotle and his Enlightenment proponents Rightly understood neoclassical imitation constitutively aware of the difference between what it knows and how it knows it is an experimental inquiry that generates a range of prefixes counter mock anti neo that mark formal degrees of its epistemological detachment Romantic ideology has denied the role of the imagination in Enlightenment imitation imposing on the eighteenth century a dichotomous periodization duplication versus imagination the mirror versus the lamp Structuralist ideology has dichotomized narration and description form and content structure and history Poststructuralist ideology has propounded for the novel a contradictory novel tradition realism modernism postmodernism postcolonialism whose stages both constitute a sequence and collapse it each stage claiming the innovation of the stage that precedes it Published by Bucknell University Press Distributed worldwide by Rutgers University Press
