Translating Women Perspectives On Translation:

Translating Women Luise von Flotow, Farzaneh Farahzad, 2016-10-04 This book focuses on women and translation in cultures across other horizons well beyond the European or Anglo American centres Drawing on transnational feminist connections its editors have assembled work from four continents and included articles from Morocco Mexico Sri Lanka Turkey China Saudi Arabia Columbia and beyond Thirteen different chapters explore questions around women s roles in translation as authors or translators or theoreticians In doing so they open new territories for studies in the area of gender and translation and stimulate academic work on questions in this field around the world The articles examine the impact of Western feminism when translated to other cultures they describe translation projects devised to import and make meaningful feminist texts from other places they engage with the politics of publishing translations by women authors in other cultures and the role of women translators play in developing new ideas The diverse approaches to questions around women and translation developed in this collection speak to the volume of unexplored material that has yet to be addressed in this field

Translating Women Luise von Flotow, 2011-03-08 Translating Women explores women in translation in many contexts whether they are translators authors or characters Together the contributors show that feminist theory can apply to translation in many new and unexplored ways and that it deserves the full attention of the discipline that helped it become internationally influential Feminist theory has been widely translated influencing the humanities and social sciences in many languages and cultures However these theories have not made as much of an impact on the discipline that made their dissemination possible many translators and translation scholars still remain unaware of the practices purposes and possibilities of gender in translation Translating Women revives the exploration of gender in translation begun in the 1990s by Susanne de Lotbinière Harwood s Re belle et infidèle The Body Bilingual 1992 Sherry Simon s Gender in Translation 1996 and Luise von Flotow s Translation and Gender 1997 Translating Women complements those seminal texts by providing a wide variety of examples of how feminist theory can inform the study and practice of translation Looking at such diverse topics as North American chick lit and medieval Arabic Translating Women explores women in translation in many contexts whether they are women translators women authors or women characters Together the contributors show that feminist theory can apply to translation in many new and unexplored ways and that it deserves the full attention of the discipline that helped it become internationally influential Published in English

Translating Women Luise von Flotow, Farzaneh Farahzad, 2016-10-04 This book focuses on women and translation in cultures across other horizons well beyond the European or Anglo American centres Drawing on transnational feminist connections its editors have assembled work from four continents and included articles from Morocco Mexico Sri Lanka Turkey China Saudi Arabia Columbia and beyond Thirteen different chapters explore questions around women s roles in translation as authors or translators or theoreticians In doing so they open new territories for studies in the area of gender and translation and stimulate academic work on questions in this field around the world The articles examine the impact of Western feminism when translated to other cultures they describe translation projects devised to import and make meaningful feminist texts from other places they engage with the politics of publishing translations by women authors in other cultures and the role of women translators play in developing new ideas The diverse approaches to questions around women and translation developed in this collection speak to the volume of unexplored material that has yet to be addressed in this field Translation and Gender Luise Von Flotow, 2016-04-08 The last thirty years of intellectual and artistic creativity in the 20th century have been marked by gender issues Translation practice translation theory and translation criticism have also been powerfully affected by the focus on gender As a result of feminist praxis and criticism and the simultaneous emphasis on culture in translation studies translation has become an important site for the exploration of the cultural impact of gender and the gender specific influence of culture With the dismantling of universal meaning and the struggle for women's visibility in feminist work and with the interest in translation as a visible factor in cultural exchange the linking of gender and translation has created fertile ground for explorations of influence in writing rewriting and reading Translation and Gender places recent work in translation against the background of the women's movement and its critique of patriarchal language It explains translation practices derived from experimental feminist writing the development of openly interventionist translation strategies the initiative to retranslate fundamental texts such as the Bible translating as a way of recuperating writings lost in patriarchy and translation history as a means of focusing on women translators of the past New Perspectives on Gender and Translation Eleonora Federici, José Santaemilia, 2021-11-30 This collection expands the body of research on the intersection of gender and translation to highlight perspectives across different countries in Europe showcasing developments in the field from its origins in the emergence of feminist translation in Quebec over the last thirty years Building off seminal work on feminist translation by scholars in Canada in the 1980s and 1990s the book explores the evolution of the discipline in shifting translation practices and research across a range of European countries with a focus on underrepresented areas such as Malta Serbia and Poland The different chapters examine key developments such as the critical reframing of gender and identity the viewing of historical translation activity by women through the lens of ideological and political motivations and the analysis of socio political contexts where feminist or gender inspired translation has impacted translators practices The volume looks concurrently at the European context and beyond it putting the spotlight on new voices in translation and gender research in the region but also encouraging transnational dialogues on key issues in the discipline pushing the field further into new directions This book will be of particular interest to scholars in translation studies gender studies and European literature The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Ethics Kaisa Koskinen, Nike K. Pokorn, 2020-12-16 The Routledge Handbook of Translation and Ethics offers a comprehensive overview of issues surrounding ethics in translating and interpreting The chapters chart the philosophical and theoretical underpinnings of ethical thinking in Translation Studies and analyze the ethical dilemmas of various translatorial actors including translation trainers and researchers Authored by leading scholars and new voices in the field the 31 chapters present a wide coverage of emerging issues such as increasing technologization of translation posthumanism volunteering and activism accessibility and linguistic human rights Many chapters provide the first extensive overview of the topic or present new takes on established areas The book is divided into four parts with the first covering the most influential ethical theories Part II takes the perspective of agents in different contexts and the ethical dilemmas they face while Part III takes a critical look at central institutions structuring and controlling ethical behaviour Finally Part IV focuses on special issues and new challenges and signals new directions for further study This handbook is an indispensable resource for all students and researchers of translation and ethics within translation and interpreting studies multilingualism and comparative literature

New Perspectives on Gender and Translation Eleonora Federici, José Santaemilia, 2021-11-30 This collection expands the body of research on the intersection of gender and translation to highlight perspectives across different countries in Europe showcasing developments in the field from its origins in the emergence of feminist translation in Quebec over the last thirty years Building off seminal work on feminist translation by scholars in Canada in the 1980s and 1990s the book explores the evolution of the discipline in shifting translation practices and research across a range of European countries with a focus on underrepresented areas such as Malta Serbia and Poland The different chapters examine key developments such as the critical reframing of gender and identity the viewing of historical translation activity by women through the lens of ideological and political motivations and the analysis of socio political contexts where feminist or gender inspired translation has impacted translators practices The volume looks concurrently at the European context and beyond it putting the spotlight on new voices in translation and gender research in the region but also encouraging transnational dialogues on key issues in the discipline pushing the field further into new directions This book will be of particular interest to scholars in translation studies gender studies and European literature

PROCEEDINGS OF THE THIRD INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON GLOBALIZATION: CHALLENGES FOR TRANSLATORS AND INTERPRETERS Zhiqing

Zhang, Youbin Zhao, Xinjie Wang, 2020-05-26 With the implementation of the Belt and Road Initiative and the development of Guangdong Hong Kong Macau Greater Bay Area the demand for translators and interpreters continues to grow in China The breakthrough in artificial intelligence which has contributed to an enormous improvement in the quality of machine translation means challenges and opportunities for translators and interpreters as well as studies of translation and interpreting Studies of translation and interpreting have been further expanded and diversified in the era of globalized communications The interrelation between translation and globalization is essential reading for not only scholars and educators but also anyone with an interest in translation and interpreting studies or a concern for the future of our world s languages and cultures By focusing on the connection between the two various researches have been conducted in all forms of communication between languages including translation interpreting cross cultural communication language teaching and the various specializations involved in such activities This has resulted in The Third International Conference on Globalization Challenges for Translators and Interpreters co organized by the School of Translation Studies Jinan University on its Zhuhai campus and South China Business College Guangdong University of Foreign Studies November 16 17 2019 The response to the conference was once more overwhelming which was partly attributed to the previous two conferences held successfully under the same title Apart from five keynote speakers over one hundred and fifty participants came from universities institutions or organizations from mainland China Spain New Zealand as well as Hong Kong and Macao to attend the event contributing over 130 papers in total Among the keynote speakers are internationally renowned scholars in translation studies such as Dr Roberto Valde n professor of English Linguistics at the University of Oviedo Spain and the Chief Editor of Perspective Studies in Translatology Dr Sun Yifeng chair professor of Translation Studies and head of the English Department at the University of Macau Dr Tan Zaixi distinguished professor of Shenzhen University and Chair Professor of Beijing Foreign Studies University and Professor Emeritus of Hong Kong Baptist University After careful evaluation and compilation 90 papers have been selected for this conference proceedings which was summarized into the following four topics Translation and Interpreting Theory and Practice Translation and Cross cultural Studies Evaluation of Translation and Interpretation and Studies on the Teaching of Translation By no means is it difficult to find some interesting and thought provoking papers under each topic For example concerning Translation and Interpreting Theory and Practice To Translate or not to Translate That is the Question On Metaphor Translation in Chinese Political works by Dong Yu explains that in judging whether or not a Chinese metaphor can be translated into English an indispensable step is to decide whether or not the two cultural connotations can be connected But this can easily be influenced by subjective factors Yu has suggested some ways in which subjective factors could be controlled to some extent so that the translator could be more confident in his or her decision He has also suggested three steps The first step is to assume that the cultural connotation of the Chinese metaphor can be connected with that of its English version For example the metaphor in could be translated as rain or shine The second step is to find out whether or not this translated version is acceptable both linguistically and culturally in English The third step is to consider the systematicity of the metaphor in regard with the context in both the source and target texts This involves a process of recontextualization When it comes to Translation and Cross cultural Studies On Translation of the English Guide interpreter from the Perspective of Intercultural Communication by Fengxia Liua and Xiaoning Bi points out that inbound tourism serves as a window through which foreign tourists get to know China so the interaction between the guide interpreters and foreign tourists are the typical activity of cultural communication Foreign language speaking guides are usually regarded as people to people ambassadors or cultural ambassadors who have played an essential role in the international tourist industry Therefore they argue that it is extremely important for tourist guides to cultivate their cross cultural communication awareness enhance their overall communicative competence observe and distinguish east and west differences with multi dimensional perspective transcend cultural barriers and learn to use translation skills Studies on the Teaching of Translation is another interesting topic that has attracted enormous attention such as Business Translation Teaching from the Perspective of Metaphors by Dandan Li which explores application of conceptual metaphor theory in the translation process of business lexicons business discourse and business English culture so as to provide a new perspective in business English pedagogy Another study entitled Cognitive Studies in Translation by Xin Huang analyzes the cognitive studies of translation interpreting processes over the past three decades with focus on the issues examined the findings reached as well as the recent development She explains that cognitive studies of translation process examine the translation competence on line translation behaviors such as how the eye gazes and how the words are typed and the brain activities when doing translation Special interests are paid to the working memory problem solving the executive function and some linguistic relative factors such as text difficulty Over the past thirty years the interest in the field has been gaining considerable momentum and increasing issues have been involved Finally she concludes that with the advancement of technologies and interdisciplinary approaches the black box the previously unforeseeable cognitive activities of how human process translation can be unfolded Considering the importance of integrating theory with practice the proceedings are therefore compiled in such a way as to be balanced and inclusive in the hope of summarizing current accomplishments as well as providing certain insights for teaching and further research in the field of translation and interpretation studies

Travel Narratives in Translation, 1750-1830 Alison Martin, Susan Pickford, 2013-05-07 This book examines how non fictional travel accounts were rewritten reshaped and reoriented in translation between 1750 and 1850 a period that saw a sudden surge in the genre s popularity It explores how these translations played a vital role in the transmission and circulation of knowledge about foreign peoples lands and customs in the Enlightenment and Romantic periods The collection makes an important contribution to travel writing studies by looking beyond metaphors of mobility and cultural transfer to focus specifically on what happens to travelogues in translation Chapters range from discussing essential differences between the original and translated text to relations between authors and translators from intra European narratives of Grand Tour travel to scientific voyages round the world and from established male travellers and translators to their historically less visible female counterparts Drawing on European travel writing in English French German Spanish and Portuguese the book charts how travelogues were selected for translation how they were reworked to acquire new aesthetic political or gendered identities and how they sometimes acquired a radically different character and content to meet the needs and expectations of an emergent international readership The contributors address aesthetic political and gendered aspects of travel writing in translation drawing productively on other disciplines and research areas that encompass aesthetics the history of science literary geography and the history of the book
