Intended for mature readers 18 When Monkeys Feel Rhythms Michael P Amram,2014-06-06 In French the word for my is pronounced mon When Monkeys feel Rhythms taps chosen veins of humanity The poems examine how relating to aspects of life has affected us and how the topics I ve chosen to write about continue to confound us in spite of their power to enlighten us For better or worse some poems look for how far we ve come from times when vines swung as means of transportation These sixty poems share a common ancestral link They chain together the primate mentality that follows those who have prospered in life and those that life has failed The poems investigate relationships and indicate the advances that have been made since those relative connections were discovered Monkeys points out the need to think and communicate all the while watching those basic primal skills deteriorate Mundane aspects of marriage friendship politics and technology are explored When Monkeys feel Rhythmus peels back the layers of where humanity has been what we've lost and where we have yet to go In Evolution Lost another Tale a tether of technology is addressed do you ever re think the calls you made to slap steering wheels as you raged the roads and bumpers were nudged sudden so your middle finger rose to convey simple thoughts This poem points to how a race of drivers has evolved The poem shows the distance primates have come with the wheel they once invented It says how the wheel's novelty is worn out and communication can no longer wait until the trip to end It asks when the need to communicate defeated the distinct possibility of fatality It asks when people became so self important that they would risk their lives just to be heard It speaks of how technology has enlarged our heads shrunk the world and re aligned priorities there were no distractions then there were no distractions when channels broke for truckers to handle their loads with a sense for humor that wouldn't talk fierce to rage the roads Metaphors often disguise malignancy My poems find cancers in society The rhythms shake they quiver and flush out the benign I invite you to examine what is peeled back When Monkeys feel Rhythms will make you laugh Some might make you cry Others look for the moments you like to say a ha Some are bold others are shy I hope you find reading them as fun and enlightening as writing them was Grand Obsessions: The Life and Work of Walter Burley Griffin and Marion Mahony Griffin Alasdair McGregor, 2014-06-25 On 23 May 1912 American Walter Burley Griffin was announced to the world as the winner of the international design competition for the new Australian capital to be built on a sheep paddock they called Canberra Almost a century later Griffin's design but most of all its implementation is still hotly debated Who was this man and what was his vision How did he come to Canberra what happened once the Australian establishment tore him to shreds and what was the role of his wife helpmate fellow architect and equal creative partner Marion Mahony Griffin In this definitive new biography of Griffin husband and wife Alasdair McGregor delineates the role each played in the production of their greatest works Canberra Castlecrag Newman College and the rest and charts their lives from their childhoods and meeting in Chicago in the employ of the larger than life Frank Lloyd Wright to their battles in Canberra Melbourne and Sydney and their swansong in India This is a tale of many parts It traces the lives of two individuals of great talent and vision and their fight against mediocrity It is the story of the birth of Canberra one that tells us as much about the Griffins as it does about ourselves and the troubled birth of the Australian national identity It is a portrait of a pioneering woman who achieved extraordinary things but was rarely credited with that achievement And it is an examination of the nature of fame in a young country uncertain of its position in the world The Griffins story resonates through the years and their fight to see their idealistic vision realised is one that goes on in Australia today This biography is a treasure Dimity Reed Sunday Age This handsome book is the latest in a growing line of books about the Griffins and it is perhaps the most successful to date Roger Pegrum Canberra Times a meticulously detailed account of the Griffins professional output Annabel Lawson Australia Coast to Coast Country Style This belongs on every architect's
