Whether Kill Cognitive Nonviolent Individuals:

Hot Contention, Cool Abstention Stephanie Dornschneider, 2021 Why did people mobilize for the Arab Spring While existing research has focused on the roles of authoritarian regimes oppositional structures and social grievances in the movement these explanations fail to address differences in the behavior of individuals overlooking the fact that even when millions mobilized for the Arab Spring the majority of the population stayed at home To investigate this puzzle this book traces the reasoning processes by which individuals decided to join the uprisings or to refrain from doing so Drawing from original ethnographic interviews with protestors and non protestors in Egypt and Morocco Dornschneider utilizes qualitative methods and computational modeling to identify the main components of reasoning processes beliefs inferences directed connections between beliefs and decisions Bridging the psychology literature on reasoning and the political science literature on protest this book systematically traces how decisions about participating in the Arab Spring were made It shows that decisions to join the uprisings were hot meaning they were based on positive emotions while decisions to stay at home were cool meaning they were based on safety considerations Hot Contention Cool Abstention adds to the extensive literature on political uprisings offering insights on how and why movements start stall and evolve Institutionalizing Violence Jerome Drevon, 2022 This chapter presents the analytical framework of this book in the contentious politics research agenda The book situates jihadi groups in a multilevel environment constituted by their political environment social movement the security services the public and a potential countermovement This chapter argues that jihadi groups can successively radicalise in interaction with any of these actors The first argument is that radicalisation forces them to institutionalise along one dimension The second argument is that the succession of several phases of radicalisation and institutionalisation shapes their long term trajectories and strategic choices Identity Change after Conflict Jennifer Todd, 2018-11-23 This book explores everyday identity change and its role in transforming ethnic national and religious divisions It uses very extensive interviews in post conflict Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland in the early 21st century to compare the extent and the micro level cultural logics of identity change It widens comparisons to the Gard in France and uses multiple methods to reconstruct the impact of identity innovation on social and political outcomes in the 2010s It shows the irreducible causal importance of identity change for wider compromise after conflict It speaks to those interested in Cultural Sociology Politics Conflict and Peace Studies Nationalism Religion International Relations and European and Irish Studies Psychology of Non-violence and Aggression V.K. complex world What they don't realize is that they may be the target of a violent system that is building an obedient workforce One day they're enjoying a few laughs with buddies and seemingly the next day they wake up as human killing machines And they allowed it to happen Addressing one of the most serious threats to the world today Human Killing Machines applies the model of systematic indoctrination to case studies of brutality in Iran Nazi Germany Al Qaeda and Abu Ghraib The book reveals how these transformations take place how systems redefine morality to turn ordinary people into torturers terrorists and genocidal killers Analyzing the key differences between these cases also helps to identify the safeguards which limit violence Lankford demonstrates the weaknesses of indoctrination the ways heroic individuals have resisted its influence and the potential for countermeasures Based on these examples he offers recommendations for how we can begin to reform the U S military and increase its accountability reduce Al Qaeda terrorists' commitment to their missions and spark an awakening in Iran so that the oppressive regime goes out with a whimper not with a bang
