My family tree

Instructions

Discuss with your child(ren) what a family tree is and explain that it is a graph showing how our family is connected to one another.

Write out a list of family members (starting with the oldest and youngest children). Then parents. Then grandparents on each side. Make connections about who died at an old age and depending on interest, add great-grandparents. Use illustrations "who is connected to whom?"

Show your child(ren) some examples of what a family tree might look like. Explain that it is a representation of how a family is connected to one another. Use the examples to show how a family tree is a graph that shows how our family is connected to one another.

Ask them how they would like to draw a family tree and use the list of family members completed to make a unique and accurate family tree together.

Examples of family trees

How to draw a family tree

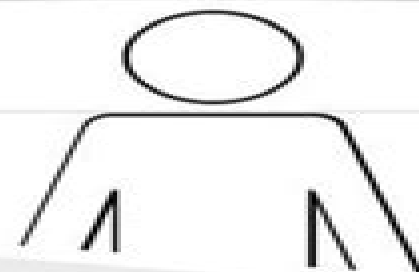

Ask your child(ren) to tell you what they notice about each family tree. Do they have a lot of children? Do they have a lot of children? Do they have a lot of children?

In a diagram, it is obvious why there might be a child without a second parent. Diagrams can also be creatively designed with other symbols/graphics and the family and the children/grandchildren in the family.
