Trapped In The Gap Doing Good In Indigenous Australia:

Trapped in the Gap Emma Kowal, 2015-02-01 In Australia a tribe of white middle class progressive professionals is actively working to improve the lives of Indigenous people This book explores what happens when well meaning people supported by the state attempt to help without harming White anti racists find themselves trapped by endless ambiguities contradictions and double binds a microcosm of the broader dilemmas of postcolonial societies These dilemmas are fueled by tension between the twin desires of equality and difference to make Indigenous people statistically the same as non Indigenous people to close the gap while simultaneously maintaining their cultural distinctiveness This tension lies at the heart of failed development efforts in Indigenous communities ethnic minority populations and the global South This book explains why doing good is so hard and how it could be done differently

Wild Articulations Timothy Neale, 2017-07-31 Beginning with the nineteenth century expeditions Northern Australia has been both a fascination and concern to the administrators of settler governance in Australia With Southeast Asia and Melanesia as neighbors the region s expansive and relatively undeveloped tropical savanna lands are alternately framed as a market opportunity an ecological prize a threat to national sovereignty and a social welfare problem Over the last several decades while developers have eagerly promoted the mineral and agricultural potential of its monsoonal catchments conservationists speak of these same sites as rare biodiverse habitats and settler governments focus on the social dysfunction of its Indigenous communities Meanwhile across the north Indigenous people have sought to wrest greater equity in the management of their lives and the use of their country In Wild Articulations Timothy Neale examines environmentalism indigeneity and development in Northern Australia through the controversy surrounding the Wild Rivers Act 2005 Qld in Cape York Peninsula an event that drew together a diverse cast of actors traditional owners prime ministers politicians environmentalists mining companies the late Steve Irwin crocodiles and river systems to contest the future of the north With a population of fewer than 18 000 people spread over a landmass of over 50 000 square miles Cape York Peninsula remains a frontier in many senses Long constructed as a wild space whether as terra nullius a zone of legal exception or a biodiverse wilderness region in need of conservation Australia s north has seen two fundamental political changes over the past two decades The first is the legal recognition of Indigenous land rights reaching over a majority of its area The second is that the region has been the center of national debates regarding the market integration and social normalization of Indigenous people attracting the attention of federal and state governments and becoming a site for intensive neoliberal reforms Drawing connections with other settler colonial nations such as Canada and Aotearoa New Zealand Wild Articulations examines how indigenous lands continue to be imagined and governed as wild

Dreaming Down the Track William Lempert, 2025-06-03 What can Aboriginal filmmaking reveal about Indigenous presence and futures The product of years of embedded fieldwork within Indigenous film crews in Northwestern Australia Dreaming Down the Track delves deeply into Aboriginal cinema as a transformative community process It follows the social lives of projects throughout their production cycles from planning and editing to screening broadcasting and after images Across its narrative sweep this ethnography engages the film career of Kukatja elder Mark Moora to demonstrate the impact of filmmaking on how Aboriginal futures are collectively imagined and called forth William Lempert highlights a series of awakenings through which Moora ultimately came to view cinema as a process for catalyzing his family's return to their home country of Mangkayi This biographical media journey paints an intimate portrait of the inspiring possibilities and sobering limitations of Indigenous envisioning within settler states Lempert traces how Moora's life and films convey a multiplicity of Aboriginal experiences across time and space from colonial contact to contemporary life in communities like Balgo including the continued governmental attempts to undermine them Amid ongoing negotiations to establish the first treaties between Indigenous nations and Australian states Dreaming Down the Track illustrates what is at stake in how Aboriginal State relations are represented and understood both within communities and for the broader public Lempert stays true to Moora's insight that film can preserve community stories for generations to come toward the aim of enacting sovereign futures

Critical Reflections on Migration, 'Race' and Multiculturalism Martina Boese, Vince Marotta, 2017-06-26 Migration and its associated social practices and consequences have been studied within a multitude of academic disciplines and in the context of policies at local national and regional level This edited collection provides an introduction and critical review of conceptual developments and policy contexts of migration scholarship within an Australian and global context through political economy analyses of migration and associated transformations sociological analyses of settling in processes multi disciplinary analyses of migrant work a historical review of scholarship on refugees a Southern theory approach to cultural diversity sociological reflections on post nationalism Cultural Studies analyses of public culture and second generation youth cultures interdisciplinary and Critical Race analyses of race and racism feminist intersectional analyses of migration belonging and representation the theorising of cosmopolitanism a transdisciplinary analysis of gender transnational families and care and a comparative transcontextual analysis of hybridity An essential contribution to the current mapping of migration studies with a focus on Australian scholarship in its international context this collection will be of interest to undergraduates and postgraduates interested in fields such as Sociology Cultural Studies Geography and Politics Elgar Encyclopedia of Science and Technology Studies Ulrike Felt, Alan Irwin, 2024-10-03 This Encyclopedia provides a comprehensive overview of the expanding field of science and technology studies STS Covering key frameworks themes and topics Ulrike Felt and Alan Irwin bring together expert contributors to map the development of STS within its historical and intellectual context Fatness, Obesity, and Disadvantage in the Australian Suburbs Megan Warin, Tanya Zivkovic, 2019-03-18 This ethnography takes the reader into the Australian suburbs to learn about food eating and bodies during the highly political context of one of Australia's largest childhood obesity interventions While there is ample evidence about the number of people who are overweight or obese and an abundance of information about what and how to eat obesity remains a problem in high income countries such as Australia Rather than rely on common assumptions that people are making all the wrong choices this volume reveals the challenges of eating healthy when money is scarce and how different versions of being fat and doing fat happen in everyday worlds of precarity Without acknowledgement of the multiple realities of fatness and obesity interventions will continue to have limited reach Vanished Sadiya Qureshi, 2025-06-05 A vital and important book David Olusoga From an award winning historian of race science and empire a path breaking and poignant history of extinction as a scientific idea an imperial legacy and a political choice Anyone alive today is among a tiny fraction of the once living over 90% of species that ever existed are now extinct How did we come to think of ourselves as survivors in a world where species can vanish forever or as capable of pushing our planet to the verge of a sixth mass extinction Extinction Sadiya Qureshi shows us is a surprisingly modern concept and a phenomenon that's not as natural as we might think In Europe until the late eighteenth century species were considered perfect and unchanging creations of God Then in the age of revolutions scientists gathered enough fossil evidence to determine that mammoth bones for example were not just large elephants but a lost species that once roamed the Earth alongside ancient humans Extinction went from being regarded as theologically dangerous to pervasive and even inevitable Yet Vanished shows us that extinction is more than a scientific idea it's a political choice that has led to devastating consequences Europeans and Americans quickly used the notion that extinction was a natural process to justify persecution and genocide predicting that nations from Newfoundland's Beothuk to Aboriginal Australians were doomed to die out from imperial expansion Exploring the tangled and unnatural histories of extinction and empire Vanished weaves together pioneering original research and breath taking storytelling to show us extinction is both an evolutionary process and a human act one which illuminates our past and may alter our future Screen Culture in the Global South Antonio Traverso, Deane Williams, Keyan G. Tomaselli, 2020-09-10 This volume adopts a transversal South South approach to the study of visual culture in transnational transcultural and geopolitical contexts Every day hundreds of people travel back and forth between southern countries including Australia Argentina Brazil Chile New Zealand Indonesia Timor Leste and South Africa With these people travel cultures experiences memories and images This creates the conditions for the generation sharing and circulation of new knowledge that is both southern and about the South as a specific kind of material and imaginary territory or territories It does so through the study of the southern hemisphere s screen cultures addressing the broad spectrum of cultural expression in both traditional and new screen media including film television video digital interactive and online and portable technologies This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Arts The Clozapine Clinic Julia Brown, 2022-04-25 This book is the first ethnography of the little known world of clozapine clinics in Australia and the United Kingdom Anthropologist Julia Brown engages with the narratives of people living in extreme health circumstances to challenge some of the assumptions made about clozapine treatment and to explore what it means to be diagnosed with treatment resistant schizophrenia Clozapine is a gold standard but controversial treatment for psychosis that requires lifelong monitoring to reduce fatality caused by clozapine side effects Focusing on the social world of the clozapine clinic and based on the author s own extensive research this book explores what it means to live with the interpersonal challenges of psychosis and trauma the risks of multi morbidity and how clozapine clients can experience meaningful control over their health Brown uses her findings to point to the practical clinical implications of clozapine clients being given more recognition and accountability and to explore how health agency relates to moral agency The Clozapine Clinic particularly highlights the importance of investing in continuity of healthcare and is an essential read for caregivers who work with sufferers of psychosis as well as academics and policymakers focused on mental health
