The Art of Editing Tim Groenland,2019-02-21 The place of the editor in literary production is an ambiguous and often invisible one requiring close attention to publishing history and often inaccessible archival resources to bring it into focus In The Art of Editing Tim Groenland shows that the critical tendency to overlook the activities of editors and to focus on the solitary author figure neglects important elements of how literary works are acquired developed and disseminated Focusing on selected works of fiction by Raymond Carver and David Foster Wallace authors who represent stylistic touchstones for US fiction of recent decades Groenland presents two case studies of editorial collaboration Carver s early stories were integral to the emergence of the Minimalist movement in the 1980s while Wallace s novels marked a generational shift towards a more expansive maximal mode of narrative The role of their respective editors however is often overlooked Gordon Lish s part in shaping the form of Carver s early stories remains under explored analyses of Wallace s fiction meanwhile tend to minimise Michael Pietsch s role from the creation of Infinite Jest during the mid 1990s until the present day Drawing on extensive archival research as well as interviews with editors and collaborators Groenland illuminates the complex and often conflicting forms of agency involved in the genesis of these influential works The energies and tensions of the editing process emerge as essential factors in the creation of fictions more commonly understood within the paradigm of solitary authorship The mediating role of the editor is Groenland argues inseparable from the development form and reception of these works The Dialectic of Self and Story Robert Durante,2014-01-14 Informed by selected postmodern theories and cultural criticism this study argues that while American fiction of the 1980s and 1990s bears the outward signs of a return to realism it also evidences recurring themes of postmodernism such as alienation social disintegration personal despair historical dislocation and authorial self reflexivity

Yellow Notebook Helen Garner,2019-11-05 The private diaries of one of Australia s greatest living writers the much loved fearless and fierce Helen Garner The Dirty Realism Duo Michael Hemmingson,2008-01-01 CHARLES BUKOWSKI RAYMOND CARVER Charles Bukowski and Raymond Carver were credited as the fathers of the Dirty Realism genre in the 1980s branching out from minimalism the stripping of fiction down to the least amount of words and a concentration on the subject s view of the object The characters are usually run of the mill every day people the lower and middle class worker the unemployed the alcoholic the beaten down by life In this experimental monograph in the vein of D H Lawrence s Studies in Contemporary American Fiction avant pop literary critic Michael Hemmingson examines these dirty works of Bukowski and Carver through the lens of late twentieth century American culture and the sociological observation of the self questioning the authority of the I in fiction and poetry and its relation to the eye s gaze of the words on a page Hemmingson offers close readings of selected texts deconstructing iconic works by Bukowski and Carver to point out the elements of dirty realism and mastery of the language of the common folk proving that these two writers are an institution in American literature MICHAEL HEMMINGSON has written over 25 books of literary western SF horror noir autobiography erotica narrative journalism gonzo journalism cultural anthropology critical theory critfiction and ethnography He lives and works in Southern California A Mirror in the Roadway Morris Dickstein,2021-08-10 In a famous passage in The Red and the Black the French writer Stendhal described the novel as a mirror being carried along a roadway In the twentieth century this was derided as a na ve notion of realism Instead modern writers experimented with creative forms of invention and dislocation Deconstructive theorists went even further questioning whether literature had any real reference to a world outside its own language while traditional historians challenged whether novels gave a trustworthy representation of history and society In this book Morris Dickstein reinterprets Stendhal s metaphor and tracks the different worlds of a wide array of twentieth century writers from realists like Theodore Dreiser Sinclair Lewis Edith Wharton and Willa Cather through modernists like Franz Kafka and Samuel Beckett to wildly inventive postwar writers like Saul Bellow G nter Grass Mary McCarthy George Orwell Philip Roth and Gabriel Garc a M rquez Dickstein argues that fiction will always yield rich insight into its subject and that literature can also be a form of historical understanding Writers refract the world through their forms and sensibilities He shows how the work of these writers recaptures yet also transforms the life around them the world inside them and the universe of language and feeling they share with their readers Through lively and incisive essays directed to general readers as well as students of literature Dickstein redefines the literary landscape a landscape in which reading has for decades been devalued by society and distorted by theory Having begun with a reconsideration of realism the book concludes with several essays probing the strengths and limitations of a historical approach to literature and criticism The Persistence of the Particular Dennis Wrong, 2017-07-12 Definitions of human beings as symbolic animals emphasize our capacity to form theories and general laws that can be applied to common social experience This is balanced by an equally strong will to define events and conditions that are particular to specific times places and individuals In this volume Dennis H Wrong argues that the scientific standard of universal laws and propositions has only limited relevance to human historical phenomena Wrong identifies the essential questions for social science as the place of nature and nurture in forming personality the sources of variation in human conduct and culture the causes of deviations from social norms how human motivations are socially shaped and controlled to make society possible and finally the causes of social change Because successive generations of thinkers have given varying answers to these questions no cumulative progress can be said to have occurred Wrong argues that the unity of theory and research sought by American sociologists cannot be obtained in social theory In terms of sociological practice this has created a disparity between the canonical theories of Marx Durkheim and Weber and the empirically oriented methodologies of current social research especially questionnaires fieldwork and statistical research Wrong attributes this disparity to postmodern skepticism about the potential of the social sciences to create a body of knowledge that might positively reshape human society Between the large scale theoretical constructs of classical theory and the overly particularistic tendencies associated with postmodernism Wrong argues for a historically oriented approach emphasizing unforeseen accidental agents as a foundation for modestly conceived theories Wrong emphasizes that the capacity to avoid predictable standardized responses whether they are based on instinct or ingrained habit is the source of human creativity Homo sapiens is as m Technique and Sensibility in the Fiction and Poetry of Psychoanalytic Perspectives on Women and Power in Contemporary Fiction Rossella Valdrè, 2017-07-14 Psychoanalytic Perspectives on Women and Power in Contemporary Fiction psychoanalytically examines contemporary fiction portraying the female in a reversal of the stereotyped victim role The recent popularity of powerful female characters suggests that literature is ahead in its understanding the desires fantasies and unconscious emotions of the public This book explores a form of intimacy frequently observed in consulting rooms and in life in general malicious intimacy Specific to the conjugal bond it is a type of intimacy connected to the relationship between the two halves of the couple that is extremely powerful and painful Instead of clinical cases Rossella Valdrè examines four contemporary and widely successful novels published contemporaneously which capture perfectly this type of psychopathological universe Valdrè then maps out psychoanalytic hypotheses regarding the persistency of these malicious intimacies Through analysis of these examples Valdrè investigates the roots and hypotheses of a new scenario on victim executioner roles played out in the intimacy of the couple Exploring how and if the contemporary couple is undergoing profound changes she provides an overview of the various deep seated psychological mechanisms and unconscious dynamics that may be at work The book explores the need to not be dependant upon a love object as an extreme defence against abandonment or self collapse Valdr argues that such a configuration is very common and that Idealization in contemporary life is one of the reasons behind the most of sufferance in modern couples something which psychoanalysis can examine through art Women perhaps after emancipation are living overturned roles and paying a higher cost as a result Psychoanalytic Perspectives on Women and Power in Contemporary Fiction will appeal to psychoanalysts and psychoanalytic psychotherapists and be of interest to scholars and students of literature gender studies philosophy and sociology
