

NARRATIVAS HISTÓRICAS edhasa

El mujeriego, arruinado y visionario marqués de Dunan intenta desesperadamente ganarse el favor del Rey Sol. Cree encontrar su oportunidad para lucirse en el zoológico de Versalles, obra de Louis Le Van y realizado entre 1662 y 1664. Decidido a asombrar al monarca trayendo vivos a los animales más exóticos, Dunan inicia un periplo de tres años por África, acompañado por una galería de personajes inolvidables y más sorprendentes que las bestias: un cura medio loco, decidido a cristianizar a todo aquel que se le ponga por delante (ya sea humano o no), un joven taxidermista frustrado con dotes para el dibujo, un capitán algo arisco que odia los cotilleos versallescos... Todo un circo de hombres y fieras que vivirá las más salvajes y divertidas aventuras.

Frédéric Richaudeau ha introducido una bocanada de aire fresco en el panorama de la novela histórica de nuestros días con un inaudito dominio de los diversos registros del humor, desde la ironía más fina al disparate de corte surrealista, pero con un incomparable talento sobre todo en el humor negro.

Joined-up History Arthur Chapman, Arie Wilschut, 2015-08-01 Debates about the identity of school history and about the nature and purpose of the learning that does can and should take place in history classrooms continue in many countries around the world At issue in many of these debates beyond the concerns about history and national identity are often unaddressed questions about the role and inter relationship of historical knowledge and historical understanding in historical learning Research on historical thinking is on going and a complex tradition of enquiry has developed across national borders in the last 30 years focusing in particular on developing students understanding of historical meta concepts such as evidence and causation There has been comparatively little focus however on the historical content that students study on how they study it and on how mastery of historical content contributes to students overall picture of a historical past This volume gathers together recent research and theorising from around the world on key issues central to historical learning and instruction What sense do students make of the history that they are taught Are students able to organise historical knowledge in order to form large scale representations of the past and what difficulties can children face in doing so What are the relationships that obtain between history as an academic discipline as practised in universities and history as a subject taught in schools What can research tell us about the effects of instructional strategies that aim to help students join up what they learn in class into meaningful historical knowledge and understanding
