Institutions, Interaction and Social Theory Will Gibson, Dirk vom Lehn, 2016-01-01 From hospitals and prisons to schools and corporations no matter how large or seemingly abstract all institutions are ultimately the result of the actions and interactions of people In this original and innovative text Gibson and Vom Lehn show the different ways in which studying people's own meaning-making practices can help us understand the role of institutions in contemporary society Institutions, Interaction and Social Theory takes the reader through the core conceptual foundations of Symbolic Interactionism, Ethnomethodology and Conversation Analysis Engaging with a rich tradition in sociological thought, it suggests that interactionist perspectives have remained largely absent in the study of institutions and how they contrast with and contribute to the broader field of research in institutional contexts With chapters on healthcare, education, markets and art and culture, this text will be of interest to those studying institutions organisations and work in sociology and in business schools It will also be valuable for students of social theory interested in interactionism and in the challenges and opportunities of connecting complex theoretical discussions to real world examples Chinese Transnational Migration in the Age of Global Modernity Liangni Sally Liu,2018-01-17 The term circulatory transnational migration best describes the unconventional migratory route of many contemporary Chinese migrants that is an unfinished set of circulatory movements that these migrants engage in between the homeland and various host countries Return migration step migration to a third destination and the astronauting strategy are all included within this circulatory migration movement wherein returning to the country of origin does not always mean to settle back to the homeland permanently while step migration also does not necessarily mean to re migrate to a third destination country for a permanent purpose Liu takes a longitudinal perspective to study Chinese migrants transnational movements and looks at their transnational migratory movements as a family matter and progressive and dynamic process using New Zealand as a primary case study She examines Chinese migrants initial motives for immigrating to New Zealand the driving forces behind their adoption of a transnational lifestyle which includes leaving New Zealand to return to China moving to a third country typically Australia or commuting across borders family related considerations inter generational dynamics in transnational migration as well as their future movement intentions Liu also discusses Chinese migrants conceptualisation of home citizenship identity and sense of belonging to provide a deeper understanding of their transnational migratory experiences Principles of Research in Behavioral Science Mary E.
