Women and the Irish Revolution Linda Connolly, 2020-11-23 The narrative of the Irish revolution as a chronology of great men and male militarism with women presumed to have either played a subsidiary role or no role at all requires reconsideration Women and feminists were extremely active in Irish revolutionary causes from 1912 onwards but ultimately it was the men as revolutionary leaders who took all the power and indeed all the credit after independence Women from different backgrounds were activists in significant numbers and women across Ireland were profoundly impacted by the overall violence and tumult of the era but they were then relegated to the private sphere with the memory of their vital political and military role in the revolution forgotten and erased Women and the Irish Revolution examines diverse aspects of women's experiences in the revolution after the Easter Rising The complex role of women as activists the detrimental impact of violence and social and political divisions on women the role of women in the foundation of the new State and dynamics of remembrance and forgetting are explored in detail by leading scholars in sociology history politics and literary studies Important and timely and featuring previously unpublished material this book will prompt essential new public conversations on the experiences of women in the Irish revolution

National Women's Health Survey for Trinidad and Tobago Cecile Pemberton, Joel Joseph, 2018-03-06 This report presents the first nationally representative estimates of the prevalence of intimate partner violence IPV and non partner sexual violence NPSV against women in Trinidad and Tobago The data come from the 2017 Trinidad and Tobago Women s Health Survey WHS a national quantitative cross sectional survey of 1 079 women ages 15 64 The report finds that 30 percent of ever partnered women experienced physical and or sexual violence by an intimate partner in their lifetime and 6 percent in the 12 months prior to data collection. Seven percent of all respondents reported having been forced into sexual intercourse by a non partner in their lifetime 1 percent in the last 12 months. Significant risk factors associated with IPV identified using Chi square tests included lower education, female and partner cohabitation without marriage, rural residency, younger age, non consensual marriage, having been pregnant, having experienced or witnessed violence in childhood, substance abuse by the partner and the partner being unemployed and having been in prior relationships. The report documents the negative consequences of IPV for women and their children as well as the most common responses and coping mechanisms. One in three women who experienced IPV remained quiet about their experience and most survivors did not seek or receive assistance for their situation. Women most often sought help from their personal contacts, mostly their mothers rather than police, social services or other entities adequately resourced to address IPV. Several factors precluded women from accessing help, these included fear, shame and the normalcy associated with violence. Based on these findings, recommendations for policy and further research are presented.
