Women And Media Content Careers And Criticism:

Women and Media Cynthia M. Lont, 1995 This text examines women's roles and impact in newspapers, women's magazines, advertising, television, entertainment, television news, film, rock music, and music television. Each unit opens with a brief discussion of the history, portrayal, and employment of women in a specific medium, followed by three essays: a content analysis that quantifies the roles of women in that medium, a descriptive history of a specific woman or women's media group that has affected the medium, and a critical essay that challenges readers to think about women and media in new and different ways. The text intertwines various perspectives throughout its chapters: women as news, women as newsmakers, and the portrayal of women to give an integrative approach to the study of women and media.

Women, Feminism and Media Sue Thornham, 2007-05-30 Over the past few decades, feminist media scholarship has flourished to become a major influence on the fields of media, film, and cultural studies. At the same time, the cultural shift towards post-feminism has raised questions about the continuing validity of feminism as a defining term for this work. This book explores the changing and often ambivalent relationship between the three terms: women, feminism, and media, in the light of these recent debates. At the same time, it places them within the broader discussions within feminist theory about subjectivity, identity, culture, and narrative, of which they have formed a crucial part. The book is organised around four key topic areas: Fixing into Images offers a rethinking of one of the first preoccupations of feminist media analysis, the relationship between women and images; Narrating Femininity explores the narratives of femininity produced in media texts in the light of theories of narrative and identity; Real Women examines both the continuing absence of women's voices from the genres of news and documentary and their over-presence within popular reality media forms; Finally, Technologies of Difference examines the relationship between feminism, women, and new media technologies. Throughout the book, it explores key issues within feminist media studies, both through specific examples and via critical engagement with the work of major theoretical writers. Features: A completely up-to-date study of the key areas of issue and debate in feminist media studies; Includes case studies and discussion of the work of key writers in the field; Contains readings of specific texts ranging from news and advertising to reality TV and postfeminist TV drama.

Media Messages Linda Holtzman, Leon Sharpe, 2014-03-15 The new edition of this widely acclaimed book reveals how the popular media contributes to widespread myths and misunderstanding about cultural diversity. Along with updated media examples, expanded theories, and analysis, this edition explores even more deeply the coverage of race in two chapters, discusses more broadly how men and boys are depicted in the media and socialized, and how class issues have become even more visible during the Great Recession of the 21st century and the Occupy movements.

The Routledge Companion to Advertising and Promotional Culture Emily West, Matthew P. McAllister, 2013-02-11 The Routledge Companion to Advertising and Promotional Culture provides an essential guide to the key issues, methodologies, concepts, debates, and policies that shape our everyday relationship with advertising. The book contains eight sections: Historical Perspectives considers the historical roots and their relationship to recent changes of contemporary advertising and promotional practice Political Economy examines how market forces corporate ownership and government policies shape the advertising and media promotion environment Globalization presents work on advertising and marketing as a global intercultural and transnational practice Audiences as Labor Consumers Interpreters Fans introduces how people construct promotional meaning and are constructed as consumers markets and labor by advertising forces Identities analyzes the ways that advertising constructs images and definitions of groups such as gender race and the child through industry labor practices marketing as well as through representation in advertising texts Social Institutions looks at the pervasiveness of advertising strategies in different social domains including politics music housing and education Everyday Life highlights how a promotional ethos and advertising initiatives pervade self image values and relationships The Environment interrogates advertising s relationship to environmental issues the promotional efforts of corporations to construct green images and mass consumption s relationship to material waste With chapters written by leading international scholars working at the intersections of media studies and advertising studies this book is a go to source for those looking to understand the ways advertising has shaped consumer culture in the past and present
