Charles, 2012-12-15 Abandoning the Black Hero is the first book to examine the postwar African American white life novel novels with white protagonists written by African Americans These fascinating works have been understudied despite having been written by such defining figures in the tradition as Richard Wright Zora Neale Hurston James Baldwin Ann Petry and Chester Himes as well as lesser known but formerly best selling authors Willard Motley and Frank Yerby John C Charles argues that these fictions have been overlooked because they deviate from two critical suppositions that black literature is always about black life and that when it represents whiteness it must attack white supremacy The authors are however quite sympathetic in the treatment of their white protagonists which Charles contends should be read not as a failure of racial pride but instead as a strategy for claiming creative freedom expansive moral authority and critical agency In an era when Negro writers were expected to protest their sympathetic treatment of white suffering grants these authors a degree of racial privacy previously unavailable to them White writers after all have the privilege of racial privacy because they are never pressured to write only about white life Charles reveals that the freedom to abandon the Negro problem encouraged these authors to explore a range of new genres and themes generating a strikingly diverse body of novels that significantly revise our understanding of mid twentieth century black writing Dreams for Dead Bodies Michelle Robinson, 2016-02-02 Explores U S detective fiction s deep engagement with the shifting dynamics of race and labor in America Romance and Rights Alex Lubin, 2009-07 A study of the tensions between the private and public realms of interracial relationships African American Literature Hans Ostrom, J. Trinity of Passion Alan M. Wald, 2011-04-01 The second of three volumes by Alan Wald that track the political and personal lives of several generations of U.S. left wing writers. Trinity of Passion carries forward the chronicle launched in Exiles from a Future Time: The Forging of the Mid Twentieth Century Literary Left. In this volume Wald delves into literary, emotional and ideological trajectories of radical cultural workers in the era when the International Brigades fought in the Spanish Civil War 1936-39 and the United States battled in World War II 1941-45. Probing in rich and haunting detail the controversial impact of the Popular Front on literary culture, he explores the ethical and aesthetic challenges that pro-Communist writers faced. Wald presents a cross section of literary talent from the famous to the forgotten, the major to the minor. The writers examined include Len Zinberg, a.k.a. Ed Lacy, John Oliver Killens, Irwin Shaw, Albert Maltz, Ann Petry, Chester Himes, Henry Roth, Lauren Gilfillan, Ruth McKenney, Morris U. Schappes and Jo Sinclair. He also uncovers dramatic new information about Arthur Miller's complex commitment to the Left. Confronting heartfelt questions about Jewish masculinity, racism at the core of liberal democracy, the corrosion of utopian dreams and the thorny interaction between antifascism and Communism, Wald re-creates the intellectual and cultural landscape of a remarkable era.

Questions of Identity in Detective Fiction Anita Higgie, Linda Martz, 2009-03-26 With essays by an international group of scholars, Questions of Identity in Detective Fiction delves into the ways in which this genre, given its status as popular yet marginalized literature, allows for the exploration of a wide range of meanings. Contributors examine how the genre both mirrors and focuses the personal, sexual, ethnic, spiritual, how it interfaces with national literatures and histories and how the generic identity of detective fiction has evolved over time. Chapters include discussions of novels and short stories from American, Argentine, British, Canadian, French, German and Japanese national literatures ranging from the mid 19th century to the early 21st century.

The Black Cultural Front Brian Dolinar, 2012-07-09 The Black Cultural Front describes how the social and political movements that grew out of the Depression facilitated the left turn of several African American artists and writers The Communist led John Reed Clubs brought together Black and white writers in writing collectives The efforts of the Congress of Industrial Organizations CIO to recruit Black workers inspired growing interest in the labor movement One of the most concerted efforts was made by the National Negro Congress NNC a coalition of civil rights and labor organizations which held cultural panels at its national conferences fought segregation in the culture industries promoted cultural education and involved writers and artists in staging mass rallies during World War II The formation of a black cultural front is examined by looking at the works of poet Langston Hughes novelist Chester Himes and cartoonist Ollie Harrington While none of them were card carrying members of the Communist Party they all participated in the Left at one point in their careers Interestingly they all turned to creating popular culture in order to reach the black masses who were captivated by the movies radio newspapers and detective novels There are chapters on the Hughes Simple stories Himes detective fiction and Harrington s Bootsie cartoons Collectively the experience of these three figures contributes to the story of a long movement for African American freedom that flourished during the 1930s 1940s and 1950s Yet this book also stresses the impact that McCarthyism had on dismantling the Black Left and how it affected everyone involved Each was radicalized at a different moment and for varied reasons Each suffered for their past allegiances whether fleeing to the haven of the Black Bank in Paris or staying home and facing the House Un American Activities Committee HUAC Yet the lasting influence of the Depression in their work was evident for the rest of their lives proposed volume is timely and necessary and is in large part a critical accompaniment to the republishing programme Described by Dany Laferrière as most brilliant Haitian author of his generation Charles has until recently remained largely unread and little understood As the various chapters in the volume show Charles is an author for now and the collection will accompany readers seeking strikingly original insights on issues such as race migration and exile and the role of the author and literature in times of crisis
