The Very Hard Way Bert Loper And The Colorado River:

The Very Hard Way Brad Dimock, 2007 Bert Loper was born in 1869 the very day that Major John Wesley Powell discovered the confluence of the San Juan and Colorado Rivers Loper spent much of his life devoted to those two streams But it was never easy Orphaned and abused Loper worked most of his life at the very bottom the nameless grunt in hard rock mines the sore backed shoveler on a placer bar the subsistence rancher on a lonely gravel delta in Glen Canyon Whatever Loper got he got the very hard way But on the muddy whitewater streams of the Southwest Loper found a joy a thrill and a peace By the time he died at his oars in a Grand Canyon rapid at eighty he had covered more river run more boats and known more rivermen than anyone P 4 of cover

A Walk in the Park Kevin Fedarko, 2024-05-28 Two friends zero preparation one dream An account of the epic misadventure of a 750 mile odyssey on foot through the heart of America's most magnificent national park and the grandest wilderness on earth The Emerald Mile Kevin Fedarko, 2013-05-07 From one of Outside magazine's Literary All Stars comes the thrilling true tale of the fastest boat ride ever down the entire length of the Colorado River and through the Grand Canyon during the legendary flood of 1983 In the tradition of The Perfect Storm and Seabiscuit the engrossing tale of the fastest boat ride ever down the Colorado River through the Grand Canyon In the winter of 1983 the largest El Niño event on record a chain of superstorms that swept in from the Pacific Ocean battered the entire West That spring a massive snowmelt sent runoff racing down the Colorado River toward the Glen Canyon Dam a 710 foot high wall of concrete that sat at the head of the most iconic landscape feature in America the Grand Canyon As the water clawed toward the parapet of the dam worried federal officials desperately scrambled to avoid a worst case scenario one of the most dramatic dam failures in history In the midst of this crisis beneath the light of a full moon a trio of river guides secretly launched a small hand built wooden boat a dory named the Emerald Mile into the Colorado just below the dam's base and rocketed toward the dark chasm downstream where the torrents of water released by the dam engineers had created a rock walled maelstrom so powerful it shifted giant boulders and created bizarre hydraulic features never previously seen The river was already choked with the wreckage of commercial rafting trips injured passengers clung to the remnants of three ton motorboats that had been turned upside down and torn to pieces The chaos had claimed its first fatality further launches were forbidden and rangers were conducting the largest helicopter evacuation in the history of Grand Canyon National Park An insurgent river run under such conditions seemed to border on the suicidal but Kenton Gruba the captain of that dory was on an unusual mission a gesture of defiance unlike anything the river world had ever seen His aim was to use the flood as a hydraulic slingshot that would hurl him and two companions through 277 miles of some of the most ferocious white water in North America and if everything went as planned catapult the Emerald Mile into legend as the fastest boat ever propelled by oar by motor or by the grace of God through the heart of the Grand Canyon Gruba himself was already something of a mythic figure a fearless boatman obsessed with the mysteries of the canyon His quest embraced not only the trials of the speed run itself but also the larger story of his predecessors the men who had first discovered the canyon and pioneered its exploration as well as those who waged a landmark battle to prevent it from being hog tied by a series of massive hydroelectric dams a conflict that continues to this day A writer who has worked as a river guide himself and is intimately familiar with the canyon's many secrets Kevin Fedarko is the ideal narrator for this American epic The saga of The Emerald Mile is a thrilling adventure as well as a magisterial portrait of the hidden kingdom of white water at the bottom of the greatest river canyon on earth This book announces Fedarko as a major writing talent and at last sets forth the full story of an American legend the legend of The Emerald Mile Boatman's Quarterly Review ,2008 The Journal of Arizona History ,1965 Utah Historical Quarterly J. Cecil Alter, 2008 List of charter members of the society v 1 p 98-99 The Western Historical Quarterly ,2011 Dave Rust Frederick Harold Swanson, 2007 A look into the life and passion of David D Rust 1874-1963 a Rough-Water Man Richard E. Westwood, 2013-03-01 The passage of the 1902 Reclamation Act created a mandate for the federal government to build dams on the Colorado River and its powerful tributaries By 1920 the US Geological Survey had surveyed the river s main courses but still needed accurate charts of the last stretches of deep canyons and white water rapids accessible only by boat Rough Water Man is the first detailed account of these mapping expeditions by the USGS the San Juan Canyon in 1921 the upper Green River in 1922 and the Grand Canyon in 1923 Illustrated throughout with period photographs it is also the personal story of twenty four year old Henry Elwyn Blake Jr the only boatman to crew on each of the three trips evolving from novice waterman to expert rapids runner Drawing on Blake s diaries as well as the writings of other USGS surveyors Rough Water Man conveys the danger and hardships of navigating these waters with heavy wooden boats and oars Even today in rubber pontoons traversing these canyons is an awesome and exhilarating experience When Blake and his companions surveyed it the Colorado ran free and wild from Wyoming to the Sea of Cortez Westwood gives us mile by mile and day by day accounts of running these rapids before their canyons were flooded and waters tamed before the rivers had ever been charted
