The Water Ghost and Others John Kendrick Bangs, 2015-10-30 For the purposes of this bit of history Bangletop Hall stands upon a grassy knoll on the left bank of the River Dee about eighteen miles from the quaint old city of Chester It does not in reality stand there nor has it ever done so but consideration for the interests of the living compels me to conceal its exact location and so to befog the public as to its whereabouts that its identity may never be revealed to its disadvantage It is a rentable property and were it known that it has had a mystery connected with it of so deep dark and eerie a nature as that about to be related I fear that its usefulness save as an accessory to romance would be seriously impaired and that as an investment it would become practically worthless The hall is a fair specimen of the architecture which prevailed at the time of Edward the Confessor that is to say the main portion of the structure erected in Edward s time by the first Baron Bangletop has that square substantial stony aspect which to the eye versed in architecture identifies it at once as a product of that enlightened era Later owners the successive Barons Bangletop have added to its original dimensions putting Queen Anne wings here Elizabethan ells there and an Italian Renaissance facade on the river front A Wisconsin water tower connected with the main building by a low Gothic alleyway stands to the south while toward the east is a Greek chapel used by the present occupant as a store room for his wife s trunks she having lately returned from Paris with a wardrobe calculated to last through the first half of the coming London season Altogether Bangletop Hall is an impressive structure and at first sight gives rise to various emotions in the aesthetic breast some cavil others admire One leading architect of Berlin travelled all the way from his German home to Bangletop Hall to show that famous structure to his son a student in the profession which his father adorned to whom he is said to have observed that The Water Ghost and Others John Kendrick Bangs, 2019-11-29 In The Water Ghost and Others John Kendrick Bangs weaves a captivating tapestry of supernatural tales that blend humor and Gothic elements reflecting the Victorian era fascination with the ethereal and macabre. With a unique literary style characterized by its playful language and satirical wit, the collection features eclectic characters and whimsical plots challenging conventional narratives while engaging readers with what the author calls ghostly humor. Set against the backdrop of the late 19th century, the stories echo the period's cultural preoccupations with the afterlife and the unknown, inviting readers to explore the fine line between reality and the fantastical.

John Kendrick Bangs was a notable American author and humorist celebrated for his contributions to literature that often critiqued society through a humorous lens. His varied career includes work as an editor, playwright, and satirist, which undoubtedly informed the creation of The Water Ghost and Others. Bangs' inclination toward the supernatural may stem from the Victorian appetite for ghost stories, while his sharp satirical edge offers insight into the era's existential musings, creating a rich context for his narratives. This collection is highly recommended for readers who delight in the interplay of humor and horror, as Bangs masterfully captures the absurdities of human nature through his ghostly protagonists. Fans of classic literature as well as those intrigued by the supernatural will find themselves enchanted by these timeless tales that are both amusing and thought-provoking.

Book Excerpt re-streamed rivulets of water but whose own person deep down under the various garments he wore was as dry and as warm as he could have wished. "Ha! said the young master of Harrowby, "I'm glad to see you. You are the most original man I've met if that is true," returned the ghost. "May I ask where did you get that hat?" "Certainly, madam," returned the master courteously. "It is a little portable observatory I had made for just such emergencies as this. But tell me, is it true that you are doomed to follow me about for one mortal hour to stand where I stand to sit where I sit? That is my delectable fate," returned the lady. "We'll go out on the lake," said the master, starting up. "You can't get rid of me that way," returned the ghost. "The water won't swallow me up; in fact it will just add to my present bulk." Nevertheless, said the master firmly, "we will go out on the lake." But my dear sir, returned the ghost with a pale reluctance, it is fearfully cold out there. Read More
