sympathetically But if you see how a mere counter jumper a cad on castors and a fool to boot may come to feel the little insufficiencies of life and if he has to any extent won your sympathies my end is attained Hoopdriver's summer adventure begins lyrically Only those who toil six long days out of the seven and all the year round save for one brief glorious fortnight or ten days in the summer time know the exquisite sensations of the First Holiday Morning All the dreary uninteresting routine drops from you suddenly your chains fall about your feet There were thrushes in the Richmond Road and a lark on Putney Heath The freshness of dew was in the air dew or the relics of an overnight shower glittered on the leaves and grass He wheeled his machine up Putney Hill and his heart sang within him Hoopdriver encounters a pretty young woman cycling alone and wearing rational bloomers He dares not speak to the Young Lady in Grey as he calls her but their paths keep crossing She is ultimately revealed to be Jessie Milton a girl of seventeen who has run away from her stepmother in Surbiton risking ruin at the hands of the bolder Bechamel an unscrupulous older man who has promised to help the naive Jessie to establish herself an independent life but who is really intent on seducing her Ironically her flight has in part been inspired by liberal ideals of unconventionality that have been hypocritically promoted by her stepmother's popular novels Herbert George Wells 21 September 1866 13 August 1946 known as H G Wells was a prolific English writer in many genres including the novel history politics social commentary and textbooks and rules for war games Wells is now best remembered for his science fiction novels Categories Classics The Wheels of Chance: A Bicycling Idyll (1895): Comedy H.
