The Victorian Garden Shire Library:

The Victorian Gardener Caroline Ikin, 2014-02-10 Over the course of the nineteenth century gardening came to be considered a respectable profession providing a means to an education a good chance of advancement and decent working conditions The hierarchy of the garden staff became just as regimented as that of domestic servants and progression was attained by hard work self improvement and ambition Training courses and apprenticeships prepared young gardeners for their trade and horticulture became recognised as a skilled profession with the head gardener commanding a position of influence and respect and women overcoming social barriers to join their peers on equal terms This book explores the gardening profession within the complexities of Victorian society and the advances in science and technology that pushed the gardener further into the limelight

Unforgettable Gardens The Gardens Trust, 2024-11-07 A glorious celebration this landmark book is an exploration of the greatest gardens parks and landscapes in Britain with stunning photography accompanied by insightful text from leading garden historians and conservators It is lovingly curated by The Gardens Trust a prominent UK conservation charity dedicated to preserving studying and spotlighting historic gardens Arranged chronologically it covers around 60 individual gardens specially selected to give a broad historical overview of British garden design from the Early Modern Period up until the Millennium Each chapter also includes an intriguing essay exploring the wider changes in social context taste and style in each period Entries include Elizabethan splendour at Kenilworth Castle Spectacular landscapes by Capability Brown at Alnwick Castle and Chatsworth Birkenhead Park the Victorian inspiration for New York's Central Park The classic cottage garden created by Margery Fish at East Lambrook Somerset Ian Hamilton Finlay's modern Scottish masterpiece Little Sparta Go on a voyage of garden discovery with this beautiful book and learn more about the gardens and landscapes that are a much loved part of our shared national story

Birkenhead Park Robert Lee, 2024-04-15 When it was officially opened on Easter Monday 5 April 1847 Birkenhead Park became the first municipally funded park in Britain It was a pioneer in the development of urban public parks designed for use by everyone irrespective of social class ethnicity or age In terms of town planning it demonstrated the importance of including green infrastructure in urban development as a vital contribution to public health and well being Paxton's design for the park was heralded as a masterpiece of human creative genius it served as a vehicle for the global transmission of the English landscape school and led to the creation of numerous public parks everywhere most famously Central Park New York incorporating many of Paxton's design features This book addresses a long standing gap in the Park's historiography Regarded as one of the greatest wonders of the age the Park is an important contribution to nineteenth century landscape history with a local focus but of international significance The book also seeks to interpret the Park's development until 1914 within a political and cultural context drawing on economic and social history as a means of explaining why it was not until the late nineteenth century that it finally became a focal point for recreation and public health

Women Poets in the

Victorian Era Fabienne Moine, 2016-03-09 Examining the place of nature in Victorian women's poetry Fabienne Moine explores the work of canonical and long neglected women poets to show the myriad connections between women and nature during the period At the same time she challenges essentialist discourses that assume innate affinities between women and the natural world Rather Moine shows Victorian women poets mobilised these alliances to defend common interests and express their engagement with social issues While well known poets such as Elizabeth Barrett Browning and Christina Rossetti are well represented in Moine's study she pays particular attention to lesser known writers such as Mary Howitt or Eliza Cook who were popular during their lifetimes or Edith Nesbit whose verse has received scant critical attention so far She also brings to the fore the poetry of many non professional poets Looking to their immediate cultural environments for inspiration these women reconstructed the natural world in poems that raise questions about the validity and the scope of representations of nature ultimately questioning or undermining social practices that mould and often fossilise cultural identities

Victorian Municipal Directory and Gazetteer, 1916 Language Change and Nineteenth-Century Science Catherine Watts, 2023-06-05 Have you ever looked at a word and thought I wonder where that came from You might well find the answer in this book which considers the origin and formation of some of the many thousands of new words that were coined in English during the nineteenth century in the broad field of science Changes in society are often accompanied by the need to find names for such changes which in turn has an impact on how the language develops as a result The British Industrial Revolution ushered in a new era of language change which led to many new coinages in the English language reflecting scientific knowledge as it developed Many of these neologisms belong to specialist vocabulary but others do not and it is these lay coinages which form the focus of this book and are located within their social cultural and historical backgrounds Aimed at postgraduate students of the English language and all those interested in the history of the English language this work explores new worlds and offers an original and fascinating etymological journey through nineteenth century science in its broadest sense

Environment and Ecology in the Long Nineteenth-Century Mark Frost, 2024-10-22 This volume includes sources relating to a range of social and cultural contexts including the proliferation of natural history crazes ferns aquaria orchids etc debates about the social and environmental impacts of changing land use in town and country debates about demographics population and resources inspired by Thomas Malthus attempts to preserve landscapes e.g The Commons Preservation Society debates about hunger poverty and disease in the countryside particularly during the Hungry Forties and relating to the Captain Swing and Chartist disturbances the rise of land Utopianism and rural Utopian community projects the rise of new forms of rural leisure aesthetic engagements with rural environments and new world travel and debates about pollution especially water pollution The volume will also turn to a range of literary sources from the period prior to 1858 to illustrate the ways in which changing attitudes to environments emerged in fiction These include extracts from Dickens's early works the hunting novels of R S Surtees the social novels of Harriet Martineau Charlotte Tonna

Charles Kingsley and Margaret Oliphant John Ruskin's environmental fairytale The King of the Golden River chartist fiction Victorian children's fiction and adventure novels The Garden of Ideas Richard Aitken, 2010 The Garden of Ideas tells an inspiring and engaging story of Australian garden design From the imaginings of emigrant garden makers of the late eighteenth century to the concerns of twenty first century gardeners this book charts its way across four centuries through a handsome and satisfying fusion of images and text The Garden of Ideas is embellished with an unparalleled array of images paintings drawings prints plans and photographs each richly evocative of their time and most never previously published Unearthed from around Australia and many from overseas these images carry the story of Australian garden style down the years in the process criss crossing social and cultural history across the wide extremes of our continent Richard Aitken whose book Botanical Riches was published in 2006 to popular and critical acclaim brings a lifetime of experience to The Garden of Ideas He achieves fresh insights and presents our passion for garden making with wit and flair The Garden of Ideas is a valuable source book for the sophisticated gardener and an indispensable companion for the garden lover The Library World, 1925 Engines of Empire Douglas R. Burgess Jr., 2016-05-04 In 1859 the S S Great Eastern departed from England on her maiden voyage She was a remarkable wonder of the nineteenth century an iron city longer than Trafalgar Square taller than Big Ben's tower heavier than Westminster Cathedral Her paddles were the size of Ferris wheels her decks could hold four thousand passengers bound for America or ten thousand troops bound for the Raj Yet she ended her days as a floating carnival before being unceremoniously dismantled in 1889 Steamships like the Great Eastern occupied a singular place in the Victorian mind Crossing oceans ferrying tourists and troops alike they became emblems of nationalism modernity and humankind's triumph over the cruel elements Throughout the nineteenth century the spectacle of a ship's launch was one of the most recognizable symbols of British social and technological progress Yet this celebration of the power of the empire masked overconfidence and an almost religious veneration of technology Equating steam with civilization had catastrophic consequences for subjugated peoples around the world Engines of Empire tells the story of the complex relationship between Victorians and their wondrous steamships following famous travelers like Mark Twain Charles Dickens and Jules Verne as well as ordinary spectators tourists and imperial administrators as they crossed oceans bound for the colonies Rich with anecdotes and wry humor it is a fascinating glimpse into a world where an empire felt powerful and anything seemed possible if there was an engine behind it Catalogue of Current Periodicals Received at the Public Library of Victoria Public Library, Museums, and National Gallery (Vic.), 1905 The Making of Our Urban Landscape Geoffrey Tyack, 2022-03-02 Britain was the first country in the world to become an essentially urban country And England is still one of the most urbanized countries in the world The town and the city is the world that most of us inhabit and know best But what do we actually know about our urban world and how it was created The Making of the English Urban Landscape tells the story of our towns and cities and how they came into being over the last two millennia from Roman and Anglo Saxon times through the Norman Conquest and the later Middle Ages to the great rebuilding in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries the polite townscapes of the eighteenth and the commercial and industrial towns and cities of the nineteenth and early twentieth century The final chapter then takes the story from the end of the Second World War to the present from the New Towns of the immediate post war era to the trendy converted warehouses of Shoreditch This is a book that will make the world you live in come alive If you are a town or a city dweller you are unlikely ever to look at the everyday world around you in quite the same way again Library World ,1925

Glasshouses Fiona Grant,2013-07-10 Since the early seventeenth century when the cultivation of exotic plants and fruit became fashionable in northern Europe glasshouses have offered an artificial climate in which they could flourish At first these structures were within reach only of the very richest and growing one's own oranges orchids pineapples or bananas was a sign of great wealth but by the mid nineteenth century manufacturers emerged to cater for a growing middle class market Glasshouses became increasingly sophisticated with different types tailored to house specific crops and manufacturers competing with one another by developing their own house styles leading to a wealth of designs endlessly fascinating to the garden or architectural historian In Glasshouses Fiona Grant provides an illustrated introduction to the subject including the twentieth century decline and recent attempts at restoration
