How to Live a Low-Carbon Life Christopher Goodall, 2012-05-04 Climate change is the greatest challenge facing humanity drastic reduction of carbon emissions is vital if we are to avoid a catastrophe that devastates large parts of the world Governments and businesses have been slow to act and individuals now need to take the lead The Earth can absorb no more than 3 tonnes of carbon dioxide emissions each year for every person on the planet if we are to keep temperature and rainfall change within tolerable limits Yet from cars and holiday flights to household appliances and the food on our plates Western consumer lifestyles leave each of us responsible for over 12 tonnes of carbon dioxide a year four times what the Earth can handle Individual action is essential if we want to avoid climate chaos How to Live a Low Carbon Life shows how easy it is to take responsibility providing the first comprehensive one stop reference guide to calculating your CO2 emissions and reducing them to a sustainable 3 tonnes a year Focus On: 100 Most Popular Compact Cars Wikipedia contributors,

How to Live a Low-carbon Life Chris Goodall, 2010 First Published in 2010 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Plug-in Vehicles, Plugged in Policy? Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Transport Committee, 2012-09-20 Consumer demand for plug in vehicles remains very low and the Government grant to encourage demand may not be proving effective The Government must do more to show that its plug in vehicle strategy is a good use of public money Carbon emissions from transport must be reduced if the UK is to meet its climate change targets but public money must be targeted on effective policies So far Department for Transport expenditure on plug in cars some 11 million has benefited just a handful of motorists There is a risk that the Government is basically subsidising second cars for affluent households It is also unclear whether the provision of public charging infrastructure encourages demand for plug in cars Indeed the Government does not even have a register of all the chargepoints installed at public expense The Times

Publics Sally Eden, 2016-12-08 How do ordinary people think about the environment as they go about their daily lives Does thinking about the environment make them do things differently This book is the first to explore the idea of environmental publics that is the ways in which ordinary people engage with environmental issues across different practical contexts of work play and home Emphasising the practices of environmental engagement Environmental Publics examines how people consume the environment learn about it campaign for its protection and enjoy it through their leisure time But the book avoids relying on idealisations of consumers or citizens or theoretical constructs about behavioural norms that have traditionally dominated research in this field Instead this book differentiates environmental publics not by who they are but by what they are doing their daily practices It also analyses specifically the geographies of those practices how what people do affects the environment but in different ways across time and space and at different scales aspects of practices that are
