Work Activity Studies Within the Framework of Ergonomics, Psychology, and Economics Gregory Z. Bedny, Inna S. Bedny, 2018-09-21 Systemic structural activity theory (SSAT) founded by Gregory Bedny is a relatively new unified framework for the study of efficiency of human performance, equipment, and software design. This book presents new, recently obtained data in the field of SSAT that can be used in the study of efficiency and complexity of human performance. With increased cognitive demands to task performance, psychological methods of study of human activity play an important role. New principles and revised methods for the study of human work are supplemented by practical examples in manufacturing, construction, industry, aviation, and human computer interaction. Features: Presents new SSAT data; Offers for the first time comparative analysis of studying efficiency and productivity from the perspective of ergonomics, psychology, and economics; Includes examples of evaluation of economic efficiency of ergonomic innovations; Provides advanced self-regulative models of activity and of all cognitive processes that describe strategies of task performance; Introduces a new efficient method of morphological and analytical quantitative analysis; Discusses new methods of evaluation of complexity and reliability of highly variable computerized and computer-based tasks. Work Activity Studies Within the Framework of Ergonomics, Psychology, and Economics presents a comprehensive unified psychological theory that can be utilized as a general approach to the study of human activity not only for ergonomists and psychologists but also for economists that study the efficiency of human performance.

Capitalism and Environmental Collapse Luiz Marques, 2020-08-17 This book intends to be an alert to the fact that the curve measuring environmental costs against the economic benefits of capitalism has irreversibly entered into a negative phase. The prospect of an environmental collapse has been evidenced by the sciences and the humanities since the 1960s. Today it imposes its urgency. This collapse differs from past civilizations in that it is neither local nor just civilizational. It is global and occurs at the broadest level of the biosphere, accelerated by the convergence of different socio-environmental crises such as Earth energy imbalance, climate change, and global warming, sea level rise, decrease and degradation of forests, collapse of terrestrial and aquatic biodiversity, floods, droughts, wildfires, and extreme weather events, degradation of soils and water resources, increase in pollution caused by fossil fuels and coal, increase in waste production and industrial intoxication. The book is divided in two parts. In the first part, it presents a comprehensive review of scientific data to show the already visible effects of each of the different environmental crises and its consequences to human life on Earth. In the second part, Luiz Marques critically discusses what he calls the three concentric illusions that prevent us from realizing the gravity of the current socio-environmental crises: the illusion of a sustainable capitalism, the illusion that economic growth is still capable of providing more well being and the anthropocentric illusion Finally Marques argues that fitting back into the biosphere will only be possible if we dismantle the expansive socioeconomic gear that has shaped our societies since the 16th century by moving from a Social Contract to a Natural Contract which takes into account the whole biosphere According to him the future society will be post capitalist or it will not be a complex society and even perhaps we must fear no society at all This book is backed up with the latest and best science and has made the complexities understandable for the average reader all in a context of hope for the future William J Ripple PhD Distinguished Professor of Ecology Director of the Alliance of World Scientists Oregon State University Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,1992 Resting in Peace Or in Pieces? Lucy Shaw Evangelista,2019 Tomb I is a tholos type structure dated from the first half of the 3rd millennium BC found in the Perdig es ditched enclosure vora Portugal
