Urban Health Combating Disparities With Local Data:

Urban Health Steven Whitman, Ami Shah, Maureen Benjamins, 2011 The 1980s opened a discussion of the varying nature of health in different segments of the United States Falling under the rubric of health disparities a great deal of research has been published demonstrating the substantial differences in health status within a population The causes of health disparities are varied and not always clear but most researchers agree that disparities are a reflection of social and economic inequities and political injustice One of the obstacles to addressing disparities is the lack of meaningful health data especially for vulnerable populations which is often nonexistent despite being a critical factor for informing health programs and policies at the local level This book provides a model for combating health disparities by describing how the authors gathered local health information engaged the community at every step of the process and created movement toward evidence based sustainable change This book describes how a landmark health survey in Chicago generated dramatic data that are allowing investigators throughout the city to move from data to action and from observation to intervention In providing a detailed description of how the community focused collection and analysis of health data can serve as an impetus for improved well being Urban Health is an invaluable resource for researchers community groups students and professionals

Unequal Cities Maureen R. Benjamins, Fernando G. De Maio, 2021-09-07 Across the United States Black people have shorter life expectancies than white people reflecting structural racism and deep rooted drivers of population health But are some cities more equal than others The elimination of racial and ethnic inequities differences that are avoidable unnecessary and unfair has been one of the overarching health related goals of the United States for decades Yet dramatic differences in health outcomes between Black people and white people persist rooted in structural and social determinants of health Nationally a Black baby can expect to live four years less than a white baby But mortality outcomes and inequities vary widely across cities In Washington DC for example the average life expectancy for Blacks is twelve years less than that of whites But in other cities mortality differences between races are less striking or nonexistent If health equity can be achieved in some cities why not all This is arguably the most important health equity issue of our time In Unequal Cities Maureen R Benjamins and Fernando G De Maio gather a team of experts to explore these racial inequities as well as the ten year gap in life expectancy between our healthiest and unhealthiest big cities Rigorous analyses give readers access to previously unavailable data on life expectancy mortality from leading causes of death and related Black white inequities for the country s 30 biggest cities The theoretically grounded essays also explore how characteristics of cities including their levels of income inequality and racial segregation impact overall health and Black white inequities The first book to specifically examine racial health inequities within and across US cities Unequal Cities offers a social justice framework for addressing the newly identified inequities as well as specific case studies to help public health advocates civic leaders and other stakeholders envision the steps needed to improve their cities current health outcomes and achieve racial equity A powerful call to action for health equity advocates and city leaders alike this book is essential reading Contributors David Ansell Darlene Oliver Hightower Jana Hirschtick Sharon Homan Ayesha Jaco Emily LaFlamme Brittney S Lange Maia Kristin Monnard Nikhil G Prachand Pamela T Roesch Michael Rozier Nazia Saiyed Eve Shapiro Abigail Silva Veenu Verma the West Side United Metrics Working Group Ruqaiyah Yearby

Matamanda,Verna Nel,2024-09-28 The main aim of this book is to understand the interplay between the SDGs and urban health This is a critical issue in cities considering the complexity of health issues and how they transcend most SDGs However the SDGs are premised on a broad set of generalised indicators and targets Simultaneously local contexts differ thus a one size fits all understanding of urban health problems is not helpful Therefore the SDGs require Health in All Policies HiAP an approach to public policy across sectors that systematically takes into account the health implications of decisions seeks synergies and avoids harmful health impacts to improve population health and health equity Ramirez Rubio et al 2019 In applying the HiAP concept this book adopts a case study approach and considers the poor neighborhoods of a South African city specifically Bloemfontein part of the Mangaung Metropolitan Municipality Each chapter presented in the book considers a particular SDG and how that goal relates to urban health Urban Ills Carol Camp Yeakey,Vetta L.
