Reconceptualising Unaccompanied Child Asylum Seekers and the Law Jennifer L. Whelan, 2022-09-30 Unaccompanied child asylum seekers are amongst the world's most vulnerable populations and their numbers are increasing The intersection of their age their seeking asylum and separation from their parents creates a specific and acute triple burden of vulnerability Their precariousness has long been recognised in international human rights law Yet human rights based responses have been subordinated to progressive global securitisation of irregular migration through interception interdiction extraterritorial processing and immigration detention Such an approach necessitates an urgent paradigm shift in how we comprehend their needs as children the impact of punitive border control laws on them and the responsibility of States to these children when they arrive at their borders seeking asylum This book reconceptualises the relationship between unaccompanied child asylum seekers and States It proposes a new conceptual framework by applying international human rights law childhood studies and vulnerability theory scholarship in analysing State obligations to respond to these children This framework incorporates a robust analysis of the operation and impact of laws on vulnerable populations a taxonomy for articulating the gravity of any consequent harms and a method to prioritise recommendations for reform The book then illustrates the framework's utility using Australia's treatment of unaccompanied children as a case study This book illuminates key learnings from human rights law childhood studies and vulnerability theory and transforms them into a new roadmap for law reform As such it will be a valuable practice based resource for practitioners non government organisations advocates policymakers and the general public interested in advocating for the rights of vulnerable populations as well as for academics researchers and students of human rights law refugee law childhood studies and vulnerability studies Islands Business Pacific, 1992

Women, Sport and Exercise in the Asia-Pacific Region Gyoza Molnar, Sara N. Amin, Yoko Kanemasu, 2018-06-27 Although socio cultural issues in relation to women within the fields of sport and exercise have been extensively researched this research has tended to concentrate on the Western world Women Sport and Exercise in the Asia Pacific Region moves the conversation away entirely from Western contexts to discuss these issues with a sole focus on the geographic Asia Pacific region Presenting a diverse range of empirical case studies from bodybuilding in Kazakhstan and Thailand karate in Afghanistan and women's rugby in Fiji to women's soccer in North Korea and netball in Papua New Guinea the book demonstrates how sports may be used as a lens to examine the historical socio cultural and political specificities of non Western and post colonial societies It also explores the complex ways in which non Western women resist as well as accommodate sport and exercise related sociocultural oppression helping us to better understand the nexus of sport exercise gender sexuality and power in the Asia Pacific area This is a fascinating and important resource for students of sports studies sports management sport development social sciences and gender studies as well as an excellent read for academics and researchers with an interest in sport exercise gender and post colonial studies The Economist ,2008
