The Care and Display of Historic Clothing Karen M. DePauw, 2017-07-18 Wearable textiles hold their own stories of trade manufacture and regionalism just to name a few they also tell a personal tale of the individuals who created our history When we look at a piece of clothing a coat a dress an undergarment we see an item that is more personal more closely related to the human body than nearly anything else it comes in contact with throughout the day Garments can do far more for exhibitions and interpretation than merely providing a bit of color and beauty Clothing is both artistic and utilitarian and is capable of adding so much to the story of who we are and where we came from The Care and Display of Historic Clothing aims to assist with the full integration of costume collections into the interpretation of the past Often relied on for their ability to add beauty and color to exhibitions these collection items provide a very personal side to any story at a given moment in history The topics explored in this publication range from the care and identification of items in a costume collection to discussions about both physical display and how they can be used to engage audiences The book s focus is on costume collections and discussion topics will include information in regards to costume collection storage display techniques basic identification and ideas on how to incorporate costumes into exhibitions and programming A list of further resources at the back of the book helps provide supplemental in depth information on individual areas The layout of this work will aim to provide information that slowly leads from understanding your costume collection and obtaining physical control to incorporating it in a significant and informative way into the work of the organization Providing all of these resources in one place will make the incorporation of costumes a more obtainable goal for small to mid sized museums and historical societies

Climate Risks in Museums Bart Ankersmit, Marc H.L. Stappers, 2016-09-28 This book elaborates on different aspects of the decision making process concerning the management of climate risk in museums and historic houses The goal of this publication is to assist collection managers and caretakers by providing information that will allow responsible decisions about the museum indoor climate to be made The focus is not only on the outcome but also on the equally important process that leads to that outcome The different steps contribute significantly to the understanding of the needs of movable and immovable heritage The decision making process to determine the requirements for the museum indoor climate includes nine steps Step 1 The process to make a balanced decision starts by clarifying the decision context and evaluating what is important to the decision maker by developing clear objectives In Step 2 the value of all heritage assets that are affected by the decision are evaluated and the significance of the building and the movable collection is made explicit Step 3 The climate risks to the moveable collection are assessed Step 4 Those parts of the building that are considered valuable and susceptible to certain climate conditions are identified Step 5 The human comfort needs for visitors and staff are expressed Step 6 To understand the indoor climate the building physics are explored Step 7 The climate specifications derived from step 3 to 5 are weighed and for each climate zone the optimal climate conditions are specified Step 8 Within the value framework established in Step 1 the options to optimize the indoor climate are considered and selected Step 9 All options to reduce the climate collection risks are evaluated by the objectives established in Step 1 Crafting History Albena

Yaneva, 2020-11-15 What constitutes an archive in architecture What forms does it take What epistemology does it perform What kind of craft is archiving Crafting History provides answers and offers insights on the ontological granularity of the archive and its relationship with architecture as a complex enterprise that starts and ends much beyond the act of building or the life of a creator In this book we learn how objects are processed and catalogued how a classification scheme is produced how models and drawings are preserved and how born digital material battles time and technology obsolescence We follow the work of conservators librarians cataloguers digital archivists museum technicians curators and architects and we capture archiving in its mundane and practical course Based on ethnographic observation at the Canadian Centre for Architecture and interviews with a range of practitioners including Ivaro Siza and Peter Eisenman Albena Yaneva traces archiving through the daily work and care of all its participants scrutinizing their variable ontology scale and politics Yaneva addresses the strategies practicing architects employ to envisage an archive based future and tells a story about how architectural collections are crafted so as to form the epistemological basis of architectural history Material Culture Review, 2009
