Writing The Sacred Into The Real Credo:

Writing the Sacred Into the Real Alison Hawthorne Deming, 2001 Deming writes about the importance of nature writing for our peripatetic times Because our lives are materially less connected to the natural world they are spiritually less connected Through the arts through the story of the captain whose boat honors the Kwakiutl Wild Woman of the Woods or the fisherman who sacrificed his catch to save two whales we fall again into harmony with place and each other we write the sacred into the real BOOK JACKET Learning to Glow John Bradley, 2000 Provides personal accounts of people who were raised during the Cold War and of those who were directly in contact with nuclear weapons during World War II the Korean War and the Persian Gulf War focusing on the health and environmental hazards of nuclear weapons Getting Over the Color Green Scott Slovic, 2001 Desert vistas are often deemed vacant inhospitable wastelands Don't suggest that to Joy Harjo Pat Mora or other contemporary southwestern writers In these arid stretches often devoid of green today's southwestern writers see pyrotechnic colors and Gothic shapes that excite and often overwhelm the imagination And they capture this excitement in words that fix these desert images in the minds of readers who may too often look at the world through green colored glasses This anthology of contemporary nature writing from the Greater Southwest brings together a host of writers including peers of Edward Abbey such as Charles Bowden and Ann Zwinger and representatives of a new generation of writers such as Rick Bass and Terry Tempest Williams The book is an eclectic blend of nonfiction and fiction field notes and poetry through which artists of diverse backgrounds both celebrate and illuminate the unique vitality and complexity of southwestern literature proving that green is only one of many colors on their palette The selections included here range all across the southwestern landscape and explore adventures in the wild topics in natural history living close to the land and efforts at conservation and restoration They clearly demonstrate that there is grace and beauty in this often maligned part of the world both in the human traditions that have developed in the region and in the natural features of the desert itself The Frog Run John Elder, 2001 Annotation Teacher and writer John Elder a man who loves both literature and the outdoors describes in The Frog Run how he found a way to balance these passions in building a sugarhouse with his sons in the Vermont woods He celebrates the moment between winter and spring known to sugarmakers as the frog run When the tree frogs begin to be heard and the last run of sap good for making syrup flows from the maples For Elder who also writes in this book about the resurgence of New England forests and about his life as a reader the frog run is a time to savor and celebrate the fleeting beauties of his family's place on earth BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved The Love of Impermanent Things Mary Rose O'Reilley, 2006 At midlife Mary Rose O'Reilley reflects on her past and her hard won sense of self She is determined now not to sacrifice or waste her self She has struggled for years along the paths set by her suburban childhood her Catholic upbringing her failed marriage and the mute duties of daughterhood Now she is trying to see the world through the eyes of the deer that stop outside her window and look in at her As a wildlife rehabilitator she feels a closer connection to the natural world as experienced by animals As an apprentice potter she sees in a Japanese tea bowl the ultimate balance of action and contemplation As a Quaker she can both sit still and sing And as a writer O Reilly can speak clearly to readers at midlife who are expected to know it all but don't
