Multimodal Composing and Writing Transfer Kara Poe Alexander, Matthew Davis, Lilian W. Mina, Ryan P. Shepherd, 2024-02-15 Multimodal Composing and Writing Transfer explores transfer across various contexts of multimodal composing extending the early conversations connecting multimodality to writing Contributors address how writing transfer theories intersect with multimodal composing and present methods for facilitating transfer across modes and media offering insight into how writers can learn to compose when they encounter familiar modes in new contexts Over the past two decades the concepts of multimodal composing and writing transfer have grown and reshaped the nature of writing studies but rarely have the ways in which these areas overlap been studied This collection shows how this shift in writing studies has been mutually informative covering a wider range of contexts for multimodality and writing transfer than just in first year composition courses It places composition teaching practices and multimodal research in conversation with learning transfer theory to provide an in depth examination of how they influence one another Multimodal Composing and Writing Transfer develops these intersections to connect multimodal composition and writing practices across a wide array of fields and contexts Scholars across disciplines postsecondary writing teachers writing program administrators writing center directors and graduate students will find this collection indispensable Understanding Writing Transfer Randall Bass, Jessie L. Moore, 2023-07-03 While education is based on the broad assumption that what one learns here can transfer over there across critical transitions what do we really know about the transfer of knowledge The question is all the more urgent at a time when there are pressures to unbundle higher education to target learning particular subjects and skills for occupational credentialing to the detriment of integrative education that enables students to make connections and integrate their knowledge skills and habits of mind into a adaptable and critical stance toward the world This book the fruit of two year multi institutional studies by forty five researchers from twenty eight institutions in five countries identifies enabling practices for and five essential principles about writing transfer that should inform decision making by all higher education stakeholders about how to generally promote the transfer of knowledge This collection concisely summarizes what we know about writing transfer and explores the implications of writing transfer research for universities institutional decisions about writing across the curriculum requirements general education programs online and hybrid learning outcomes assessment writing supported experiential learning e portfolios first year experiences and other higher education initiatives This volume makes writing transfer research accessible to administrators faculty decision makers and other stakeholders across the curriculum who have a vested interest in preparing students to succeed in their future writing tasks in academia the workplace and their civic lives and offers a framework for addressing the tensions between competency based education and the integration of knowledge so vital for our society Applying the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning beyond the Individual Classroom Jennifer C. Friberg, Kathleen McKinney, 2019-08-29 A survey of exemplary SoTL research projects and the use of their results on a broader scale When the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning SoTL emerged it often concentrated on individual faculty practice in one classroom it is now however increasingly common to find work in SoTL focused more broadly SoTL studies may engage with a cluster of courses a program a particular population of students a pedagogical approach or a field all of which are represented in the essays collected here by authors from a diverse array of institutions and nations This volume features examples of SoTL research conducted in and applied to a variety of contexts and disciplines offering a theoretical framework for an expanded vision of SoTL one that moves beyond the individual classroom Metaliteracy in Practice Trudi E. Jacobson , Thomas P. Mackey, 2017-11-22 Composition, Rhetoric, and Disciplinarity Rita Malenczyk, Susan Miller-Cochran, Elizabeth Wardle, Kathleen Yancey, 2018-04-02 Edited by four nationally recognized leaders of composition scholarship Composition Rhetoric and Disciplinarity asks a fundamental question can Composition and Rhetoric as a discipline continue its historical commitment to pedagogy without sacrificing equal attention to other areas such as research and theory In response contributors to the volume address disagreements about what it means to be called a discipline rather than a profession or a field elucidate tensions over the defined breadth of Composition and Rhetoric and consider the roles of research and responsibility as Composition and Rhetoric shifts from field to discipline Outlining a field with a complex and unusual formation story Composition Rhetoric and Disciplinarity employs several lenses for understanding disciplinarity theory history labor and pedagogy and for teasing out the implications of disciplinarity for students faculty institutions and Composition and Rhetoric itself Collectively the chapters speak to the intellectual and embodied history leading to this point to questions about how disciplinarity is and might be understood especially with regard to Composition and Rhetoric to the curricular conceptual labor and other sites of tension inherent in thinking about Composition and Rhetoric as a discipline and to the implications of Composition and Rhetoric s disciplinarity for the future Contributors Linda Adler Kassner Elizabeth H Boquet Christiane Donahue Whitney Douglas Doug Downs Heidi Estrem Kristine Hansen Doug Hesse Sandra Jamieson Neal Lerner Jennifer Helene Maher Barry Maid Jaime Armin Mej a Carolyn R Miller Kelly Myers Gwendolynne Reid Liane Robertson Rochelle Rodrigo Dawn Shepherd Kara Taczak Writing Majors Greg Giberson, Jim Nugent, Lori Ostergaard, 2015-02-01 The writing major is among the most exciting scenes in the evolving American university Writing Majors is a collection of firsthand descriptions of the origins growth and transformations of eighteen different programs The chapters provide useful administrative insight benchmark information and even inspiration for new curricular configurations from a range of institutions A practical sourcebook for those who are building revising or administering their own writing majors this volume also serves as a historical archive of a particular instance of growth and transformation in American higher education Revealing bureaucratic practical and institutional matters as well as academic ideals and ideologies each profile includes sections providing a detailed program review and rationale an implementation narrative and reflection and prospection about the program Documenting eighteen stories of writing major programs in various stages of formation preservation and reform and exposing the contingencies of their local and material constitution Writing Majors speaks as much to the how to of building writing major programs as to the larger what why and how of institutional growth and change Sixteen Teachers Teaching Patrick Sullivan, 2020-12-01 Sixteen Teachers Teaching is a warmly personal full access tour into the classrooms and teaching practices of sixteen distinguished two year college English professors Approximately half of all basic writing and first year composition classes are now taught at two year colleges so the perspectives of English faculty who teach at these institutions are particularly valuable for our profession This book shows us how a group of acclaimed teachers put together their classes design reading and writing assignments and theorize their work as writing instructors All of these teachers have spent their careers teaching multiple sections of writing classes each semester or term so this book presents readers with an impressive and perhaps unprecedented abundance of pedagogical expertise teaching knowledge and classroom experience Sixteen Teachers Teaching is a book filled with joyfulness wisdom and pragmatic advice It has been designed to be a source of inspiration for high school and college English teachers as they go about their daily work in the classroom Contributors Peter Adams Jeff Andelora Helane Adams Androne Taiyon J Coleman Renee DeLong Kathleen Sheerin DeVore Jamey Gallagher Shannon Gibney Joanne Baird Giordano Brett Griffiths Holly Hassel Darin Jensen Jeff Klausman Michael C Kuhne Hope Parisi and Howard Tinberg

Transforming Ethos Rosanne Carlo,2020-09-01 In Transforming Ethos Rosanne Carlo synthesizes philosophy rhetorical theory and composition theory to clarify the role of ethos and its potential for identification and pedagogy for writing studies Carlo renews focus on the ethos appeal and highlights its connection to materiality and place as a powerful instrument for writing and its teaching one that insists on the relational and multimodal aspects of writing and makes prominent its inherent ethical considerations and possibilities Through case studies of professional and student writings as well as narrative reflections Transforming Ethos imagines the ethos appeal as not only connected to style and voice but also a process of habituation related to practices of everyday interaction in places and with things Carlo addresses how ethos aids in creating identification transcending divisions between the self and other She shows that when writers tell their experiences they create and reveal the ethos appeal and this type of narrative multimodal writing is central to scholarship in rhetoric and composition as well as the teaching of writing In addition Carlo considers how composition is becoming compromised by professionalization particularly through the idea of transfer which is overtaking the critical work of self development with others that a writing classroom should encourage in college students Transforming Ethos cements ethos as an essential term for the modern practice and teaching of rhetoric and places it at the heart of writing studies This book will be significant for students and scholars in rhetoric and composition as well as those interested in higher education more broadly

Writing Rhetorically Jennifer Fletcher,2023-10-10 In Writing Rhetorically Fostering Responsive Thinkers and Communicators author Jennifer Fletcher aims to cultivate independent learners through rhetorical thinking She provides teachers with strategies and frameworks for writing instruction that can be applied across multiple subjects and lesson plans Students learn to discover their own questions design their own inquiry process develop their own positions and purposes make their own choices about content and form and contribute to conversations that matter to them Inside this book Fletcher helps remove some of the scaffolding and explains how to put in practice some methods which can successfully foster Inquiry Invention and Rhetorical Thinking Writing for Transfer Paraphrasing Summary Synthesis and Citation Skills Research Skills and Processes Evidence Based Reasoning Rhetorical Decision Making Rhetorical decision making helps students develop the skills knowledge and mindsets needed for transfer of learning the ability to adapt and apply learning in new settings The more choices students make as writers the better prepared they are to analyze and respond to diverse rhetorical situations Writing Rhetorically shows teachers what it looks like to dig into real texts with students and novice writers and how it develops them for lifelong learning

generation Dating from the 1970s the first generation of reflection focused on identifying and describing internal cognitive processes assumed to be part of composing The second generation operating in both classroom and assessment scenes in the 1990s developed mechanisms for externalizing reflection making it visible and thus explicitly available to help writers Now a third generation of work in reflection is emerging As mapped by the contributors to A Rhetoric of Reflection this iteration of research and practice is taking up new questions in new sites of activity and with new theories It comprises attention to transfer of writing knowledge and practice teaching and assessment portfolios linguistic and cultural difference and various media including print and digital It conceptualizes conversation as a primary reflective medium both inside and outside the classroom and for individuals and collectives and articulates the role that different genres play in hosting reflection Perhaps most important in the work of this third generation is the identification and increasing appreciation of the epistemic value of reflection of its ability to help make new meanings and of its rhetorical power for both scholars and students Contributors Anne Beaufort Kara Taczak Liane Robertson Michael Neal Heather Ostman Cathy Leaker Bruce Horner Asao B Inoue Tyler Richmond J Elizabeth Clark Naomi Silver Christina Russell McDonald Pamela Flash Kevin Roozen Jeff Sommers Doug Hesse

Keywords in Writing Studies Paul Heilker, Peter Vandenberg, 2015-02-15 Keywords in Writing Studies is an exploration of the principal ideas and ideals of an emerging academic field as they are constituted by its specialized vocabulary A sequel to the 1996 work Keywords in Composition Studies this new volume traces the evolution of the field's lexicon taking into account the wide variety of theoretical educational professional and institutional developments that have redefined it over the past two decades Contributors address the development transformation and interconnections among thirty six of the most critical terms that make up writing studies Looking beyond basic definitions or explanations they explore the multiple layers of meaning within the terms that writing scholars currently use exchange and question Each term featured is a part of the general disciplinary parlance and each is a highly contested focal point of significant debates about matters of power identity and values Each essay begins with the assumption that its central term is important precisely because its meaning is open and multiplex Keywords in Writing Studies reveals how the key concepts in the field are used and even challenged rather than advocating particular usages and the particular vision of the field that they imply The volume will be of great interest to both graduate students and established scholars Naming What We Know Linda Adler-Kassner, 2015-06-01 Naming What We Know examines the core principles of knowledge in the discipline of writing studies using the lens of threshold concepts concepts that are critical for epistemological participation in a discipline The first part of the book defines and describes thirty seven threshold concepts of the discipline in entries written by some of the field's most active researchers and teachers all of whom participated in a collaborative wiki discussion guided by the editors These entries are clear and accessible written for an audience of writing scholars students and colleagues in other disciplines and policy makers outside the academy Contributors describe the conceptual background of the field and the principles that run throughout practice whether in research teaching assessment or public work around writing Chapters in the second part of the book describe the benefits and challenges of using threshold concepts in specific sites first year writing programs WAC WID programs writing centers writing majors and for professional development to present this framework in action Naming What We Know opens a dialogue about the concepts that writing scholars and teachers agree are critical and about why those concepts should and do matter to people outside the field

The Routledge Handbook of Digital Writing and Rhetoric Jonathan Alexander, Jacqueline Rhodes, 2018-04-27 This handbook brings together scholars from around the globe who here contribute to our understanding of how digital rhetoric is changing the landscape of writing Increasingly all of us must navigate networks of information composed not just with computers but an array of mobile devices increase our technological literacy and understand the changing dynamics of authoring writing reading and publishing in a world of rich and complex texts Given such changes and given the diverse ways in which younger generations of college students are writing communicating and designing texts in multimediased electronic environments we need to consider how the very act of writing itself is undergoing potentially fundamental changes These changes are being addressed increasingly by the emerging field of digital rhetoric a field that attempts to understand the rhetorical possibilities and affordances of writing broadly defined in a wide array of digital environments Of interest to both researchers and students this volume provides insights about the fields of rhetoric writing composition digital media literature and multimodal studies

Linguistic Justice on Campus Brooke R. Schreiber, Eunjeong Lee, Jennifer T. Johnson, Norah Fahim, 2021-12-06 This book supports writing educators on college campuses to work towards linguistic equity and social justice for multilingual students It demonstrates how recent advances in theories on language literacy and race can be translated into pedagogical and administrative practice in a variety of contexts within US higher educational institutions The chapters are split across three thematic sections translingual and anti discriminatory pedagogy and practices professional development and administrative work and advocacy in the writing center The book offers practice based examples which aim to counter linguistic racism and promote language pluralism in and out of classrooms including teacher training creating pedagogical spaces for multilingual students to negotiate language standards and enacting anti racist and translingual pedagogies across disciplines and in writing centers

Reaching All Writers Joanne Baird Giordano, Holly Hassel, Jennifer Heinert, Cassandra Phillips, 2024-02-21 Reaching All Writers brings together decades of writing studies experience research and scholarship to help organize first year writing courses around inclusive teaching practices and foundational concepts that support disciplinary learning for all college writers including students who have been excluded from more selective higher education institutions Using threshold concepts and transfer as a foundation the authors provide an invaluable resource for multiple contexts instructors working off the tenure track and or at multiple institutions two year college programs without a writing program administrator and writing program graduate teaching assistant training courses Each chapter includes an overview of a threshold concept disciplinary background readings practical teaching strategies assignment and learning activity ideas assessment principles examples from student and instructor perspectives and questions for reflection and discussion Reaching All Writers describes effective teaching practices to help all college writing instructors regardless of their institutional contexts make changes that support equitable and inclusive learning opportunities with a focus on teaching students whose backgrounds and learning experiences are different from those with more educational or economic privilege Both new and experienced teachers adapting first year college writing courses will find the book s blend of practical strategies and disciplinary knowledge a useful companion for facilitating new classroom and program needs or designing new teaching assistant training courses
