Writing Twice Self Translation Making Literature:

Writing it Twice Sara Kippur, 2015 Though the practice of self translation long predates modernity it has found new forms of expression in the global literary market of the late twentieth and early twenty first century The international renown of self translating authors Samuel Beckett Joseph Brodsky and Vladimir Nabokov has offered motivation to a new generation of writers who actively translate themselves Intervening in recent debates in world literature and translation studies Writing It Twice establishes the prominence and vitality of self translation in contemporary French literature Because of its intrinsic connection to multiple literary communities self translation prompts a reexamination of the aesthetics and politics of reading across national lines Kippur argues that self translated works should be understood as the paradigmatic example of world literature and as such crucial for interpreting the dynamics of literary circulation into and out of French

Translingual Francophonie and the Limits of Translation Ioanna Chatzidimitriou, 2020-09-02 Translingual Francophonie and the Limits of Translation proposes a novel theoretical lens for the study of translation as theme and practice in works by four translingual francophone authors Vassilis Alexakis Chahdortt Djavann Nancy Huston and Andre Makine In particular it argues that translation allows for the most productive encounter with otherness when it is practiced in its estuarine dimension When two foreign bodies of water come into contact in an estuary often a new environment is created at their shared border that does not however invalidate the distinctiveness chemical biological geological etc of either fresh or sea water Similarly texts translated from one language to another should ideally not transform into but rather relate to their new host's linguistic and cultural codes in ways that account both for their undiluted strangeness and the missteps gaps and discontinuities the challenging yet novel and productive articulations of relationality that proliferate at the border of the encounter The Cambridge Handbook of Translation Kirsten Malmkjær, 2022-03-17 Translation plays a vital role in society it allows us to share knowledge and enrich our lives through access to other cultures Translation studies is a rapidly evolving academic discipline directly impacted by advances in technological aids and with close connections between theory and practice Bringing together contributions from internationally renowned scholars this Handbook offers an authoritative up to date account of the many facets of this buoyant discipline It covers different themes areas of practice and developing trends and provides an overview of the major sub fields and the connections between them It is organised into six parts covering the nature of translation its roles in society its relationships with other disciplines a selection of its factual genres a selection of its art related genres and finally its role in history Comprehensive yet accessible it is essential reading for students teachers and scholars of translation studies modern languages linguistics social studies and literary studies

Doing Double Dutch Elke Brems, Orsolya Réthelyi, Ton van Kalmthout, 2017-05-22 The importance of a minor language in the field of world literature Dutch literature is increasingly understood as a network of texts and poetics connected to other languages and literatures through translations and adaptations In this book a team of international researchers explores how Dutch literary texts cross linguistic historical geophysical political religious and disciplinary borders and reflects on a wide range of methods for studying these myriad border crossings As a result this volume provides insight into the international dissemination of Dutch literature and the position of a smaller less translated language within the field of world literature The title Doing Double Dutch evokes a popular rope skipping game in which two people turn two long jump ropes in opposite directions while a third person jumps them A fitting metaphor for how literature circulates internationally two dynamic spheres the source culture and the target culture engage one another in a complex pattern of movement resulting in a new literary work translation or adaptation formed somewhere in the middle
