

Landforms

Simply put, a landform is any shape of the earth. The shape may be above water, at the water line, or underwater.

The science of geography has a branch called physical geography that studies where these landforms are and how they affect the people and animals around them.

A part of physical geography is devoted to studying the landforms themselves. This area of study finds out how the landforms were made and how they change. It is called geomorphology. It looks like a large word but it just means "study of changing land."

Landforms change in three different ways. Weathering is the effect of the wind and water on solid areas like mountains and plains. Erosion is the movement of weathered material. Erosion can be caused by nature or humans.

Deposition is about where all the material ends up. The word deposition is another way of saying deposited.

Read each sentence below. Fill in the missing words.

1. A _____ is any shape of the earth.
2. Landforms change in _____ different ways.
3. _____ is the movement of weathered material.
4. The word deposition is another way of saying _____.
