Immersive Spaces Scott A. Lukas, 2016 Themed spaces have at their foundation an overarching narrative symbolic complex or story that drives the overall context of their spaces Theming in some very unique ways has expanded beyond previous stereotypes and oversimplifications of culture and place to now consider new and often controversial topics themes and storylines Publisher's website Bloomberg's New York Julian Brash, 2011 New York mayor Michael Bloomberg claims to run the city like a business In Bloomberg's New York Julian Brash applies methods from anthropology geography and other social science disciplines to examine what that means He describes the mayor's attitude toward governance as the Bloomberg Way a philosophy that holds up the mayor as CEO government as a private corporation desirable residents and businesses as customers and clients and the city itself as a product to be branded and marketed as a luxury good Commonly represented as pragmatic and nonideological the Bloomberg Way Brash argues is in fact an ambitious reformulation of neoliberal governance that advances specific class interests He considers the implications of this in a blow by blow account of the debate over the Hudson Yards plan which aimed to transform Manhattan's far west side into the city's next great high end district Bringing this plan to fruition proved surprisingly difficult as activists and entrenched interests pushed back against the Bloomberg administration suggesting that despite Bloomberg's success in redrawing the rules of urban governance older political arrangements and opportunities for social justice remain suggested reinvented relationships with their original architectural inspirations Copies reinterpretations and simulacra still constitute some of the most familiar and popular tourist attractions in the world Some reinterpret archetypes such as the ancient palace the Renaissance villa or the Mediterranean village Others duplicate the cities in which we lived in the past or we still live today And others realise perceptions of utopias such as Shangri La Eden or Paradise Replicas duplitecture and simulacra can have symbolic meaning for tourists as merely inspiring an atmosphere or as truly authentic and their relationship to original functions for worship accommodation leisure or shopping Tourism and Architectural Simulacra questions and rethinks the different environments constructed or adapted both for and by tourism exploring the relationship between the architectural inspiration and its reproduction within the tourist bubble The wide range of geographical areas eras and subjects in this book show that the expositions of simulacra and hyper reality by Baudrillard Deleuze and Eco are surpassed by our complex world Adopting an interdisciplinary approach they offer original insights of the complex relationship between tourism and architecture The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Tourism and Cultural Change

The Real Fake Maria Francesca Piazzoni, 2018-10-30 Thames Town an English like village built in Shanghai is many places at once a successful tourist destination an affluent residential cluster a city of migrant workers and a ghost town The Real Fake explores how the users of Thames Town transform a themed space into something more than a fake place Piazzoni understands authenticity as a dynamic relationship between people places and meanings that enables urban transformations She argues that authenticity underlies the social and physical production of space through both top down and bottom up dynamics The systems of moral and aesthetic judgments that people associate with the authentic materialize in Thames Town Authenticity excludes some users as it inhibits access and usage especially to the migrant poor And yet ideas of the authentic also encourage everyday spontaneous appropriations of space that break the village's staged atmosphere Most scholars criticize theming by arguing that it produces a fake controlling city Piazzoni complicates this view by demonstrating that although the exclusionary character of theming remains unquestionable it is precisely the experience of fakeness that allows Thames Town's users to develop a sense of place Authenticity the ways people construct and spatialize its meanings intervenes holistically in the making and remaking of space
