Thinking Through Craft:

Thinking Through Craft Glenn Adamson, 2007-10 This book provides an introduction to the way that artists working in all media think about craft Dispensing with clichéd arguments that craft is art Adamson persuasively makes a case for defining craft in a more nuanced fashion

Thinking Through Craft Glenn Adamson, 2007 The Invention of Craft Glenn Adamson, 2013-04-01 Glenn Adamson's last book Thinking Through Craft offered an influential account of craft's position within modern and contemporary art Now in his engaging sequel The Invention of Craft his theoretical discussion of skilled work is extended back in time and across numerous disciplines Adamson searches out the origins of modern craft locating its emergence in the period of the industrial revolution He demonstrates how craft was invented as industry's other a necessary counterpart to ideas of progress and upheaval In the process the magical and secretive culture of artisans was gradually dominated through division and explication This left craft with an oppositional stance a traditional or anti modern position The Invention of Craft ranges widely across media from lock making wood carving and iron casting to fashion architecture and design It also moves back and forth between periods from the 18th century to the present day demonstrating how contemporary practice can be informed through the study of modern craft in its moment of invention

Collaboration Through Craft Amanda Ravetz, Alice Kettle, Helen Felcey, 2017-07-27 Offering a challenging new argument for the collaborative power of craft this ground breaking volume analyses the philosophies politics and practicalities of collaborative craft work The book is accessibly organised into four sections covering the cooperation and compromises required by the collaborative process the potential of recent technological advances for the field of craft the implications of cross disciplinary and cross cultural collaborations for authority and ownership and the impact of crafted collaborations on the institutions where we work learn and teach With cutting edge essays by established makers and artists such as Allison Smith US and Brass Art UK curator Lesley Millar textile designer Trish Belford and distinguished thinker Glenn Adamson Collaborating Through Craft will be essential reading for students artists makers curators and scholars across a number of fields

Sloppy Craft Elaine Cheasley Paterson, Susan Surette, 2015-09-24 Sloppy Craft Postdisciplinarity and the Crafts brings together leading international artists and critics to explore the possibilities and limitations of the idea of sloppy craft craft that is messy or unfinished looking in its execution or appearance or both The contributors address sloppiness in contemporary art and craft practices including painting weaving sewing and ceramics consider the importance of traditional concepts of skill and the implications of sloppiness for a new 21st century emphasis on inter and postdisciplinarity as well as for activist performance queer and Aboriginal practices In addition to critical essays the book includes a conversation section in which contemporary artists and practitioners discuss challenges and opportunities of sloppy craft in their practice and teaching and an afterword by Glenn Adamson

Crafting Textiles in the Digital Age Nithikul Nimkulrat, Faith Kane, Kerry Walton, 2016-09-08 In an era of increasingly available digital resources many textile designers and makers find themselves at an interesting juncture between traditional craft processes and newer digital technologies Highly specialized craft design practitioners may now elect to make use of digital processes in their work but often choose not to abandon craft skills fundamental to their practice and aim to balance the complex connection between craft and digital processes The essays collected here consider this transition from the viewpoint of aesthetic opportunity arising in the textile designer's hands on experimentation with material and digital technologies available in the present Craft provides the foundations for thinking within the design and production of textiles and as such may provide some clues in the transition to creative and thoughtful use of current and future digital technologies Within the framework of current challenges relating to sustainable development globalization and economic constraints it is important to interrogate and question how we might go about using established and emerging technologies in textiles in a positive manner The Thinking University Søren S.E.

Bengtsen, Ronald Barnett, 2018-04-27 This book reinvigorates the philosophical treatment of the nature purpose and meaning of thought in today's universities The wider discussion about higher education has moved from a philosophical discourse to a discourse on social welfare and service economics and political agendas This book reconnects philosophy with the central academic concepts of thought reason and critique and their associated academic practices of thinking and reasoning Thought in this context should not be considered as a merely mental or cognitive construction still less a cloistered college but a fully developed individual and social engagement of critical reflection and discussion with the current pressing disciplinary political and philosophical issues The editors hold that the element of thought and the ability to think in a deep and groundbreaking way is still the essence of the university But what does it mean to think in the university today And in what ways is thought related not only to the epistemological and ontological issues of philosophical debate but also to the social and political dimensions of our globalised age In many countries the state is imposing limitations on universities dismissing or threatening academics who speak out critically With this volume the editors ask questions such as What is the value of thought What is the university's proper relationship to thought To give the notion of thought a thorough philosophical treatment the book is divided into three parts The focus moves from an epistemological perspective in Part I to a focus on existence and values in higher education in Part II and then to a societal oriented focus on the university in Part III All three parts in their own ways debate the notion of thought in higher education and the university as a thinking form of being

Aural/Oral Dramaturgies Duška Radosavljević, 2022-10-26 Aural Oral Dramaturgies Theatre in the Digital Age focuses on the aural turn in contemporary theatre making examining a number of seemingly disparate trends that foreground speech and sound post verbatim theatre amplified storytelling works using microphones and headphones and gig theatre that incorporates live music performance Its main argument is that the dramaturgical underpinnings of these works contribute to an understanding of theatre as an extra literary activity greater than the centrality of the script that traditionally dominated many historical discussions This quality is usually expressed in terms of the corporeality in dance and physical theatre but the aural oral turn gives an alternative viewpoint on the interplay between text and performance The book s case studies draw on the ways in which a range of theatre companies engage with the dramaturgy of speech and sound in their work It is further accompanied by a specially curated collection of digital resources including interviews conversations and presentations from artists and academics This is a key text for scholars students and practitioners of contemporary performance and anyone working with dramaturgies of orality and aurality in today s performance environment

Craft and Design Practice from an Embodied Perspective Nithikul Nimkulrat,Camilla Groth,2024-07-01 This book brings together contributors from multiple disciplines such as crafts design art education cognitive philosophy and sociology to discuss craft and design practice from an embodied perspective Through theoretical overviews of embodied cognition and research based cases that involve the researchers making experiences different phenomena of human material interaction are presented analysed and discussed The practical cases exemplify ways in which embodied notions show up in action Contributors examine topics such as the embodied basis of craft activities and material manipulation experiential knowledge and skill learning reflection in and on action and material dialogues Several chapters specifically discuss the hybrid forms of analogue and digital crafting that increasingly takes place in the field of crafts and design and the changed notions of material engagement that this entails The book will appeal to scholars of crafts design art education anthropology and sociology The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license

Craft Shaping Society Lindy Joubert,2022-05-31 This book focusses on the role of craft as a continuing cultural practice and the revival of disappearing skills in contemporary society It includes twenty five essays by highly regarded artisans academics technologists entrepreneurs businesspeople curators and researchers from many countries representing a wide range of global craft traditions and innovations The authors explain their professional practices and creative pathways with knowledge experience and passion They offer insightful analyses of their traditions within their culture and in the marketplace alongside the evolution of technology as it adapts to support experimentation and business strategies They write about teaching and research informing their practice and they explain the importance of their tools and materials in function and form of the objects they make The essays reveal a poignant expression of their successes disappointments and opportunities This book offers case studies of how artisans have harnessed the traditions of the past alongside the latest design technologies The authors reveal how global craft is not only a vehicle for self expression and creativity but also for being deeply relevant to the world of work community and environmental sustainability The book makes the vital link between skills knowledge education and employment and fills a much needed niche in Technical Vocational Education and Training TVET

Design and the Creation of Social Value Doctor Gjoko Muratovski,Craig Vogel,2019-05-22 Just as the term design has been going through change growth and expansion of meaning and interpretation in practice and education the same can be said for design research The traditional boundaries of design are dissolving and connections are being established with other fields at an exponential rate Based on the proceedings from the IASDR 2017 Conference Re Research is an edited collection that showcases a curated selection of 83 papers just over half of the works presented at the conference With topics ranging from the introduction of design in the primary education sector to designing information for Artificial Intelligence systems this book collection demonstrates the diverse perspectives of design and design research Divided into seven thematic volumes this collection maps out where the field of design research is now Understanding Everyday Design Soyoung Kim Kwangmin Cho Chajoong Kim The more society gets complicated and developed the more demand for various products As a result we are living in a flood of various products However considering how people consume and use products in their daily life it is not difficult to find people transforming changing the original purpose or adding value to existing products instead of buying new ones This phenomenon has been defined as everyday design In a sense that everyday design provides a better understanding of actual uses in real context it deserves to be studied Therefore this paper attempts to figure out an underlying mechanism of everyday design For this a conceptual framework was developed whose focus was on what triggers everyday design what goals are set and how a product is transformed The conceptual framework was validated with a photographic inventory of users everyday design in our daily life The conceptual framework could provide a better understanding of everyday design in a systematic way If it is considered in the product development process it could contribute to an increase of use satisfaction as well as sustainable design The limitations and a further study are discussed at the end of the paper Social Value Creation through Multidisciplinary Design Education Steven Kyffin Mersha Aftab Nicholas Spencer The paper proposes that design with a multidisciplinary student cohort as active partners can play the role of bringing the four different stakeholder groupings namely government industry society and academia together within the creative consortia and create innovation for the greater good of the society By studying a selection of social innovation projects undertaken by multidisciplinary student teams as connector integrators which engaged with companies government bodies and community groups we have examined a combination of four different activities across different economic and cultural human experience contexts to assess their different degrees of appropriateness in creating future value We apply these methods to establish creative consortia which has enabled us to reframe the context of the problem space We believe that the creative consortia has the potential to create more relevance in the solution space greater engagement in realizing the proposition into the future and a higher opportunity for integration of such future principles into emerging government policy and national innovation agendas Taking Aim at wicked problems A Practical Philosophy for Educating Designers in the Making of Wise Decisions Paul Emmerson Robert Young Today s design pedagogies lack the characteristics for redressing the nature of the wicked problems they attempt to solve such as sustainability We argue it is not fair for future generations to suffer the systemic effects of our unsustainable consumer culture partly resulting from today s design professionals decisions which ensue because design is an amoral discipline lacking a systemic perspective To rectify design's characteristic failings as part of a PhD study we report a new pedagogical architecture founded as the synthesis of the practices of design and civics forming the relationship design as civics DaC a practical philosophy We position DaC as a reflexive systemic radical political praxis for every citizen possessing the explicit teleological goal to achieve the good life for all DaC takes a transdisciplinary approach It integrates the discoveries of cognitive science and linguistics to expose how we construct our understanding of the world interpreting metaphors and frames which we utilize to aim DaC Alongside shared social practice theory SSP and insights from developmental psychology that reveal the distinctly human capacity of shared intentionality engendering humankind's willingness for cooperation and empathy for fairness That living in a fairer society is desired by people from rival political perspectives with egalitarian societies reporting lower environmental impact lifestyles and more willingness for transitioning toward sustainment Thus it is humankind's cooperative behavior and aligning values that provides the foundational rationale of DaC's SSP goal to achieve the good life through the ongoing critical examination of its aim of resolving fairness between citizens

Developing a Matrix for Designerly Way of Creating Shared Value DCSV Four Examples of CSV via Perspectives of Design Kyulee Kim Today while profit maximization is still the bedrock of the capitalist model people have embraced the idea of social contribution as a useful strategy in businesses In this recent movement Creating Shared Value CSV strives for a win-win solution that creates both social and business value While in its early stage CSV is showing promise and potential society is witnessing a paradigm shift from practices of corporate social responsibilities CSR to CSV which is more sustainable and effective approach Since Porter and Kramer originally introduced the concept in 2011 CSV's application has expanded to many areas of business management but it has not been discussed comprehensively in design research as of yet The title of this paper Designerly Way of Creating Shared Value DCSV is inspired by Nigel Cross's famous book Designerly way of knowing 2006 Designerly is an adjective describing how designers think and behave that is different from professionals in scientific disciplines The aim of this paper is to propose a new matrix illustrating the link between creating shared value and design and to systemically describe the existing examples of DCSV The paper will begin with an introduction to the concept of CSV followed by a brief literature review on CSV in design research The second part will focus on demonstrating the new DCSV matrix by illustrating the four examples that exemplify it Design for Social Innovation Digital Technologies and Local Communities Teresa Franqueira Gonalo Gomes

Abstract The use and democratization of new digital technologies have given visibility to groups of people and grassroots organizations that can be considered agents of change in the transition to a more sustainable world Design plays an important role in the definition of strategies and in the development of innovative solutions to tackle some of the contemporary problems society faces This paper aims to show several projects developed over the last 5 years in the subject Design for Social Innovation at the Master in Design and the Master in Engineering and Product Design at the University of Aveiro and its relation to the new social media and technologies By using Service Design tools to improve Social Innovations and the integration of new digital technologies we design new and improved solutions to foster sustainable development The creation of a DESIS Lab has also allowed to develop innovative design solutions within local communities The methodology used is based on Learning by Doing with an important and relevant initial phase using ethnographic methods The results are showed as academic projects that can be applied and replicated in different contexts The Extent of Transformation Measuring the Impact of Design in VCS Organizations Laura E Warwick Robert A Young A Design for Service DfS approach has been linked with impacts that significantly alter touchpoints services and organizational culture However there is no model with which to assess the extent to which these impacts can be considered transformational In the absence of such a model the authors have reviewed literature on subjects including the transformational potential of design characteristics of transformational design transformational change and organizational change From this review six indicators of transformational change in design projects have been identified evidence of nontraditional transformative design objects evidence of a new perspective evidence of a community of advocates evidence of design capability evidence of new power dynamics and evidence of new organizational standards These indicators along with an assessment scale have been used to successfully review the findings from a doctoral study exploring the impact of the DfS approach in Voluntary Community Sector VCS organizations This paper presents this model as a first step to establishing a method to helpfully gauge the extent of transformational impact in design projects Applying Design Thinking for Business Model Innovation for a Nonprofit Organization Case Study Art la Carte Alison Miyauchi Scott Cressman The challenges facing many small nonprofit organizations are increasing at a greater rate than the internal capacities of many within this sector are able to address effectively This situation has small nonprofits questioning their sustainability and ability to deliver their services in the long term Often these small nonprofit organizations are working within a business model and communications paradigm that has remained unchanged for decades and one which is proving no longer effective in attracting awareness engagement and support Many of these organizations are facing a critical failure requiring significant business model innovation to achieve both their short mid and long term goals Design thinking is an avenue for nonprofits to achieve business model innovation by developing new unique concepts supporting an organization s viability and the processes for bringing those concepts to fruition This case study outlines the design thinking process applied to business model innovation for a small 22 year old nonprofit approaching critical business failure Generative Design Research for Sustainability Exemplary Cases for the Adaptation of the EC Guide Tool and the ERM Method Mert Kulaks z It r G ng r Boncuk u Dilruba O ur smail Yavuz Paksoy Senem Turhan a la Do an This paper presents the main process of a graduate course entitled Generative Design Research for Sustainability offered in the Department of Industrial Design at Middle East Technical University in the spring semester of 2015 2016 through exemplary design research cases conducted by the graduate students at the doctoral level These cases focus on the adaptation of the generative tool and the method namely Experience Chart EC Guide tool and Experience Reflection Modelling ERM method in line with the graduate students particular research topics First the paper provides the course objectives outcomes and process then it explains the EC Guide tool and the ERM method to be adapted and implemented within the context of the course Then these generative tool and method and their adaptations are demonstrated through the exemplary cases i e efficient use of working environment in design studios lighting practices in kitchen environment and interactive prototyping practice selected from the submitted assignments considering their quality originality and comprehensiveness The main emphasis of this paper is on the adaptation and implementation of the EC Guide tool and the ERM method through providing the experiences insights and suggestions of the graduate students who are also the co authors of the paper Based on that review major conclusions and findings are presented through comparing and contrasting these cases for the future development of the course

Beyond Greener Things Sustainability within Communication Design Practice Niki Wallace Robert Crocker This paper reviews contemporary communication design practice in Australia through a series of interviews with practitioners conducted to better understand the place of sustainability in contemporary practice It is especially concerned with the expectations and experience of designers and their attitudes toward sustainability in practice and the contrast between designing greener things and establishing more sustainable outcomes for their clients through deeper collaboration The paper is part of a larger PhD project attempting to establish ways of expanding the understanding of sustainability for communication designers

Craft and Design for Sustainability Leverage for Change Xiaofang Zhan Stuart Walker Traditional craft has been relegated to the margins in modern culture being perceived as out step with technological economic and societal progress However emergent research is rediscovering the nature of craft and its potential for contributing to design practice in conjunction with developments in science and technology Through the analyses of craft and sustainability strong connections are revealed as well as some incompatibilities The contribution of this paper is to a map a systemic view of craft and b establish a theoretical understanding of the relationship between craft and a holistic understanding of sustainability Drawing on recent research that proposes three areas of leverage for sustainability we argue that craft as a system of making knowing and being has significant potential to contribute actively and tangibly to the transitional conditions thereby serving as an agency for sustainable transformation

Nature Inspired Organizational Design Framework for Open Collaboration Platform Development Sojung Kim Joon Sang Baek Over the last two decades for profit and not for profit organizations have increasingly adopted open collaboration such as open innovation and crowdsourcing as a strategy for innovation Information and communication technology ICT has played a major role in forming open collaboration communities but organizational design also needs to be considered to encourage the active participation and collaboration of actors Nonetheless organizational design aspect has seldom been addressed in developing open collaboration platforms In this research an organizational design framework for open collaboration was developed through a nature inspired design approach This framework suggests that the self organization mechanism of social insects provides inspirations for the design of the platform especially in terms of setting simple rules to induce behaviors of the actors and facilitating interactions among them Since the open collaboration strategy depends on external actors who are not in employment relationship an organization cannot force their contribution Accordingly the organization s capability to induce the spontaneous participation of actors is essential and it implies the potential role of designers in platform design based on a thorough understanding of actors We thus claim that designers can bring a new perspective to organizational design Open collaboration platforms serve as an exemplar in which designers contribute to the design of an organizational environment that fosters collaboration

The Routledge Handbook of Craft and Sustainability in India Rebecca Reubens,Tanishka Kachru,2024-10-15 Traditional crafts have been an essential part of Indian history culture and life This handbook looks at craft as both a cultural artefact that reflects people s worldviews indigenous practices and traditions as well as a source of income generation and development that is inclusive India s rapid development has meant a breakdown of traditional economies and including craft production to consumption systems Meanwhile there is a call to action from different factions to protect revive and reinvent craft because the inherent sustainability of the systems that underpin it are essential for the sustainability of India and her people Against this backdrop this book examines the current landscape of craft in India its production and marketing in different parts of India the incorporation of innovation and technology the push for sustainability and equitability in the handicraft ecosystem and promising government policies that have proved beneficial for craftspeople It also discusses various challenges that artisans micro entrepreneurs and marketers face working in the space With contributions from leading experts in the field of design activism policy education cultural heritage and entrepreneurship this volume provides a comprehensive and in depth picture of the history economics and future of craft and its relationship with sustainability An authoritative resource on Indian craft this handbook will be useful for scholars and researchers of sustainable development development studies architecture design heritage studies cultural studies political economy and public policy
