

THIS PLACE, THESE PEOPLE

LIFE AND SHADOW ON THE GREAT PLAINS

PHOTOGRAPHS BY NANCY WARNER TEXT BY DAVID STARK

— Their last house on the prairie and milled lumber were started, in August, like many pioneers, made his first home out of sod. With a straight shovel he cut the sod—ten shovel lengths for the longer sides, one each for the shorter sides. These could be stacked like bricks to build a structure like the one in the photograph in this book. The prairie grass held the dirt together for at least a couple of years. Later August ordered some pine lumber from Omaha and built a simple structure that served first as a home and later as a warehouse. ¶ On February 23, 1875, August married Caroline Bruckman, who, like him, had come from Germany with her parents, in 1854. They settled in Wisconsin, and then moved on to Nebraska. Caroline was fifteen at the time of their wedding. She and August would have thirteen children, seven of whom survived infancy. ¶ The railroad arrived in nearby West Point, the county capital, on November 23, 1876, bringing with it a flood of settlers. Homesteading was booming so much that the Nebraska land registry office was relocated from Omaha to West Point. By 1890, the population of Cassing County reached its historical high.

This Place These People Life And Shadow On The Great Plains:

This Place, These People David Stark, 2013-11-19 The numbers of farms and farmers on the Great Plains are dwindling Disappearing even faster are the farm places the houses barns and outbuildings that made the rural landscape a place of habitation Nancy Warner's photographs tell the stories of buildings that were once loved yet have now been abandoned Her evocative images are juxtaposed with the voices of Nebraska farm people lovingly recorded by sociologist David Stark These plainspoken recollections tell of a way of life that continues to evolve in the face of wrenching change Warner's spare formal photographs invite readers to listen to the cadences and tough minded humor of everyday speech in the Great Plains Stark's afterword grounds the project in the historical relationship between people and their land In the tradition of Wright Morris this combination of words and images is both art and document evoking memories emotions and questions for anyone with rural American roots Handbook on the Geographies of Energy Barry D. Solomon, Kirby E. Calvert, 2017-12-29 This extensive Handbook captures a range of expertise and perspectives on the changing geographies and landscapes of energy production distribution and use Combining established and emerging scholarship from across disciplines the expert contributions provide a broad overview of research frontiers for the changing geographies of energy worldwide Interdisciplinary in nature and broad in scope it serves to answer a range of questions and provide the reader with conceptual and methodological foundations Play Among Books Miro Roman, Alice_ch3n81, 2021-12-06 How does coding change the way we think about architecture This question opens up an important research perspective In this book Miro Roman and his AI Alice_ch3n81 develop a playful scenario in which they propose coding as the new literacy of information They convey knowledge in the form of a project model that links the fields of architecture and information through two interwoven narrative strands in an infinite flow of real books Focusing on the intersection of information technology and architectural formulation the authors create an evolving intellectual reflection on digital architecture and computer science

The Research Interview S. Mann, 2016-04-29 Research and Qualitative Interviews brings into focus the decisions that the interviewer faces by taking a data led approach in order to open up choices and decisions in the process of planning for managing analysing and representing interviews The chapters concentrate on the real time moment by moment nature of interview management and interaction A key feature of the book is the inclusion of reflexive vignettes that foreground the voices and experience of qualitative researchers both novices and more expert practitioners The vignettes demonstrate the importance of reflecting on and learning from interactional experience In addition the book provides an overview of different types of interviews commenting on the orientation and make up of each type Overall this book encourages reflective thinking about the use of research interviews It distinguishes between reflection reflective practice and reflexivity All the chapters focus on recurring choices dilemmas and puzzles offering advice in opening out and engaging with these aspects of the research interview Moments of Valuation Ariane Berthoin Antal, Michael Hutter, David Stark, 2015 The outcome of innovation processes are determined by complex historically grown valuation practices In this book a wide range of innovations are taken into consideration from small inventions like entertainment novelties to large societal changes through new technologies The chapters observe the particular local or distributed sites in which their episodes of innovation take place and they identify the initial dissonance among those judging a newly proposed alternative The emphasis of the inquiry however is on the practices of valuation that are at work when something succeeds in being new The authors represent a wide variety of sub disciplines and national backgrounds in the social sciences They share an interest in social valuation and a pragmatist approach The differences between their empirical evidence reflect the wide variety of appearances that valuation takes in contemporary society They are anthropologists economic or cultural sociologists organization researchers historians or political scientists A number of chapters deals with aesthetic valuation as in the tasting of a new vintage or in the socio technical process that shaped successful synthesizer sounds Other chapters discuss the judgment processes in organizations like architect offices or consultancy firms and processes of evaluation and valorization in larger fields of practice like accounting or mathematics The studies are both of interest in their various professional fields and contribute to a more general understanding of the social and cultural conditions under which innovations fail and succeed Reading

Marie al-Khazen's Photographs Yasmine Nachabe Taan, 2020-11-26 The Lebanese photographer Marie al Khazen seized every opportunity to use her camera during the years that she was active between 1920 and 1940 She not only documented her travels around tourist sites in Lebanon but also sought creative experimentation with her camera by staging scenes manipulating shadows and superimposing negatives to produce different effects in her prints Within her photographs bedouins and European friends peasants and landlords men and women comfortably share the same space Her photographs include an intriguing collection portraying her family and friends living their everyday lives in 1920s and 30s Zgharta a village in the north of Lebanon Yasmine Nachabe Taan explores these photographs emphasizing the ways in which notions of gender and class are inscribed within them and revealing how they are charged with symbols of women's emancipation to today's viewers through women's presence as individuals separate from family restrictions of that time Images in which women are depicted smoking cigarettes driving cars riding horses and accompanying men on hunting trips counteract the common ways in which women were portrayed in contemporary Lebanon American Indian Places Frances H.

Kennedy, 2008 A guide to 366 places that are significant to American Indians and open to the public Organized geographically the guide includes location information maps and suggestions for further reading about the sites Drift Jeff Ferrell, 2018-03-16 This book was written late in the North American night with the rumbling thuds and booming train horns of the nearby rail yard echoing through my windows reminding me of the train hoppers and gutter punks out there rolling through the darkness In Drift Jeff Ferrell shows how dislocation and disorientation can become phenomena in their own right Examining the history of drifting Ferrell situates the contemporary global phenomenon of drift within today's economic social and cultural dynamics He also highlights a distinctly North American form of drift that of the train hopping hobo by tracing the hobo s political history and by sharing his own immersion in the world of contemporary train hoppers Along the way Ferrell sheds light on the ephemeral intensity of drifting communities and explores the contested politics of drift the legal and political strategies designed to control drifters in the interest of economic development the irony by which these strategies spawn further social and spatial exclusion and the ways in which drifters and those who embrace drift create their own slippery strategies of resistance With an eye toward the truth Ferrell keenly argues that the lessons of drift can provide us with new models for knowing and engaging with the world around us Mrs. Keith's Crime Mrs. W.
