Digital Decision Making Ray Corrigan,2007-06-11 Since the mid 1990s when the general public began using the Internet governments and commerce have made vast investments in digital communications technology There has been confusion and sometimes controversy over these for example the proposed UK identity card system The far reaching commercial and social implications of decisions made in invisible or opaque specialist fields should concern every citizen This book argues that decisions should be based on an understanding of the systems technology and environment within which they operate that experts and ordinary people should work together and that technology and law are evolving in restrictive rather than enabling ways A Tradition That Has No Name Mary Field Belenky,Lynne A. Bond,Jacqueline S. Weinstock,1999-04-20

Mary Field Belenky Lynne A Bond and Jacqueline S Weinstock hoping to carry Belenky s theoretical work in the bestselling Women s Ways of Knowing into the realm of everyday life created the Listening Partners project designed to help young women isolated in rural poverty give voice to their personal and communal needs and come together to create social change A Tradition That Has No Name explores this project and the work of other women who have created organizations to give voice to and strengthen traditions of community organizing and leadership particularly as they have developed in communities of women marginalized by race and class Ranging across cultures and classes from struggling inner city neighborhoods to affluent middle class suburbs from African American communities in the South to poor rural communities in Vermont the book teaches us how to appreciate the ways women create networks of listening and community building and how to bring these little recognized traditions of women s activism to the forefront of public life It is these public homeplaces women create together the authors argue that hold the key for empowering communities and creating social change

Projecting Russia in a Mediatized World Stephen Hutchings,2022-01-31 This book presents a new perspective on how Russia projects itself to the world Distancing itself from familiar agency driven International Relations accounts that focus on what the Kremlin is up to and why it argues for the need to pay attention to deeper trans state processes over which the Kremlin exerts much less control Especially important in this context is mediatization defined as the process by which contemporary social and political practices adopt a media form and follow media driven logics In particular the book emphasizes the logic of the feedback loop or recursion showing how it drives multiple Russian performances of national belonging and nation projection in the digital era It applies this theory to recent issues events and scandals that have played out in international arenas ranging from television through theatre film and performance art to warfare The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license The New York Times Book Review ,1991-04 Presents extended reviews of noteworthy books short reviews essays and articles on topics and trends in publishing literature culture and the arts Includes lists of best sellers hardcover and paperback

International Environmental Law and World Order Lakshman D. Guruswamy,1999 While both the environmental and international dimensions of law school inquiry continue to flourish a distinct offering in international environmental law is becoming prevalent This coursebook begins with a relatively detailed exploration of the key doctrines principles and rules of international law without which it is impossible to understand or apply international environmental law It summarizes the applicability of state responsibility to environmental wrongs and presents a series of hypothetical problems bearing fact patterns that mirror the real world Coursebook presents a simulated negotiation of a fictional draft protocol to the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change Spaces of Culture Scott Lash,Mike Featherstone,1999-03-28 In Spaces of Culture an international group of scholars examines the implications of questions such as What is culture What is the relationship between social structure and culture in a globalized and networked world Do critical perspectives still apply or does the speed and complexity of cultural production demand new forms of analysis They explore the key themes in social theory the nation state the city modernity and reflexivity post Fordism and the spatial logic of the informational city The contributors go on to analyze the public sphere questioning the reductive
