The Turkic Languages Routledge Language Family Series:

The Turkic Languages Lars Johanson,Éva Á. Csató,2015-04-29 The Turkic Languages examines the modern languages within this wide ranging language family and gives an historical overview of their development The first part covers generalities providing an introduction to the grammatical traditions subgrouping and writing systems of this language family The latter part of the book focuses on descriptions of the individual languages themselves Each language description gives an overview of the language followed by detail on phonology morphology syntax lexis and dialects The language chapters are similarly structured to enable the reader to access and compare information easily Each chapter represents a self contained article written by a recognised expert in the field Suggestions are made for the most useful sources of further reading and the work is comprehensively indexed

The Turkic Languages Lars Johanson,Éva Á. Csató,2021-12-27 The Turkic languages are spoken today in a vast geographical area stretching from southern Iran to the Arctic Ocean and from the Balkans to the great wall of China There are currently 20 literary languages in the group the most important among them being Turkish with over 70 million speakers other major languages covered include Azeri Bashkir Chuvash Gagauz Karakalpak Kazakh Kirghiz Noghay Tatar Turkmen Uyghur Uzbek Yakut Yellow Uyghur and languages of Iran and South Siberia The Turkic Languages is a reference book which brings together detailed discussions of the historical development and specialized linguistic structures and features of the languages in the Turkic family Seen from a linguistic typology point of view Turkic languages are particularly interesting because of their astonishing morphosyntactic regularity their vast geographical distribution and their great stability over time This volume builds upon a work which has already become a defining classic of Turkic language study The present thoroughly revised edition updates and augments those authoritative accounts and reflects recent and ongoing developments in the languages themselves as well as our further enhanced understanding of the relations and patterns of influence between them The result is the fruit of decades long experience in the teaching of the Turkic languages their philology and literature and also of a wealth of new insights into the linguistic phenomena and cultural interactions defining their development and use both historically and in the present day Each chapter combines modern linguistic analysis with traditional historical linguistics a uniform structure allows for easy typological comparison between the individual languages Written by an international team of experts The Turkic Languages will be invaluable to students and researchers within linguistics Turcology and Near Eastern and Oriental Studies

A typology of questions in Northeast Asia and beyond Andreas Hölzl,2018-08-29 This study investigates the distribution of linguistic and specifically structural diversity in Northeast Asia NEA defined as the region north of the Yellow River and east of the Yenisei In particular it analyzes what is called the grammar of questions GQ i e those aspects of any given language that are specialized for asking questions or regularly combine with these The bulk of the study is a bottom up description and comparison of GQs in the languages of NEA The addition of the phrase and beyond to the title of this study serves two purposes First languages such as Turkish and Chuvash are included despite the fact that they are spoken outside of NEA since they have ties to or even originated in the region Second despite its focus on one area the typology is intended to be applicable to other languages as well Therefore it makes extensive use of data from languages outside of NEA The restriction to one category is necessary for reasons of space and clarity and the process of zooming in on one region allows a higher resolution and historical accuracy than is usually the case in linguistic typology The discussion mentions over 450 languages and dialects from NEA and beyond and gives about 900 glossed examples The aim is to achieve both a cross linguistically plausible typology and a maximal resolution of the linguistic diversity of Northeast Asia Magazines and Modern Identities

Tim Satterthwaite, Andrew Thacker, 2023-09-21 In the late nineteenth and early twentieth century ideals of technological progress and mass consumerism shaped the print cultures of countries across the globe Magazines in Europe the USA Latin America and Asia inflected a shared internationalism and technological optimism But there were equally powerful countervailing influences of patriotic or insurgent nationalism and of traditionalism that promoted cultural differentiation In their editorials images and advertisements magazines embodied the tensions between these domestic imperatives and the forces of global modernity Magazines and Modern Identities explores how these tensions played out in the magazine cultures of ten different countries describing how publications drew on resisted and informed the ideals and visual forms of global modernism Chapters take in the magazines of Australia Europe and North America as well as China The Soviet Turkic states and Mexico With contributions from leading international scholars the book considers the pioneering developments in European and North American periodicals in the modernist period whilst expanding the field of enquiry to take in the vibrant magazine cultures of east Asia and Latin America The construction of these magazines modern ideals was a complex dialectical process in dialogue with international modernism but equally responsive to their local cultures and the beliefs and expectations of their readers Magazines and Modern Identities captures the diversity of these ideals in periodicals that both embraced and criticised the globalised culture of the technological era Adjective attribution Michael

Rießler, 2016-07-15 This book is the first typological study of adjective attribution marking Its focus lies on Northern Eurasia although it covers many more languages and presents an ontology of morphosyntactic categories relevant to noun phrase structure in general Beside treating synchronic data the study contributes to historical linguistics by reconstructing the origin of new types specifically in the language contact area between the Indo European and Uralic families Turkic Languages, 2004 The Turkic Languages Lars Johanson, 2006 Studies in Turkish Linguistics A. universal applicability Each volume of this annual series will have four major sections I Invited contributions consisting of state of the art essays on research in South Asian languages II Refereed open submissions focusing on relevant issues and providing various viewpoints III Reports from around the world book reviews and abstracts of doctoral theses IV A forum for dialogue critiques comments and discussions reports on research activities and conference announcements In the words of the Editor in Chief other than excellence and non isolationism we have no agenda and no thematic priorities This pioneering series will interest all those in the fields of sociolinguistics language studies grammar literature and sociology
