Trauma And The Memory Of Politics:

Trauma and the Memory of Politics Jenny Edkins, 2003-07-31 In this interesting study Jenny Edkins explores how we remember traumatic events such as wars famines genocides and terrorism and questions the assumed role of commemorations as simply reinforcing state and nationhood Taking examples from the World Wars Vietnam the Holocaust Kosovo and September 11th Edkins offers a thorough discussion of practices of memory such as memorials museums remembrance ceremonies the diagnosis of post traumatic stress and the act of bearing witness She examines the implications of these commemorations in terms of language political power sovereignty and nationalism She argues that some forms of remembering do not ignore the horror of what happened but rather use memory to promote change and to challenge the political systems that produced the violence of wars and genocides in the first place This wide ranging study embraces literature history politics and international relations and makes a significant contribution to the study of memory

Memory, Trauma and World Politics D. Bell, 2006-10-20 Memory Trauma and World Politics focuses on the effect that the memory of traumatic episodes especially war and genocide has on shaping contemporary political identities Theoretically sophisticated and empirically rich this book is an incisive treatment of the ways in which the study of social memory can inform global politics analysis

Shadows of Trauma Aleida Assmann, 2016 The book traces the process of creating of a new German memory of the Holocaust after the fall of the Wall Combining theoretical analysis with historical case studies the book revisits crucial debates and controversial issues out of which Germany's new memory culture emerged as a collective project and work in progress

Handbook on the Politics of Memory Maria Mäklsoo, 2023-01-20 Providing a novel multi disciplinary theorization of memory politics this insightful Handbook brings varied literatures into a focused dialogue on the ways in which the past is remembered and how these influence transnational interstate and global politics in the present

The Politics of Haunting and Memory in International Relations Jessica Auchter, 2014-03-21 International Relations has traditionally focused on conflict and war but the effects of violence including dead bodies and memorialization practices have largely been considered beyond the purview of the field Drawing on Jacques Derrida's notion of hauntology to consider the politics of life and death Auchter traces the story of how life and death and a clear division between the two is summoned in the project of statecraft She argues that by letting ourselves be haunted or looking for ghosts it is possible to trace how statecraft relies on the construction of such a dichotomy Three empirical cases offer fertile ground for complicating the picture often painted of memorialization Rwandan genocide memorials the underexplored case of undocumented immigrants who die crossing the US Mexico border and the body ruins nexus in 9 11 memorialization Focusing on the role of dead bodies and the construction of particular spaces as the appropriate sites for memory to be situated it offers an alternative take on the new materialisms movement in international relations by asking after the questions that arise from an ethnographic approach to the subject viewing things from the perspective of dead bodies who occupy the shadowy world of post conflict international politics This work will be of great interest to students and scholars of critical international relations security studies statecraft and memory studies Defending Memory in Global Politics Erica Resende, Dovilė Budrytė, Douglas Becker, 2025-01-27 This book explores the securitization of memory in times of crisis using overlooked cases from the Global South and the Global North Instead of focusing exclusively on national identities and state actors it explores various identities including substate and transnational actors and their role in defending memory during times of crisis Embracing a broad definition of conflict that includes mnemonic societal and armed conflicts the expert contributors engage with political trauma demonstrating its power to evoke commemorations and other shared practices of collective remembrance shaping and perpetuating collective memory the construction of national and transnational identities national interests and foreign policy behaviors The book contributes to the fields of memory and trauma studies and ontological security in international relations It will also be of interest to scholars and students of political science sociology international relations history nationalism and identity international studies cultural geography social psychology cultural studies and anthropology
