Voice From The Planet:

The Voice of the Earth Theodore Roszak, 1993 Discusses how humans psychological and physical well being is linked to the health of the planet including issues such as the Anthropic Principle and the Gaia Hypothesis Reading with Earth Anne Elvey, 2022-08-25 Winner of the 2023 ANZATS Award for the Best Monograph by an Established Scholar Applying a re envisioned ecological feminist hermeneutics this book builds on two important responses to twentieth and twenty first century situations of ecological trauma especially the complex contexts of climate change and cross species relations first ecological feminism second ecological hermeneutics in the Earth Bible tradition By way of readings of selected biblical texts this book suggests that an ecological feminist aesthetic bringing present situation and biblical text into conversation through engagement with activism and literature principally poetry is helpful in decolonizing ethics Such an approach is both informed by and speaks back to the new materialism in ecological criticism "The Space of Words" Jennifer Miller Hoyer, 2014 Nelly Sachs 1891 1970 has long been regarded as one of the most significant Holocaust poets Her conception of language and words as a landscape has been understood by scholars and critics as an exilic ersatz Heimat for the lost German homeland of a displaced poet This reading however is based entirely on her postwar poems Such an isolated approach to her complex body of work is increasingly historically problematic it is also at odds with Sachs s generally cyclical poetic process In The Space of Words Jennifer Hoyer offers the first sustained critical analysis of Sachs s largely unanalyzed prewar poetry and prose as well as the first analysis that examines structural and thematic ties between the prewar works and the Nobel Prize winning postwar poetry Through close readings of both Sachs s prewar and postwar works Hoyer reveals a diasporic rather than exilic conception of the landscape of language a position of constant wandering rather than static longing for return This diasporic poetics promotes the intellectual and linguistic power of the wanderer and opens new insights into Sachs s essential significance as a Holocaust poet and a twentieth century German Jewish writer wary of the link of literary language to geopolitics and the narrative of nations Jennifer M Hoyer is Assistant Professor of German at the University of Arkansas Charting the Supernatural Judgements of Planet Earth Jerimiah Asher, 2010-08-10 Chapter 3 The First Judgment The World Prior To Adam There may have been many judgments upon the earth since its beginning millions or billions of years ago however the present commentary will deal only with the last tens of thousands of years of earth s existence In Genesis 1 2 the verses written by Moses as author of the Genesis account portray an earth that was veiled in darkness so that its form could not be discerned The earth at that time was covered with water ice high above the mountain tops so that it gave the appearance of being a dark revolving sphere of frozen water Table 2 God s spirit is described as hovering over this revolving ball of water and brooding over the sad condition of this dark void planet God did not create a dark and dismal planet at the beginning because God does not create darkness in fact darkness is incompatible with His existence and presence So what had happened that God viewed Gen 1 2 such a decrepit state of the world Does scripture attempt to explain this phenomenon or does the inspired word of God remain silent on this issue It was first proposed as a theory by the Scotsman Thomas Chalmers in the early 19th century that a gap in time existed between Genesis 1:1 and Genesis 1:2 This gap in time would encompass a ruin reconstruction theme and the existence of pre Adamic living beings Obviously a huge catastrophic event would have had to occur to produce this decadent state of the world The gap concept was later popularized by mention in the margin notes of the Scofield Reference Bible

Postcolonial Poetry and the Environment Pramod K. Nayar, 2025-10-30 Examining a wide variety of poets from the last three decades of the 20th century to the present from Asian African South American and settler colonies such as Canada and Australia Pramod K Nayar maps a poetry of ecological care vulnerability and resilience While environmental fiction has been widely studied environmental poetry has not received the same level of attention In Postcolonial Poetry and the Environment Nayar studies the work of over 50 poets from the Global South and the formerly colonized including John Kinsella Tanure Ojaide Linda Hogan Kofi Awonoor Okot p Bitek Ben Okri and Sherwin Bitsui He traces an ecological consciousness that cuts across human and nonhuman living and non living domains This book is interested in the making unmaking and remaking of worlds and meanings in the age of cataclysmic climate shifts while aware of the histories that fashioned the planet in unjust and unequal ways and to which the poets bear witness as well as proposing alternative ways of seeing and meaning making

After World's End Jack Williamson, 2015-02-23 When adventurer Barry Horn is chosen to be the world's first Rocketeer the first human to set foot on other worlds he is reluctant to accept the job until he receives a vision seemingly from his late wife telling him he must go or all humanity will be lost When his mission goes wrong he winds up in a suspended state Conscious that he has failed but unable to move he has visions of mankind through the centuries He witnesses his descendants going into space creating the first living robot sees the rise of the Robot Corporation and its enslavement of man When he is finally awakened Barry finds that the knowledge he possesses after his long slumber is man's last hope to survive against the robots Hugo and Nebula Award winner Jack Williamson has crafted a sweeping epic of space opera harkening back to the Buck Rogers and Flash Gordon serials of the 1930s
