identification and empathy and genre study to represent the depth and breadth of publication since the journal's founding. Also included are ideas for classroom activities that engage with these works.

Teaching Evidence-Based Writing: Nonfiction Leslie Blauman, 2016-10-14 At heart learning to read and write analytically is learning to think well. For Evidence-Based Writing Nonfiction, renowned teacher Leslie Blauman combed the standards and her classroom bookshelves to craft lessons that use the best nonfiction picture books, biographies, and article excerpts to make writing about reading a clear, concrete process. Students learn to analyze and cite evidence about main idea, point of view, visuals, and words and structure. And best of all, your students gain a confidence in responding to complex texts and ideas that will serve them well in school, on tests, and in any situation when they are asked, "What are you basing that on? Show me how you know."

Reconsidering Read-aloud Mary Lee Hahn, 2002 Includes the following information: Classroom vignettes that demonstrate how read-aloud conversations are teachable moments; Suggestions for choosing books; Examples of teaching strategies that work especially well during read-alouds; and Discussion of the role of evaluation and assessment in read-aloud.

The International Handbook of Teacher Ethos Fritz Oser, Karin Heinrichs, Johannes Bauer, Terence Lovat, 2021-08-05 This volume is the first handbook that brings together cutting-edge international research on teacher ethos from a broad array of disciplines. The main focus will be on research that illustrates current conceptualizations of ethos and its importance for acting effectively and responsibly in and out of the classroom. Research will encompass updated empirical and philosophical work that points to the difference in learning when teaching is practised as a moral activity instead of a merely functional one. Authors are among the world's foremost researchers whose work crosses over from moral education into psychology, neuroscience, sociology, philosophy, pedagogy, and curriculum, drawing on these various fields of research. Today more than ever we understand that teachers like other professionals need more than subject-matter expertise for acting responsibly and doing their best in their daily duties. Doing so requires possessing a guiding system of professional ethics, moral positioning, goals, norms, and values—in other words, a professional ethos. While the handbook concentrates on Western domains in the current era, the work will extend to other cultures and times as well. With this comprehensive range of perspectives, the book will be attractive and useful for researchers on teachers and teaching as well as for teacher educators, curriculum designers, educational officials, and last but not least, anyone who is interested in what makes a good teacher. This volume is also a tribute to Fritz Oser, a leading scholar in research on ethos who sadly passed away during the compilation of this handbook.
