Abstract: This study examined the effects of a 12-week, 100% body weight (BW) resistance training program on the strength and body composition of 12 sedentary, middle-aged men. The program consisted of three sessions per week, each including a 10-minute warm-up, followed by a 45-minute resistance training session, and a 10-minute cool-down. The resistance training session was divided into three parts: a 15-minute circuit of 10 exercises, a 15-minute circuit of 10 exercises, and a 15-minute circuit of 10 exercises. The results showed that the program significantly increased muscle strength and body composition. The mean values for the pre-test and post-test are shown in the table below.
