

VOLCANOES

INSIDE OUT

Volcanoes are like sleeping giants. After years — even centuries — of rest, they awake. Some powerful eruptions blow tops off mountains, flatten forests, and dam up rivers. Volcanoes also shape the Earth. They build islands, mountains, plains, lakes, and the ocean floor.

The roots of volcanoes lie 40 to 120 miles inside the Earth in a layer called the mantle. Temperatures there are as hot as 4000° F, so hot that rock melts like a chocolate bar on a summer day. The hot, melted rock becomes a thick, flowing substance called magma. Magma is lighter than the solid rock surrounding it, and it pushes up through cracks in the Earth.

Segregation by Experience Jennifer Keys Adair,Kiyomi Sánchez-Suzuki Colegrove,2021-05-03 Early childhood can be a time of rich discovery a period when educators have an opportunity to harness their students fascination to create unique learning opportunities Some teachers engage with their students ideas in ways that make learning collaborative but not all students have access to these kinds of learning environments In Segregation by Experience the authors filmed and studied a a first grade classroom led by a Black immigrant teacher who encouraged her diverse group of students to exercise their agency When the researchers showed the film to other schools everyone struggled Educators admired the teacher but didn t think her practices would work with their own Black and brown students Parents of color many of them immigrants liked many of the practices but worried that they would compromise their children And the young children who viewed the film thought that the kids in the film were terrible loud and badly behaved they told the authors that learning was supposed to be quiet still and obedient In Segregation by Experience Jennifer Keys Adair and Kiyomi Sanchez Suzuki Colegrove show us just how much our expectations of children of color affect what and how they learn at school and they ask us to consider which children get to have sophisticated dynamic learning experiences at school and which children are denied such experiences because of our continued racist assumptions about them
