LaMothe,2018-10-22 The relationship between religion and dance is as old as humankind Contemporary methods for studying this relationship date back a century The difference between these two time frames is significant scholars are still developing theories and methods capable of illuminating this vast history that take account of their limited place within it A History of Theory and Method in the Study of Religion and Dance takes on a primary challenge of doing so overcoming a conceptual dichotomy between religion and dance forged in the colonial era that justified western Christian hostility towards dance traditions across six continents over six centuries Beginning with its enlightenment roots LaMothe narrates a selective history of this dichotomy revealing its ongoing work in separating dance studies from religious studies Turning to the Bushmen of the African Kalahari LaMothe introduces an ecokinetic approach that provides scholars with conceptual resources for mapping the generative interdependence of phenomena that appear as dance and or religion Deep Liberation Langston Kahn,2021-01-19 Drawing on indigenous wisdom traditions a shamanic healer offers a body based approach to working through the fears and trauma that inhibit transformation and growth To create a world free from oppression we each have to face the ways that we maintain toxic social systems within ourselves In indigenous cultures throughout the world it s understood that true transformation starts in the body with a change of heart Shamanic healer Langston Kahn offers the Deep Liberation Process a body based approach that allows us to radically transform the range of fear based stories we each hold in ourselves from traumatic experiences internalized oppression and habitual emotional patterns to the outmoded beliefs that hold us back from healing transforming and freeing our authenticity and unique genius Bridging the shamanic wisdom of ancient spirituality with the needs and demands of modern day life Kahn offers concrete skills to cultivate deep grounding skillful boundaries and a healthy energy body methods for authentic shadow work and healing our triggers and tools for effectively tending personal and collective well being in community With Deep Liberation our sacred calling is made accessible to all who are willing to listen for it within themselves adrienne maree brown author of Pleasure Activism Sound Changes Daniel Fischlin,Eric Porter,2021-05-17 Sound Changes responds to a need in improvisation studies for more work that addresses the diversity of global improvisatory practices and argues that by beginning to understand the particular material experiences of sonic realities that are different from our own we can address the host of other factors that are imparted or sublimated in performance These factors range from the intimate affect associated with a particular performer s capacity to generate a distinctive voicing or the addition of an unexpected sonic intervention only possible with one particular configuration of players in a specific space and time Through a series of case studies drawn from Africa Asia the Americas and Oceania Sound Changes offers readers an introduction to a range of musical expressions across the globe in which improvisation plays a key role and the book demonstrates that improvisation is a vital site for the production of emergent social relationships and meanings. As it does this work Sound Changes situates the increasingly transcultural dimensions of improvised music in relation to emergent networks and technologies changing patterns of migration and immigration shifts in the political economy of music and other social cultural and economic factors. Improvisation studies is a recently developed but growing interdisciplinary field of study. The discipline which has only truly come into focus in the early part of the twenty first century has been building a lexicon of key terms and developing assumptions about core practices. Yet the full breadth of improvisatory practices has remained a vexed if not impossibly ambitious subject of study. This volume offers a step forward in the movement away from critical tendencies that tend to homogenize and reduce practices and vocabularies in the name of the familiar.

Earthly Things Karen Bray, Whitney Bauman, 2023-10-03 Globalization and climate weirding are two of the leading phenomena that challenge and change the way we need to think and act within the planetary community. Modern Western understandings of human beings, animals and the rest of the natural world and the subsequent technologies built on those understandings have thrown us into an array of social and ecological crises with planetary implications. Earthly Things: Immanence, New Materialisms and Planetary Thinking argues that more immanent or planetary ways of thinking and acting have great potential for rethinking human technology, animal Earth relationships and for addressing problems of global climate weirding and other forms of ecological degradation. Older and often marginalized forms of thought from animisms, shamanisms and other religious traditions are joined by more recent forms of thinking with immanence such as the universe story, process thought, emergence theory, the new materialisms, NM's object oriented ontologies, OOO's affect theory and queer theory. This book maps out some of the connections and differences between immanent frameworks to provide some eco intellectual commons for thinking within the planetary community with a particular emphasis on making connections between more recent theories and older ideas of immanence found in many of the world's religious traditions. The authors in this volume met and worked together over five years so the resulting volume reveals sustained and multifaceted perspectives on thinking and acting with the planet.

Culturing the Body Benjamin Collins, April Nowell, 2024-03-01 The human body is both the site of lived experiences and a means of communicating those experiences to a diverse audience. Hominins have been culturing their bodies that is adding social and cultural meaning through the use of pigments and objects for over 100 000 years. There is archaeological evidence for practices of adornment of the body by late Pleistocene and early Holocene hominins including personal ornaments, clothing, hairstyles, body painting and tattoos. These practices have been variously interpreted to reflect differences such as gender, status and ethnicity to attract or intimidate others and as indices of a symbolically mediated self and personal identity. These studies contribute to a novel and growing body of evidence for diversity of cultural expression in the past, something that is a hallmark of human cultures today.
