A Spectacular Leap Jennifer H. Lansbury, 2014-04-01 When high jumper Alice Coachman won the high jump title at the 1941 national championships with a spectacular leap African American women had been participating in competitive sport for close to twenty five years Yet it would be another twenty years before they would experience something akin to the national fame and recognition that African American men had known since the 1930s the days of Joe Louis and Jesse Owens From the 1920s when black women athletes were confined to competing within the black community through the heady days of the late twentieth century when they ruled the world of women's track and field African American women found sport opened the door to a better life However they also discovered that success meant challenging perceptions that many Americans both black and white held of them Through the stories of six athletes Coachman Ora Washington Althea Gibson Wilma Rudolph Wyomia Tyus and Jackie Joyner Kersee Jennifer H Lansbury deftly follows the emergence of black women athletes from the African American community their confrontations with contemporary attitudes of race class and gender and their encounters with the civil rights movement Uncovering the various strategies the athletes use to beat back stereotypes Lansbury explores the fullness of African American women's relationship with sport in the twentieth century Bird-lore ,1909 The Musical Times and Singing-class Circular ,1912 Field and Stream ,1929 Audubon ,1909 The Musical Times & Singing-class Circular ,1912 Sensibility and English Song Stephen Banfield, 1985 This highly acclaimed study of English song is the first detailed account of an unusually fruitful interrelationship between English music and English poetry The period covered is known as the English Musical Renaissance and runs from the last years of the nineteenth century to the Second World War Stephen Banfield traces the late flowering of Romantic impulses in solo song during these years surveying it from critical analytical and historical angles He plots the growth of the English stylistic sensibility in song in the decades leading up to the First World War discusses in detail the plateau it reached between the wars particularly in the 1920s and shows how and why it declined as other musical concerns took the field Poets whose verse was set to music most frequently including Housman Hardy de la Mare and Yeats are treated at length as are pre eminent song composers such as Butterworth Finzi Gurney Ireland Quilter Somervell Stanford Vaughan Williams and Warlock In all more than fifty composers are discussed and numerous individual songs In the final section of the book besides providing an extensive bibliography Dr Banfield catalogues over 5 000 songs giving dates of composition and publication and much other detail listed by composer This comprehensive survey will prove an invaluable reference guide to all students of the subject
