Solomon, Jude Cocodia, 2023-03-11 Much has been written on security in Africa its democratic deficit poor civil military relations and myriad conflicts but these are often treated in isolation from one another This book takes a different approach as it links all of these issues to the dynamics of the Anthropocene Penned by African scholars on the continent and in the diaspora it examines the different challenges not as separate entities but as outcomes of the Anthropocene Age In this geological epoch humans have become a global force unfortunately not necessarily for good The interaction between humans and the climate the effects of waste the impact of pollution on marine and terrestrial ecosystems the loss of biodiversity and the change in the chemical composition of the soil oceans and atmosphere are key identifiers of the age of the Anthropocene

This has fueled conflict and instability from the vast swathes of the Sahel to Somalia Responding to these issues of insecurity without understanding their inter connectedness and how this relates to the environment can only result in failure From this perspective the current structures in place are inadequate for the task of confronting insecurity at the state and continental levels as represented by the African Union What is needed is a radical reevaluation of Africa s security architecture and approach to security This necessitates pooling sovereignty on a continental and global level It necessitates less state centric responses that include civil society and the business community as equal partners of states in order to collectively confront insecurity in the age of the Anthropocene The authors are academics policy makers and military veterans who have worked in building capacity on the African continent The book is comprehensive in scope strong on theory pragmatic in policy and reflects experience from the field The authors approach makes the book easy interesting and intriguing Inclusive Education in South African Further and Higher Education Tsediso Michael Makoelle,Cina P.
