Contested Antiquity Esther Solomon, 2021-02-02 While the archaeological legacies of Greece and Cyprus are often considered to represent some of the highest values of Western civilization democracy progress aesthetic harmony and rationalism this much adored and heavily touristed heritage can quickly become the stage for clashes over identity and memory In Contested Antiquity Esther Solomon curates explorations of how those who safeguard cultural heritage are confronted with the best ways to represent this heritage responsibly How should visitors be introduced to an ancient Byzantine fortification that still holds the grim reminders of the cruel prison it was used as until the 1980s How can foreign archaeological institutes engage with another nation's heritage in a meaningful way. What role do locals have in determining what is sacred and can this sense of the sacred extend beyond buildings to the surrounding land? Together the essays featured in Contested Antiquity offer fresh insights into the ways ancient heritage is negotiated for modern times.

Pottery, Pavements, and Paradise Annewies van den Hoek, John Joseph Herrmann, 2013-09-26 These essays on late antiquity traverse a territory in which Christian and pagan imagery and practices compete, coexist and intermingle. The iconography of the most significant late antique ceramic, African Red Slip Ware, is an important and relatively unexploited vehicle for documenting the diversity and interpenetration of late antique cultures. Literary texts and art in other media, particularly mosaics, provide imagery that complement and enhance the messages of the ceramics. Popular entertainments, pagan cults, mythic heroes, beasts, monsters and biblical visions are themes dealt with on the patrician and popular levels. With interpretive supplements from these diverse realms, it is possible to achieve greater insight into the life attitudes and thought of Late Antiquity.

Later Byzantine Painting Robert S. Nelson, 2007 Written over nearly three decades, the fifteen essays involve the three A's of the title: art, agency and appreciation. The first refers to the general subject matter of the book: Byzantine art, chiefly painting of the twelfth through the fourteenth centuries; the second to its often human-like agency; and the last to its historical reception. The series begins with art works themselves and with the imagery and iconography of church decoration and manuscript illumination, shifts to the ways that objects act in the world and affect their beholders, and concludes with more general appreciations of Byzantine art in case studies from the thirteenth century to the present.

Urban and Religious Spaces in Late Antiquity and Early Byzantium J.-M. Spieser,2001 Professor Spieser deals here with a number of the transformations that took place in the world of Late Antiquity and early Christianity focusing upon notions of space The first set of articles opening with a newly written introductory essay addresses the development of urban landscapes from the Roman period up to the iconoclast era in Byzantium In particular he looks at the consequences of christianisation and argues that the changing fortunes of the town cannot be attributed to a few causes such as war or natural disaster but resulted from a complex interplay between the economy and ideology religion and politics A second group concerned with the relationship of late antique man with his surroundings and therefore his perception of space sets out to explain how the decoration of churches on apses for example or on doors reflects new senses of how religious spaces should be organised Six of these studies have been translated into English for this volume and it ends with an important section of additional notes and comment Spaziergänge durch das byzantinische Thessaloniki Eutychia
