War And Genocide Organised Killing In Modern Society:

War and Genocide Martin Shaw, 2015-01-05 This comprehensive introduction to the study of war and genocide presents a disturbing case that the potential for slaughter is deeply rooted in the political economic social and ideological relations of the modern world Most accounts of war and genocide treat them as separate phenomena This book thoroughly examines the links between these two most inhuman of human activities It shows that the generally legitimate business of war and the monstrous crime of genocide are closely related This is not just because genocide usually occurs in the midst of war but because genocide is a form of war directed against civilian populations The book shows how fine the line has been in modern history between degenerate war involving the mass destruction of civilian populations and genocide the deliberate destruction of civilian groups as such Written by one of the foremost sociological writers on war War and Genocide has four main features an original argument about the meaning and causes of mass killing in the modern world a guide to the main intellectual resources military political and social theories necessary to understand war and genocide summaries of the main historical episodes of slaughter from the trenches of the First World War to the Nazi Holocaust and the killing fields of Cambodia Bosnia and Rwanda practical guides to further reading courses and websites This book examines war and genocide together with their opposites peace and justice It looks at them from the standpoint of victims as well as perpetrators It is an important book for anyone wanting to understand and overcome the continuing salience of destructive forces in modern society

Genocidal Violence Frank Jacob, Kim Sebastian Todzi, 2023-11-06 This volume offers an introduction about theoretical concepts forms and the impact of genocidal violence It thereby intends to serve as a source of texts that can be used in a variety of introductory courses on genocide and the violence that occurs during genocidal events in particular It will consequently also offer a survey on debates and recent research about the history sociology and psychology of violence

Genocide, the World Wars and the Unweaving of Europe Donald Bloxham, 2008 The murder of at least one million Armenian Christians in 1915 16 and of some six million Jews from 1939 45 were the most extreme instances of mass murder in the First and Second World Wars respectively This book examines the development and dynamics of both genocides While bringing out the many differences in the origins course and nature of the crimes the book argues that both need to be placed into the context of the wider violent agendas and demographic schemes of the perpetrator states In the earlier case it is important to consider the Ottoman violence against Assyrian Christians and Greek Orthodox subjects and programs of forced assimilation of non Turkish Muslim groups including many Muslims victimized by other states In the later case it is impossible to understand the development of the final solution of the Jewish question without paying attention to Nazi policy against Slavic groups the disabled and Europe s Romany population Both genocides furthermore need to be examined in the deeper contexts of the multi causal violence resulting from the collapse of the eastern and southeastern European dynastic empires from the late nineteenth century and from the establishment of new types of state in their aftermath Finally the book explains why these two major genocides occupy very different places in our contemporary memorial culture It argues that the memory politics of the Armenian genocide illustrate the very tight limits to what we can expect in the way of meaningful international concern for ongoing genocides Meanwhile the instrumentalization of the memory of the Holocaust can actually inhibit self criticism on the parts of the western states that increasingly foreground Holocaust memorial days and museums in their civic education

Pacifism as War Abolitionism Cheyney

Ryan,2024-03-12 Responding to the unprecedented violence of our times and the corresponding interest in nonviolent solutions this book takes up the heart of pacifism its critique of what pacifists have termed the war system Pacifism as War Abolitionism provides an account of the war system that draws on contemporary sociology history and political philosophy The core of its critique of that system is that war begets war and hence war will not be ended or even constrained by finding more principled ways to fight war as many imagine War can only be ended by ending the war system which can only be done nonviolently This has been the message of pacifism s great voices like Gandhi Dr Martin Luther King Jr and Dorothy Day It is the principal message of this book Key Features Draws extensively on the sociological and historical research on war to expand the usual philosophical discussion beyond hypothetical accounts Expands the dialogues on the ethics of war beyond just war theory to its principal alternative pacifism Engages discussion of empire and imperialism in relation to the logic and development of the war system Presents pacifism s response to the reality of war today including the idea of never ending war

The Crime of All Crimes Nicole Rafter,2016-03-29 Cambodia Rwanda Armenia Nazi Germany History remembers these places as the sites of unspeakable crimes against humanity and indisputably of genocide Yet throughout the twentieth century the world has seen many instances of violence committed by states against certain groups within their borders from the colonial ethnic cleansing the Germans committed against the Herero tribe in Africa to the Katyn Forest Massacre in which the Soviets shot over 20 000 Poles to anti communist mass murders in 1960s Indonesia Are mass crimes against humanity like these still genocide And how can an understanding of crime and criminals shed new light on how genocide the crime of all crimes transpires In The Crime of All Crimes criminologist Nicole Rafter takes an innovative approach to the study of genocide by comparing eight diverse genocides large scale and small well known and obscure through the lens of criminal behavior Rafter explores different models of genocidal activity reflecting on the popular use of the Holocaust as a model for genocide and ways in which other genocides conform to different patterns For instance Rafter questions the assumption that only ethnic groups are targeted for genocidal cleansing and she also urges that actions such as genocidal rape be considered alongside traditional instances of genocidal violence Further by examining the causes of genocide on different levels Rafter is able to construct profiles of typical victims and perpetrators and discuss means of preventing genocide in addition to delving into the social psychology of genocidal behavior and the ways in which genocides are brought to an end A sweeping and innovative investigation into the most tragic of events in the modern world The Crime of All Crimes will fundamentally change how we think about genocide in the present day The Oxford Handbook of Terrorism Erica Chenoweth, Richard English, Andreas Gofas, Stathis N. Kalyvas, 2019-03-19 The Oxford Handbook of Terrorism systematically integrates the substantial body of scholarship on terrorism and counterterrorism before and after 9 11 In doing so it introduces scholars and practitioners to state of the art approaches methods and issues in studying and teaching these vital phenomena This Handbook goes further than most existing collections by giving structure and direction to the fast growing but somewhat disjointed field of terrorism studies The volume locates terrorism within the wider spectrum of political violence instead of engaging in the widespread tendency towards treating terrorism as an exceptional act Moreover the volume makes a case for studying terrorism within its socio historical context Finally the volume addresses the critique that the study of terrorism suffers from lack of theory by reviewing and extending the theoretical insights contributed by several fields including political science political economy history sociology anthropology criminology law geography and psychology In doing so the volume showcases the analytical advancements and reflects on the challenges that remain since the emergence of the field in the early 1970s Postgenocide Klejda Mulaj, 2021-03-15 This volume introduces postgenocide as a novel approach to study genocide and its effects after mass killing has ended It investigates how the material violence of genocide translates into contests over memory remembrance and laws and the re imagining of political community Contributions come from academics across a broad range of disciplines including law political science sociology and ethnography Chapters in this volume explore the various permutations of genocide harms and scrutinise the efficacy of genocide laws and the prospects for their enforcement Others engage with socio political responses to genocide including efforts to reconciliation as well as genocide s impacts on victims communities Contributions examine the reconstruction of genocide narratives in the display of victims objects in museums galleries and archives This book brings together cutting edge research from a variety of disciplines to address formerly overlooked themes and cases exploring what a diversity of perspectives can bring to bear on genocide scholarship as a whole Regionalism and Human Protection Charles T. Hunt, Noel M. Morada, 2018-11-26 This book provides a detailed examination of how norms concerning human rights civilian protection and prevention of mass atrocities have fared in the regions of Southeast Asia and Africa Originated as a spin off of the journal GR2P vol 8 2 3 2016 it has been enriched with new chapters and revised contents which contrast the different experiences of those regions and investigates the expression of human protection norms in regional organisations and thematic policy agendas as well as the role of civil society mechanisms processes Hunt and Morada have brought together scholar practitioners from across the world The collection identifies a range of insights that provide rich opportunities for south south exchange and mutual learning when it comes to promoting and building capacity for human protection at the regional level Communicating War Sarah Maltby, Richard Keeble, 2007 Wars are now mediated in unprecedented ways and through a variety of communicative forms Correspondingly there is an increasing awareness among those involved in war of the need to gauge and manage what is communicated Communicating War Media Memory and Military contextualises these developments by locating the emergence of recent wars and terrorist activity in a wider frame of global socio political change highlighting the social political and historical aspects of communicating war This includes the remembering and forgetting of wars through cultures of collective memory and media selectivity the organization practice and culture of media institutions in the mediation of war information and the strategic use of information by military institutions and terrorist organizations in the execution of war and terrorist acts Remaining sensitive to the complexities of conflict the book moves beyond a focus on UK and US interventions and reflects upon the communication of war in relation to all forms of conflict particularly terrorism and under reported civil conflicts Adopting a multi disciplinary approach Communicating War Media Military will be of interest to students in journalism media war and peace studies international relations and international politics Contributors include practitioners from within the journalistic and military communities and international scholars from a broad range of social sciences Stuart Allan David Altheide Chris Atton Oliver Boyd Barrett Nico Carpentier Neal Curtis Richard Keeble Andrew Hoskins Makram Khoury Machool Sarah Maltby Donald Matheson Lara Pawson Ron Schleifer Martin Shaw Angus Taverner John Tulloch Howard Tumber and Jeremy Tunstall REVIEWERS COMMENTS Few topics of media research affect us more personally and emotionally than how media represents war and the military's partly hidden role in that process Communicating War is a wide ranging and important contribution to that debate which also has the advantage of being right up to date Essential reading Nick Couldry Professor of Media and Communications Goldsmiths University of London We live in an age where the relationship between war and communications media is more complex and more urgent than ever before Communicating War is therefore to be welcomed Its rich collection sets the agenda as does the War and Media Network from which it emerges Crucially the collection reminds us of that which is forgotten which can be as important in the war media relationship today as those things embedded in memory James Gow Professor of International Peace and Security Kings College London A timely and hugely valuable contribution to the scholarly literature on news about conflict and war The range of contributors and the variety of themes covered make this collection essential reading for students and researchers of conflict reporting in the post 9 11 world Brian McNair Professor of Journalism and Communication University of Strathclyde Communicating War is a timely collection of great diversity bringing both historical depth and theoretical sophistication to a range of urgent contemporary debates about the media's role in war Philip Hammond Reader in Media and Communications London South Bank University Deactivating War Natalia Maria Springer, 2006 Removing Peoples Richard Bessel, Claudia B. Haake, 2009 The forced removal of human beings from their homes for political economic racial religious or cultural reasons is a tragic hallmark of the modern age The development of a global economy modern race thinking world wars popular and national sovereignty and new technological means have given this phenomenon a new character Korea Observer , 2006 International Journal of Contemporary

Sociology, 2004 Genocide and International Relations Martin Shaw, 2013-09-19 Genocide and International Relations lays the foundations for a new perspective on genocide in the modern world Genocide studies have been influenced negatively as well as positively by the political and cultural context in which the field has developed In particular a narrow vision of comparative studies has been influential in which genocide is viewed mainly as a domestic phenomenon of states This book emphasizes the international context of genocide seeking to specify more precisely the relationships between genocide and the international system Shaw aims to re interpret the classical European context of genocide in this frame to provide a comprehensive international perspective on Cold War and post Cold War genocide and to re evaluate the key transitions of the end of the Second World War and the end of the Cold War Political Issues in the World Today Don MacIver, 2004 This text provides a comprehensive account of the most salient political issues in world politics and explains their significance in a way that is accessible to students and non specialists alike The end of the Cold War led to a widespread feeling of relief and talk of a new world order Optimism however was short lived and a whole range of difficult new issues including ethnic conflict refugees terrorism and world security have come to the fore A number of ethical and moral issues such as poverty human rights and religion has moved up the agenda of world politics A new set of problems involving the environment technology and health care has impacted on the policy systems of states and international organizations The contributors to this collection provide a basis for understanding emerging issues on the global stage

International Human Rights Jack Donnelly, 2007 A definitive and concise introduction to international human rights updated with two new chapters addressing globalism and terrorism Mediatized Conflict Simon Cottle, 2006 Annotation This important book brings together the latest research findings and theoretical discussions to develop an encompassing multidimensional and sophisticated understanding of the social complexities political dynamics and cultural forms of mediatized conflicts in the world today Jacket
