

A person is seen from behind, climbing a large sand dune. The dune's surface is covered in rhythmic, horizontal ripples. A trail of footprints leads from the foreground up the dune towards the person. The sky is a gradient of colors from deep blue to bright orange, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The overall mood is one of perseverance and the beginning of a journey.

Wanderlust When The Trip Isn't The Journey:

Vagabondage: A Timeless Reaction to the Malignancy of Western Civilization Ian Cutler, 2025-04-22 This book concerns why the writers featured sought to exile themselves from mainstream society not least by embracing the natural world and an ascetic lifestyle With the help of generous references from the 30 plus vagabond writers featured plus many more contributions from secondary texts Cutler has identified what he regards as the key features of the temperament and philosophy of those who rejected mannered conventional society for a vagabond life Each chapter addresses a different aspect of vagabondage under such themes as wanderlust the compulsion not to live a settled existence asceticism affinity with nature the desire to retain the innocence and mischief of childhood aloofness yet compassion for the rest of human kind and the rejection of formal education for knowledge experienced via their own senses Refusing to be compromised by the grand narratives of religion politics law nationalism and convention they regarded themselves as citizens of the universe rather than slaves of what they regarded as geographical and political states artificially created by humans Cutler attempts to rescue from obscurity the philosophy first espoused by the ancient Cynics and now practiced outside of any organized movement by this disparate group of thinkers and writers by presenting arguments and conclusions that are original to this work

Traveling in Place Bernd Stiegler,2024-05-31 Armchair travel may seem like an oxymoron Doesn t travel require us to leave the house And yet anyone who has lost herself for hours in the descriptive pages of a novel or the absorbing images of a film knows the very real feeling of having explored and experienced a different place or time without ever leaving her seat No passport no currency no security screening required the luxury of armchair travel is accessible to us all In Traveling in Place Bernd Stiegler celebrates this convenient magical means of transport in all its many forms Organized into twenty one legs or short chapters Traveling in Place begins with a consideration of Xavier de Maistre s 1794 Voyage autour de ma chambre an account of the forty two day journey around his room Maistre undertook as a way to entertain himself while under house arrest Stiegler is fascinated by the notion of exploring the familiar as though it were completely new and strange He engages writers as diverse as Roussel Beckett Perec Robbe Grillet Cort zar Kierkegaard and Borges all of whom show how the everyday can be brilliantly transformed Like the best guidebooks Traveling in Place is more interested in the idea of travel as a state of mind than as a physical activity and Stiegler reflects on the different ways that traveling at home have manifested themselves in the modern era from literature and film to the virtual possibilities of the Internet blogs and contemporary art Reminiscent of the pictorial meditations of Sebald but possessed of the intellectual playfulness of Calvino Traveling in Place offers an entertaining and creative Baedeker to journeying at home
