Victorian houses of Mississippi, Showcases a selection of 143 houses that exemplify Victorian tastes in residential design revealing the high level of craftsmanship that went into their design and construction along with specific details such as spindlework elaborate gable ornamentation and striking dormers.

The Victorian House Judith Flanders, 2003. A middle class home circa 1850 of the sort that many people live in today is the focus of Judith Flanders' book. The Victorian age is both recent and unimaginably distant. In the most prosperous and technologically advanced nation in the world, people carried slops up and down stairs, buried meat in fresh earth to prevent mould, wrung sheets out in boiling water with their bare hands. This drudgery was routinely performed by the parents of people still living, but the knowledge of it has passed as if it had never been. Running water, stoves, flush lavatories, even lavatory paper arrived slowly throughout the century and most were luxuries available only to the prosperous.

Victorian Houses and their Details Helen Long, 2007-06-01. Victorian Houses presents the architectural detailing of the time in the context of the era, providing a comprehensive understanding of its architecture and design. Pattern books played a vital role in the dissemination of taste between architect, builder and client in the nineteenth and early twentieth century. By focusing on the contribution of the pattern book to the architecture of the Victorian and Edwardian eras, the various trends of the time are documented. The types of publications and other sources of taste available at different points over this period reflected social and economic factors such as the changing demand or changes in organisation of manufacturing and retail.

Victorian House Style Linda Osband, 2001. Focuses mainly on the details associated with the Victorian period in England.
