The Vintage Book of Classic Crime Michael Dibdin, 1997-07-14 The great Raymond Chandler once noted that the detective or mystery story has become so thoroughly explored that the real problem for a writer now is to avoid writing a mystery while appearing to do so And that is precisely what the contributors in this masterful anthology have accomplished For in The Vintage Book of Classic Crime Michael Dibdin has assembled fifty four of the most stylish original and subversive examples of the literature of murder Whether written by eminent practitioners such as James M Cain or Dashiell Hammett or distinguished amateurs like Ernest Hemingway or Franz Kafka the stories essays and novel excerpts in this volume push past their genre s familiar conventions to explore what makes crime CRIME Suspenseful and exhilarating hard boiled and high art the result is a dazzling gallery of murder that reveals how daring and controversial crime writing can be Contributors and stories include James M Cain The Postman Always Rings Twice Raymond Chandler Pick up on Noon Street Anton Chekhov The Shooting Party Umberto Eco William Faulkner Smoke Dashiell Hammett The Glass Key Ernest Hemingway The Killers George V Higgins Trust Patricia Highsmith Strangers on a Train P D James and T A Critchley The Maul and the Pear Tree James Joyce Franz Kafka Elmore Leonard Walter Mosley A Red Death Edgar Allan Poe The Tell tale Heart Georges Simenon Maiget s Memoirs Isaac Bashevis Singer Under the Knife Julian Symons The Man Who Killed Himself Barbara Vine A Dark Adapted Eye James Thurber Oscar Wilde The Picture of Dorian Gray and Emile Zola Therese Raquin

Conspiracy, Revolution, and Terrorism from Victorian Fiction to the Modern Novel Adrian Wisnicki, 2013-01-11 Drawing on critical and theoretical work by Miller Boone Foucault Jameson and others as well as cultural history affect theory and contemporary psychiatric literature the author defines and explores what he calls the Victorian conspiracy narrative tradition a tradition which embraces classic Victorian works like Bleak House Great Expectations Villette and The Moonstone as well as later Victorian and Edwardian novels by James Conrad and Chesterton and early spy thrillers such as The Riddle of the Sands and The Thirty Nine Steps In reading these works as instances of a single literary tradition the conspiracy narrative tradition the author traces how the representation of conspiracy changes in nineteenth century British literature and argues that many of these changes occur in response to significant Victorian era developments such as the European revolutions of 1848 49 the rise of British law enforcement agencies the growth of Irish Fenian terrorism and the fin de si cle waning of the British Empire The book also explores the roles that conspiratorial indeterminacy and irony play in shaping the Victorian conspiracy narrative tradition and examines how modern works by Proust Kafka and Pynchon appropriate elements from Victorian conspiracy narratives Finally in using recent work on affect theory as well as studies of paranoia by Freud Shapiro and Meissner the book traces how Victorian works fashion the paranoid subject a discursive process that ultimately leads to the emergence of the modern fictional conspiracy theorist

The Rise of the Imperial Self Ronald William Dworkin, 1996 The Rise of the Imperial Self establishes a genealogy of aristocracy and places America firmly within an aristocratic tradition originally articulated by St Augustine but adapted to American society by Alexis de Tocqueville Ronald W Dworkin then traces the evolution of American culture from Tocqueville s America when American aristocracy was defined by a love of something beyond the self to today s preoccupation with individuality self expression autonomy and self esteem the imperial self The Warden Anthony Trollope, 2018-07-13 The Warden by Anthony Trollope The Warden centers on Mr Harding a clergyman of great personal integrity who is nevertheless in possession of an income from a charity far in excess of the sum devoted to the purposes of the foundation On discovering this young John Bold turns his reforming zeal to exposing what he regards as an abuse of privilege despite the fact that he is in love with Mr Harding s daughter Eleanor It was a highly topical novel a case regarding the misapplication of church funds was the scandalous subject of contemporary debate but like other great Victorian novelists Trollope uses the specific case to explore and illuminate the universal complexities of human motivation and social morality We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience The

The Warden - The Original Classic Edition Anthony Trollope, 2012-06 Finally available a high quality book of the original classic edition of The Warden This is a new and freshly published edition of this culturally important work by Anthony Trollope which is now at last again available to you Enjoy this classic work today These selected paragraphs distill the contents and give you a quick look inside The Warden In the year 1434 there died at Barchester one John Hiram who had made money in the town as a wool stapler and in his will he left the house in which he died and certain meadows and closes near the town still called Hiram s Butts and Hiram s Patch for the support of twelve superannuated wool carders all of whom should have been born and bred and spent their days in Barchester he also appointed that an alms house should be built for their abode with a fitting residence for a warden which warden was also to receive a certain sum annually out of the rents of the said butts and patches Such was his character in Barchester so universal was his popularity that the very fact of his appointment would have quieted louder whispers than those which had been heard but Mr Harding was an open handed just minded man and feeling that there might be truth in what had been said he had on his instalment declared his intention of adding twopence a day to each mans pittance making a sum of sixty two pounds eleven shillings and fourpence which he was to pay out of his own pocket He has talked not unfrequently and heard very much about the wills of old founders and the incomes arising from their estates during the last year or two he did even at one moment feel a doubt since expelled by his son in laws logic as to whether Lord Guildford was clearly entitled to receive so enormous an income as he does from the revenues of St Cross but that he himself was overpaid with his modest eight hundred pounds he who out of that voluntarily gave up sixty two pounds eleven shillings and fourpence a year to his twelve old neighbours he who for the money does his precentors work as no precentor has done it before since Barchester Cathedral was built such an idea has never sullied his quiet or disturbed his conscience He is aware that at any rate two of his old men have been heard to say that if everyone had his own they might each have their hundred pounds a year and live like gentlemen instead of a beggarly one shilling and sixpence a day and that they had slender cause to be thankful for a miserable dole of twopence when Mr Harding and Mr Chadwick between them ran away with thousands of pounds which good old John Hiram never intended for the like of them The musician was seated in a garden chair just within the summer house so as to allow the violoncello which he held between his knees to rest upon the dry stone flooring before him stood a rough music desk on which was open a page of that dear sacred book that much laboured and much loved volume of church music which had cost so many guineas and around sat and lay and stood and leaned ten of the twelve old men who dwelt with him beneath old John Hiram's roof
