The Woman Who Wasn't There The True Story Of An Incredible Deception:

The Woman Who Wasn't There Robin Gaby Fisher, Angelo J. Guglielmo, 2012 It was a tale of loss and recovery of courage and sorrow of horror and inspiration Tania Head's astonishing account of her experience on September 11 2001 from crawling through the carnage and chaos to escaping the seventy eighth floor sky lobby of the burning south tower to losing her fiancé in the collapsed north tower transformed her into one of the great victims and heroes of that tragic day Tania told her story to schools politicians newspapers and to local support groups and women's organisations eventually becoming a symbol of survival Tania selflessly took on the responsibility of giving a voice and a direction to the burgeoning World Trade Center Survivors Network helping save the Survivor Stairway and leading tours at Ground Zero including taking then governor Pataki Mayor Bloomberg and former mayor Giuliani on the inaugural tour of the WTC site She even used her own assets to fund charitable events to help survivors heal Tania Head represented the most intense hope to have broken into their lives since that crystal clear September morning in 2001 If Tania could transcend the ruin that the terrorist attack had brought upon her how could they not step out of their own torment But there was a problem that would emerge much later with Tania's story None of it was true Told with the unique insider perspective and authority of Angelo J Guglielmo Jr a filmmaker shooting a documentary on the efforts of the Survivors Network and previously one of Tania's closest friends THE WOMEN WHO WASN'T THERE is the story of one of the most audacious and bewildering quests for acclaim in recent memory one that poses fascinating questions about the essence of morality and the human need for connection at any cost

The Woman who Wasn't There Robin Gaby Fisher, 2012 Worlds Apart Benjamin Paloff, 2025-04-29 A number of European authors who survived concentration camps ghettos and besieged cities in the middle of the twentieth century chose not to write straightforward memoirs or testimonials but instead to fictionalize their experiences By manipulating narrative time and point of view and altering biographical facts these writers produced literary texts that challenge common notions of what constitutes an appropriate representation of collective trauma How might such works provide a deeper understanding of historical truth than the facts alone What does the literature of the camps reveal about present day spaces of confinement Worlds Apart explores the ethics of representation by reading the works of writers who use the techniques of literary fiction to depict survival in these precarious spaces Benjamin Paloff traces the complex relationship between fact and truth in these texts disentangling writers' individual experiences from fictional elements that universalize that experience and in so doing show the camp to be an institution of the present Touring the unusual genre conventions of these works he weighs crucial questions about what constitutes truth in historical representation literature and the popular imagination Reading across Czech French German Polish Russian and Yiddish including lesser known and untranslated works Paloff considers portrayals of the Shoah the Gulag the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising and the blockade of Leningrad Bold nuanced and rich in comparative insight Worlds Apart argues forcefully for the moral urgency of recognizing that the camp is not simply a historical artifact
